LEHLBACH BILL DOOM IS SEEN BY OPPONENTS

Check-Up at Hearing End Reveals Committee 12 to 9 Against.

MAJORITY FAVORS OLD DALE MEASURE

TONTINE FEATURE IS ATTACKED ANEW

Representative FromGeorgia Forecasts Adverse Report on Act.

A majority of the members of the House civil service committee are opposed to the new Lehlbach retirement bill, acording to a check-up made yesterday at the end of a three-day hearing on that measure.

This majority favors the Dale bill, which already has passed the Senate. However, it is not entirely satisfied with the Dale bill. Some would like to see it amended so as to provide greater benefits for the low-paid employes.

Following the "trial" of the Lehlbach bill yesterday, the line-up in the committee evidently was 9 for and 12 against. Nor was this strictly a partisan line-up, for of the 12, 5 were Republicans.

Final Verdict Tuesday.

The standing of the members yesterday, however, does not necessarily indicate the final verdict. This will come Tuesday morning when the House civil service committee meets in executive session to take a vote on the new bill.

It is possible that at that meting Chairman Lehlbach will be able to win converts to his bill, and thus line up a majority in its favor. What will happen if he fails in this is entirely problematical.

If the committee should make a favorable report on the Dale bill, the question then arises as to who would guide it through the House. For Chairman Lehlbach is definitely opposed to that bill, believing it to be little more than a makeshift.

Dale Bill Held Up.

The further question arises as to whether the House leaders would give the Dale bill legislative right of way. In the last Congress, these leaders held up that bill until it was too late for the House to pass it over the pocket veto of President Coolidge.

The truth of the matter is that nobody seems to know just what will happen, and the 400,000 Federal employes who are affected consequently are left in a quandary.

Chairman Lehlbach is convinced that the new bill is a good one, and he evidently intends to make a finish fight for it.

Always Had His Way.

From the very beginning of retirement legislation, Mr. Lehlbach has been in charge, and always he has had his way. The House leaders have full confidence in him, and invariably follow his recommendations where civil service legislation is concerned.

Moreover, the record shows that the representatives of the Federal employes also have had confidence in him, and until now have almost always gone along with him.

Only one thing might persuade Chairman Lehlbach to switch from his new bill to the Dale bill, it appears, and that is a word from the White House.

The new bill admittedly was inspired by President Hoover, and was drafted by the experts of the Bureau of Efficiency and the Bureau of the Budget. As it stands, it represents the President's idea of a liberal and comprehensive retirement system, and the President is known to be deeply in sympathy with the movement to establish such a system.

Arguments on Measure.

The opposition to the bill is based on these grounds:

That certain features of it are confiscatory and would actually take money from the employe or his heirs.

That the average employe would have to wait for fifteen or twenty years before he reaped the benefit of the increased annuities it provides.

That it is likely to so complicate the situation that it will block retirement legislation altogether at this session.

Proponents of the bill cite these reasons why it should pass:

It provides greater annuities for the poorly paid employes now on the retired list. (The minimum annuity for fifteen years' service would be $450.)

It establishes a comprehensive and scientific retirement system.

BARES KILLINGS

JAMES BAKER.

MAN, 25, CONFESSES HE IS KILLER OF NINE

TRAIL OF DEATH IS LONG

Detroit, Feb. 20 (A.P.).—Confessing he killed eight men with poison and a ninth with a revolver, James Baker, 25, was being held here tonight for New York police who have sought him for more than a year in connection with the death of one of his alleged victims.

Baker was arrested last night on a farm near Farmington, a suburb. He had lived there for nearly a year. Yesterday informers tipped off Detroit police that they believed Baker was a fugitive. His arrest followed. At headquarters he talked freely, almost boastfully, of his exploits.

The list of Baker's victims as assembled from his confession shows a trail of death extending from Bombay, India, to Hamburg, Germany, more than half way around the globe.

Specifically, Baker is wanted in connection with the poisoning in New York December 28, 1928, of Henry S. Gaw, a night watchman at the Guggenheim Laboratory, where he also was employed. The description furnished Detroit authorities by New York police is said to tally with Baker's appearance, even to some peculiar tattoo marks on his right forearm.

Baker's confession was received almost incredulously by Detroit authorities. He calmly informed them that he poisoned his victims because he wanted to witness the effects of the various poisons and because deaths of human beings gave him "a funny sort of mental satisfaction."

Baker said he was born and received his early education at Warren, Ohio. He left there when 16 and shipped on a freighter. It was during his cruises, he said, that most of his poisonings were committed. While a sailor on the tanker Gulfport bound for Venezuela, out of Bayonne, N. J., late in 1927, Baker said he had poisoned the entire crew, three of whom died.

"I was always interested in poisons and usually carried some around with me," Baker said. "In 1924 I was in Houston, Tex. I happened into a sailors' restaurant and sat down beside a man. He had a cup of coffee in front of him. While he was looking away, I had a sudden impulse to put some poison in his coffee. He died almost at once. I learned afterward that his name was Honeycut."

Houston authorities have been unable to find a report of the death of

VARIED GROUPS TELL STORY OF DRY LAW EVILS

Society Woman Precedes Farmer in Denouncing Amendment.

HYPOCRISY, CRIME, CORRUPTION CLAIMED

North Dakotan Complains Statute Has Cut Down Demand for Barley.

WETS WILL PRESENT MORE WITNESSES YET

Wednesday, However, Other Side Will Have Chance to Refute Charges.

(Associated Press.)

A chic society woman from Philadelphia and a weather-beaten farmer from the North Dakota plains, together with a former senator and a former representative, an educator, a scientist, a publisher, an editor, and a leader of an organization of young men, aligned themselves yesterday in denouncing prohibition as a disgrace unworthy of the United States.

They were proponents of repeal of the dry amendment, concluding a two-day session before the House judiciary committee. At the close Mrs. Graham Dougherty, of Philadelphia, declared, "The women of the country are going to see to it that the eighteenth amendment is thrown out of the Constitution."

Speaking rapidly as the last witness of the day, the young woman said she represented women of Pennsylvania who were "tired of the hypocrisy, bribery, corruption and crime brought about by the dry law."

Ruin of Agriculture Claimed.

In contrast with the eager young woman, Pierce Blewett, of Jamestown, N. Dak., related a measured story of destitution and despair having been brought to the farmers of his State through prohibition and conditions resulting from it.

"Prohibition," he said, "has ruined agriculture. It has driven former prosperous farmers into poverty."

The North Dakotan testified there was no demand for barley as in pre-prohibition days and that the money "that is sent out of the country to buy booze is money gone forever."

The witnesses who attacked prohibition yesterday included George H. Williams, of St. Louis, the former senator; Thomas W. Phillips, of Butler, Pa., the former representative; Dr. Samuel Harden Church, of Pittsburgh, president of the Carnegie Institute; Benedict Crowell, member of a Cleveland construction firm, and William L. Cheney, editor of Colliers Magazine.

Scientist Is Included.

Others were Frederic R. Coudert, of New York, and Ralph M. Shaw, of Chicago, lawyers; Marione Eppley, a scientist, of Providence, R. I., and Frederick Clark, of New York and Cleveland, a leader of the "crusaders," as the organization of young men terms itself.

The wets were unable to present all of their witnesses yesterday and Chairman Graham granted them next Wednesday in which to complete their argument. After that proponents of the eighteenth amendment will be heard. Representative Linthicum (Democrat), of Maryland, leader of the House wet bloc, who is in charge of the wet witnesses, said that hundreds of prominent people had requested an opportunity to appear in support of repeal.

"We could present witnesses indefinitely," the Marylander said, "but I am afraid we will have to end our argument next Wednesday."

While the hearing was in progress, Representative Luce (Republican), of

Two Marine Fliers Die In Crash Into Potomac

Swooping at terrific speed from a 1,000-foot elevation while flying in formation, two Marine Corps seaplanes plunged their pilots to almost instant death in the Potomac River off Quantico, Va., in midafternoon yesterday in one of the most unusual and apparently baffling accidents in service annals.

The double crash into the water cost the lives of Lieut. Joseph Leon Wolfe, 27-year-old Marine Corps flier, a native of Coeburn, Va., and Second Lieut. William R. Ostertag, 28-year-old pilot of the Marine Corps Reserves, a resident of Columbia, Pa. Both were graduates of the Naval Academy, Lieut. Wolfe in the class of 1926 and Lieut. Ostertag in the class of 1924.

The accident, the cause of which had not been determined by Marine Corps officers last night, occurred a short time after the two fliers, piloting Curtiss Hawks, had taken off from the field for an afternoon of formation flying, with Lieut. Wolfe acting as the instructor in the forward craft.

They had been executing various formations for a short time above the river, according to the several persons at the field viewing the maneuvers, when the two planes suddenly shot from the comparatively low height into the water, trapping the fliers in

MILLIONS FUND SEEN TO FIGHT GANGSTERS

Chicago Business Men Plan to Battle Underworld With Crime Levy.

MORAN AID IS ARRESTED

Chicago, Feb. 20 (A.P.).—Chicago plans to spend real money to get rid of its gangsters and intends to make them foot the bill during the elimination process.

This became known today when Col. Robert Isham Randolph, head of the secret "committee of six" Association of Commerce crime fighters, announced a proposal whereby a million or so of the dollars Chicago business has been giving as racketeer tribute will be used to secure "alibi proof" evidence against the "big shots" and call a halt to their activities.

This plan, Col. Randolph said, will be lai dbefore the executive committee of the Association of Commerce tomorrow and, if approved, will be put into execution at once.

Business men have assured him, Col. Randolph declared, that they

FOUR SPEED RECORDS ARE SET BY AIRMAN

IS UNINJURED IN MISHAP

Jacksonville, Fla., Feb. 20 (A.P. —Reeling off four new world records in quick succession today, Lee Schoenhair, chief pilot for the Goodrich Rubber Co., of Akron, Ohio, has succeeded in bringing back to America six speed marks for airplanes carrying added wieght.

His records for 1,000 kilogram loads over 100, 500 and 1,000 kilometers, and for 500 kilograms over 1,000 kilometers, added to those he set here Tuesday with 500 kilograms over 100 and 500 kilometers to wrest the marks from England and France.

Further immediate attempts at several other speed records which Schoenhair had planned temporarily were postponed when he met with a slight accident in landing at the municipal airport following today's trials. Strained by the 2,204 pounds of added weight, his white, streamlined monoplane, Miss Silvertown,

Parley Envoys Active Despite London Recess

Stimson and MacDonald Confer for Two Hours on Agenda When New French Envoys Arrive; Tardieu's Return Expected.

London, Feb. 20 (A.P.).—Although a week's adjournment of the London naval conference began today to enable the French to settle their cabinet crisis, an undercurrent of activity was maintained by the delegations at London.

Particularly was there activity with the American and British, Secretary Stimson and Prime Minister MacDonald holding an important two-hour conference at the House of Commons this afternoon to discuss how the conference will be reopened when the French delegation is reconstituted and returns to London.

It was decided tentatively that no formal plenary session would be held, but that negotiations would be resumed where they were left off. It is the opinion the delegates here that whoever heads the French group will not be prepared for new formal declarations of policy at an opening session.

Immediately after his conference with MacDonald, where he was accompanied by Senator Reed, Col. Stimson returned to his hotel for the latest dispatches from Washington. Then he left for Stanmore, where he will work through the week-end.

The delegations are carefully considering developments in the French political situation, scanning every item of news from across the channel.

In the American delegation the idea persists that Mr. Tardieu eventually will return to London, despite reports from Paris tonight that he definitely declined a portfolio offered him by M. Chautemps.

The question of the Frency policy at the conference does not worry the delegations, but there is some apprehension whether the new French government can be formed and get a vote of confidence from the Chamber in time to send a delegation back to London before February 26.

Neither the British nor the Americans consider that one week's delay will have a bad effect on the negotiations, but they do not like to consider the possibility of the longer adjournment. Should the French political difficulties continue after the 26th, it is stated authoritatively that the only possible thing to do would be to continue the adjournment for another week.

As to the French policy itself, the other delegates consider that the French memorandum will continue in effect until it is withdrawn. The Italians would like to see it repudiated by the new government, but frankly admit that no such move is likely.

The only meeting at St. James' Palace today was that of the experts committee studying special classes of ships. Their completed report probably will be ready for the chief delegates when the conference begins.

The experts will meet at St. James' Palace again tomorrow, while at the foreign office jurists attached to the different delegations will assemble to study informally the question of lim-

Woman, Tardy for Trial, Draws 48 Hours in Jail

Judge Cites Dorothy M. Davis, 24, as Example When She Arrives at Court Too Late for Hearing on "Gas-Tapping" Charge.

Dorothy M. Davis, 24 years old, of Fourteenth street northeast, near P street, was sentenced yesterday to serve 48 hours in jail for contempt of court in appearing late for her trial on a "gas-tapping" charge. Sentence was passed by Judge Isaac R. Hitt, who declared it was his intention to make an example of her.

The woman was sent immediately to jail and spent the night there. She will spend tonight there also, and part of tomorrow, unless Judge Hitt relents.

The woman was arrested last month on charges of manufacturing and possessing whisky and "tapping" a gas main. The United States attorney's office nol-prossed the liquor charges, but the woman demanded a jury trial on the last.

She was scheduled to come up for trial yesterday afternoon, but Milton S. Kronheim, her bondsman, was unable to locate her during the morning to inform her that her trial was scheduled. It was pointed out, however, that the woman had been previously notified.

Yesterday afternoon, after Judge Hitt had adjourned his court for the day and the jurors had scattered, the woman appeared for trial. Judge Hitt called her to his chambers and imposed the sentence.

"I'm going to send you to jail for 48 hours as an example," Judge Hitt said. "After that you will see it pays to come to court on time."

HOOVER URGED TO RECONSIDER CROSBY CHOICE

Capital Trade and Labor Groups Unite on Resolution.

ORGANIC LAW CITED IN SUPPORT OF VIEW

NEW RUMOR CARRIES MENTION OF KRAMER

Lawyer Is Said to Have Won Support of Delegation From New Jersey.

Culminating the storm of protest which has arisen over the proposed appointment of Maj. Gen. Herbert B. Crosby, cavalry chief, as District Commissioner succeedinfi Proctor L. Dougherty, the leading trade and labor organizations yesterday sent a resolutionto President Hoover urging him to follow the spirit as well as the letter of the organic law governing the appointment of District Commissioners.

The resolution was the result of a series of protest meetings recently held, particularly those sponsored by the Board of Trade, which enlisted the aid of the Chamber of Commerce, Merchants and Manufacturers Association, Central Labor Union and other organizations.

It was drafted by a special committee from those organizations.

President is Thankful for Aid.

In its opening paragraphs, the resolution expressed gratitude for the President's interest in the government of Washington and thanked Mr. Hoover for his efforts to secure able citizens for executive positions in the city government. Deep regret was voiced concerning the reports to the effect that the President is considering the selection of a retired major general as a civilion Commissioner.

The resolution pointed out that the law provided for an Engineer Commissioner from the Army and two civilian Commissioners, and declared the spirit as well as the letter of that law should be observed. It also called attention to court decisions holding that a retired Army officer is considered a military man.

The resolution made it clear, however, that there was no desire to cast any reflection upon the man under consideration for the commissionership, or any other military man.

Those Who Signed Resolution.

The resolution was signed by E. J. Murphy, president of the Board of Trade; Charles W. Darr, president of the Chamber of Commerce; Mark Lansburgh, president of the Merchants and Manufacturers Association; John P. Colpoys, representing the Central Labor Union; William Ray, of the Brightwood Citizens Association, and B. A. Levitan and H. Mason Welch, of the Columbia Heights Business Men's Association.

Man With Pipe Traces Gas Leak—and Finds It

Harrison, N. Y., Feb. 20 (A.P.).—Joseph Visceglea, 40, has read many times that one should not go looking for gas leaks with matches and consequently when he went today into the basement of his 4-story apartment house, seeking such a leak, he intended to rely entirely upon his nose. There wasn't a match in his pockets.

However, he was blown back up the stairway, badly cut and bruised, every window in the building was broken and excited neighbors put in a call for firemen, the sheriff and State police. Joseph had overlooked the pipe he was smoking.

GRUNDY GIVES SENATE STORY OF PRESIDENT

REAPPOINTED

President Has Been With Coalition All Along, Article States.

DEPENDS ON FACTION IN TARIFF ROW, VIEW

COMMENT DECLARED TO BE AUTHORITATIVE

Pennsylvania Senator Is in High Dudgeon as He Has It Reprinted.

By CARLISLE BARGERON.

Senator Joe Grundy, of Pennsylvania, who had his misgivings about Mr. Hoover before he became President and whose concern has not abated since, was in high dudgeon yesterday as he circularized his Old Guard colleagues with copies of a newspaper article picturing Mr. Hoover as having been with the Democratic-Progressive coalition in the tariff fight all along; as depending upon the coalition, in fact, to give him the bill he wants.

The article was written about three weeks ago by Edwin G. Pinkham, of the Kansas City Star, who came here and had luncheon with the President. The Star is a strong supporter of the President, there being personal as well as political ties.

It is not known how Senator Grundy came into possession of the article, but when he did he made only such investigation as would determine whether Mr. Pinkham was a reporter to be relied upon. He was informed in indisputable terms that he was not only a reliable writer, but that he was friendly to the President and had written his story after having lunch with him.

Worst Fears Realized.

This was enough for the senator. His worst fears concerning Mr. Hoover had been justified. He had typewritten copies made of the article, headlines and all, and passed them around to the Old Guard senators.

Not only does this article by an administration supporter say that the coalition is giving Mr. Hoover the bill he had asked of his own party, but that if the Democrats as a result of their "honesty" do not succeed in "giving the administration a setback in the congressional elections next autumn, honesty as a political policy will itself take the setback."

After discussing the political considerations that govern tariff making, Mr. Pinkham's article reads:

"But today we have the amazing spectacle of a Republican President prepared to accept a tariff bill made by the Democrats and insurgent Republicans, for no better reasan than that it is the kind of a tariff bill this Republican President had asked a Republican Congress to enact.

Two Courses Explained.

"The Democrats in the Senate, with the aid of their insurgent Republican allies, were in a position," the article continues, "to make choice of two courses. They could have permitted the Senate finance committee, dominated by such Republican high tariff apostles as Smoot, Reed and Bingham, to write the bill and then capitalize it politically, or they could adopt the constructive course of rewriting the bill—with the repulsive possibility of giving the President the kind of a bill he desired—in accordance with the political theories of their party.

"After a bitter internal struggle the Democrats decided to be honest. Heaven knows what the decision cost them, but I am informed several of their leaders were so humiliated by it they could not lift their bowed heads for days.

"But, after carefully weighing the alternative possibility, the Democratic leadership did decide that in this case honesty was the best political policy, and the Senate coalition

HOOVER REAPPOINTS RADIO COMMISSION

WHEELER OPPOSES MOVE

Following a White House breakfast yesterday at which President Hoover is understood to have extracted a pledge of nonopposition from Senator Couzens (Republican), Michigan, chairman of the Senate interstate commerce committee, the President sent to the Senate the names of the five incumbent members of the Federal Radio Commission for reappointment.

The commissioners so named, with their term of service, follow: Ira E. Robinson (chairman), West, Virginia, two years; Eugene O. Sykes, Mississippi, three years; William D. L. Starbuck, Connecticut, four years; Harold A. Lafount, Utah, five years, and Charles McK. Saltzman, Iowa, six years.

Immediately upon receipt of the information of the president's action, Senator Burton K. Wheeler (Democrat), Montana, a member of the interstate commerce committee, to which the names of the commissioners have been sent, served notice that he would "fight" the confirmation of two of the men.

"Commissioners Saltzman and Starbuck are not fit to serve on the Radio Commission," said Senator Wheeler. "Both of them lean too strongly toward the Radio Corporation of America to make their continued service on the commission healthy or fair to other radio broadcasters. In addition to that, I condemn Commissioner Saltzman for playing politics in the commission."

It is known that Senator Couzens, who, with Senator Wheeler and Senator Dill (Democrat), Washington, has opposed the R. C. A. activities, told the President that unless Commissioner Robinson was renamed as chairman the chances of the presidential appointments for the Radio Commission were not worth "a plugged nickel."

That Senator Dill will make a public protest against the renaming of Commissioner Saltzman is assured. The price of confirmation of the commissioners, it was learned on reliable

Sister of Lincoln's Wife Dies at 94 in Kentucky

Mrs. Emile Todd Helm, Kin of Civil War President's Spouse, Was White House Guest After Her Husband Fell in Civil War.

Lexington, Ky., Feb. 20 (A.P.).—Death has claimed the last surviving person who was intimately associated with Abraham Lincoln.

Mrs. Emile Todd Helm, 94, half-sister of the martyred President's wife, Mary Todd Lincoln, and long a close associate of the Civil War President, died at her home in Fayette County near here today.

Mrs. Helm had spent months of her early girlhood at the home of Lincoln in Springfield, Ill., and a friendship formed then continued during the life of the President. The fact that Mrs. Helm's husband, Brig. Gen. Ben Hardin Helm, served in the Confederate Army against Lincoln's forces did not alter the President's feeling for Mrs. Helm. He had offered Gen. Helm a commission in the Union Army.

When Gen. Helm was killed at the battle of Chickamauga in 1862, Lincoln invited Mrs. Helm to the White House for an extended visit.

Mrs. Helm lived for the last 20 years at the Helm place, a colonial residence in Fayette County built by the Revolutionary soldier, Col. Abraham Bowman.

She is survived by one son, Ben Hardin Helm, and two daughters, Katherine Helm and Mrs. Elodie Lewis, all of whom made their home with her. Katherine Helm is the author of "Mary, Wife of Lincoln."

Van Lear Black Safe in Tripoli.

is rewriting the bill in such a way that the President can sign it. Here, too, is involved a grave question of political form. Can a Republican President, whose own party had ignored his tariff wishes, accept what he had desired from the hands of another party? It may be predicted that President Hoover can and will."

Hoover Satisfaction Claimed.

The article reveals that Mr. Hoover is well satisfied with having called the extra session because he realizes that that was the only way in which his farm legislation could be given a start, and also because work was at least begun on the tariff and now there is the likelihood of his having both the tariff and the farm legislation in the first year of his office.

The article pictures Mr. Hoover, indeed, as being quite complacent in the present situation, instead of worried as many political commentators have believed.

"He asked his party for legislation to redeem his program, and is getting it from another party," comments Mr. Pinkham. "He asked for certain administrative features in the tariff bill, and Congress gave him others that he didn't desire. But he is getting the tariff rates, as between Eastern industrialism and Western agriculture, that he did desire; and because he believes these revised schedules will provide the buttress he feels is necessary to the working of the farm legislation of the extra session he will approve the tariff bill when it comes to him.

Policy to Be Tested.

"Thereafter it will be seen whether the Democrats, having given the President what he desired, will gain or lose by these new political tactics. If they don't succeed in giving the administration a setback in the congressional elections next autumn, honesty as a political policy will itself take the setback."

Without question this is the most authoritative comment of the President's view on the tariff that has been made. He has studiously avoided being drawn openly into the fight. The progressives have frequently professed to believe that they were carrying out the President's views but it is doubtful if they seriously believed it. Mr. Hoover's position has been an enigma to Democrats, progressives and regular Republicans alike, although the latter long ago came to the conclusion that while the President might not be against them he was certainly not with them.

Senator Grundy, without seeking to analyze the reason for the President's reticence, decided months ago that for all practical purposes the President was against the Easterners. It was last September that the Philadelphia Manufacturers' Association, with which the senator was closely identified, sent out circulars declaring that the tariff debacle, as the Pennsylvanians viewed it, could be laid right at the door of the White House and nowhere else.

Critical Remarks Recalled.

And only a few weeks ago the Senate lobby committee brought out that at a previous date Senator Grundy has made some very uncomplimentary references to Mr. Hoover and the senator made no effort to explain them away. He was content to let them stand at this late day.

Mr. Hoover's revealed attitude gives more significance to one incident of his conference Tuesday with House and Senate leaders. It was understood at the time that Mr. Hoover said there must be a tariff bill, that one must be passed. Newspapermen thought this a quite definite utterance for Mr. Hoover, but some of the conferees insisted that no significance attached to it, as "everybody" agreed that there must be a bill.

Now it is doubtful if everybody was in such agreement. There have been many indications of late that the old guard would like to kill the bill, and from its viewpoint, well it might.

To say the least, Senator Grundy can not have Mr. Hoover's happiness in mind by circulating that Western article around here.

BRITISH NAVY STAND SCORED BY BRITTEN

"Obstinacy" Probably Will Cause Parley to Fail, He Declares.

"NEUTRAL RIGHTS" HIT

(Associated Press.)

Chairman Britten of the House naval affairs committee said last night: "If the London arms conference fails, and it probably will, it will be the third one that has been a fizzle because of British obstinacy.

"There must be no diplomatic victory at the expense of our naval defense," he continued in an address before the Illinois Manufacturers Association. "There must be no agreement that does not insure actual naval fighting parity with England, ton for ton, and each nation to build the kind of cruisers it deems best suited for its position in domestic and world peace.

"If the British admiralty are the friends they pretend to be, let them make a friendly gesture aimed at world peace. Forget that Britannia rules the waves and give thought to the world's overburdened taxpayers. The adjournment of the conference for a week due to the fall of the French government strongly brings out the fact that we are dickering with a group of governments whose stability is most insecure and who may become politically bankrupt at a day's notice. This knowledge may be responsible for Ramsay MacDonald's back somersault from limitation to expansion and from parity to continued sea control.

"That great Yankee spirit, we talk so much about over here, seems to become an inferiority complex over there whenever our statesmen get up against a group of Old World diplomats," he said after referring to "$15,000,000 worth of American merchandise which found its way into every seaport on earth last year."

"To protect that commerce we require cruisers of the greatest steaming radius because we do not possess bases all over the world as England does," he added. "When war actually occurs, treaties are but scraps of paper and the rights of neutrals at sea are weighed almost wholly by the military power they have to enforce the respect of the warring nations.

"I distinctly recall that protests of Secretaries Bryan and Lansing, backed as they were by Woodrow Wilson, against the seizure and confiscation of our lawful commerce with neutral countries, might just as well have been written by Siam or Dahomey.

"Today the law governing the use of the seas in time of war, is in a state of unprecedented confusion and chaos and all this talk in London about safeguarding the legal rights of neutral shipping in time of war is just a lot of flapdoodle."

Gas-Victim Estate Is Awarded $5,000

Death of Diamantopoulos Blamed on Negligence of Association.

A jury in Circuit No. 2, of the District Supreme Court, before Justice Jennings Bailey, late yesterday returned a verdict of $5,000 in favor of the estate of Christian Diamantopoulos, who was asphyxiated at 902 Four-and-one-half street southwest on February 12, 1927. The verdict was directed against the Gas Consumers Association.

Testimony was to the effect that Mr. Diamantopoulos was visiting with John Lucas, proprietor of a lunch room at the Four-and-one-half street address, and that both men were overcome by gas during their sleep. It was charged that on the same date the defendant, through its agents, had installed a governor to regulate the flow of gas going through a gas heater and had been negligent in inspecting the work after it had been completed. Suit was brought for $10,000 by Emile C. Vrisakis, administrator of the estate. A similar suit brought on behalf of Mr. Lucas' estate has not been heard.

Intoxicated Poet Again Put in Jail

Verses Fail to Save as He Faces Judge; "Framed," Defendant Asserts.

Thomas H. Powers, 70-year-old itinerant poet, was back in the District Jail last night. It was his second journey to the municipality's free hotel within six weeks. The man had just completed a similar term for a similar offense, meted out in January by Judge Isaac R. Hitt.

Before Judge Hitt sent Powers to jail he had faced Judge R. E. Mattingly twice on similar charges and each time he had won his freedom by poetic effusions—"Whisky Did It All" and "There Are No Bar Rooms in Heaven." When he faced Judge Hitt, Powers also sought to recite his poetry, but the judge sent him to jail.

Yesterday Judge Gus A. Schuldt asked Powers where his poetry was. Immediately Powers reached into his pocket and the gesture was fatal. "Thirty days," said the judge.

Powers claimed that he had been "framed," declaring that three men grabbed him and forced whisky down his throat.

AGREEMENT IS RECALLED

By ALBERT W. FOX.

Any plan to strengthen the Kellogg pact by agreement among nations to confer in case it is violated will be overwhelmingly opposed in the Senate.

In view of reports from London that the American delegation had been approached on this subject and that difference of opinion had arisen among some of the delegates, senators again expressed the hope that the American representatives would heed advance warnings.

Senator Swanson, ranking Democratic member of the foreign relations committee, whose views are being widely discussed in London, made the following statement to The Post yesterday:

Opposed to Agreement.

"I am opposed to entering into any agreement to enlarge the Kellogg pact so as to impose upon the United States any obligation to interfere directly or indirectly in the affairs of European nations. There is no excuse for any plan whereby the United States agrees to consult with other signatories in case the pact is violated.

"The Kellogg pact, when it passed the Senate, was distinctly understood to be a personal obligation of each signatory not to resort to war in furtherance of political policies. The pact contains no justification for any nation to be a meddler in the affairs of other nations. In the letters of exchange pending negotiation of the Kellogg pact Great Britain and other nations reserved the right to engage in any war of self-defense and each nation alone was to be the judge of whether a war was one of self-defense or of aggression.

"Secretary Kellogg in his speeches and letters clearly reserved the right of self-defense and said that no nation had the right to judge the motives of any other nation as to the character of the war it engages in. In addition, Austen Chamberlain in his note reserved the right for Great Britain to be the judge of her own conduct where she had special interests, as in Egypt, for example. Sir Austen Chamberlain noted America's right to be the judge of her own conduct under the Monroe Doctrine in the Western Hemisphere.

Distinct Agreement Recalled.

"The treaty was negotiated and ratified with the distinct understanding that one nation was not to meddle in the affairs of other nations.

"The United States Senate ratified the Kellogg pact with this distinct understanding. If a new treaty attempts to extend the Kellogg pact so as to permit consultation or meddling in case the pact is violated, then this right of consultation or interference will naturally extend to the American continent. This would mean the scrapping of the Monroe Doctrine.

"We can not sanction any plan to make an extension of the Kellogg pact mean something to Europe and nothing to America. The United States could not honorably be a party to any such delusion.

"I am also opposed to any plan to involve the United States in an international blockade against the violator of the Kellogg pact, if such blockade should be declared by the League of Nations. It has been distinctly understood that the United States in ratifying the Kellogg pact claimed the right to remain free and untrammeled and to determine its foreign policy for itself whenever occasion arose.

Economic Blockade Feared.

"We can not permit other nations to determine in advance our policy for us. An economic blockade against an aggressor nation might be very injurious to our political and economic interests and we should be free to take such action as our interests, our wisdom and our sense of justice dictate.

"Our interest at the conference is to obtain parity and reduction for with our vast commerce we need a Navy equal to that of any other power. But we insist upon parity as a matter of right and not as a matter of bargaining. I am glad to see from the statement made by Senator Robinson that he is in accord with this policy and I am sure that he expresses the convictions of the American people."

The week's holiday prolonging the conference threatens to raise havoc with the American delegation's $200,000 expense fund which is now at low ebb and will not last long enough to see the conference fairly under way. Congress will be asked to appropriate more money. Rather than embarrass the delegation, Congress will make a continuing appropriation.

S. S. President Garfield Is Damaged by Flames

Jersey City, Feb. 20 (A.P.).—Flames that for a time threatened to destroy the Dollar Line's S. S. President Garfield at its pier here this afternoon, were reported under control tonight.

The fire was confined to two hatches where 200 barrels of fuel oil and a large quantity of rubber were stored. The President Garfield recently arrived from the Orient with a cargo of rubber, oil and foodstuffs. The cargo was being unloaded when the fire broke out.

CHAUTEMPS SEEKS NEW PARIS CABINET

BRIAND TAKES PORTFOLIO

Paris, Feb. 20 (A.P.).—M. Camille Chautemps was commissioned to form a new government today and to bring France out of the cabinet crisis caused by the downfall of the Tardieu ministry, but a general feeling of uncertainty about his chances prevailed in France tonight.

Though the radical Socialist leader announced that he was continuing his efforts to form a ministry and would report to President Doumergue at 9:30 a. m. tomorrow, all except his immediate entourage believed he had undertaken a hopeless task.

The refusal of former Premier Tardieu to collaborate in it deprived Chautemps of the support of the Moderates, Centrists and Rightists, obliging him to fall back on the left groups exclusively.

Briand Accepts Post.

One bit of hope was the acceptance of the foreign affairs portfolio by Aristide Briand. M. Briand's impassioned oratory counts in debate and often swings votes, but his supporters are often emotional and unstable.

Observers in general prophesied tonight that even if M. Chautemps could get together sixteen ministers and eleven undersecretaries of state to present to President Doumergue, he would not be able to carry a vote of confidence in the chamber, and within a few days would fall.

In that case President Doumergue probably would call upon M. Briand, and afterward M. Poincare, both of whom are reported to have already expressed their convictions that M. Tardieu should be recalled to succeed himself.

M. Tardieu's statement explaining his refusal to take part in a Chautemps cabinet said he was ready to "give his entire support to any government pursuing the defense of the French naval thesis unanimously approved by Parliament last December and presented at London by the preceding government."

Adheres to Old Majority.

He insisted, however, that neither the political events of the last three months nor the parliamentary situation resulting from Monday's vote would permit him to accept a collaboration which might be interpreted as disowning the majority in the Chamber of Deputies that had faithfully supported him at The Hague reparation conference and at the London naval conference.

Meanwhile the bourse was quiet in face of the political uncertainty. The French 3 per cent bonds, which are the recognized barometer of the financial state of mind in Paris, held their own, and were quoted today at only a fraction below yesterday's level.

Receiving newspapermen this evening, M. Chautemps said that he was pleased with the progress he had made so far. He expected to have a cabinet ready tomorrow.

Treasury Heads Confer With President Hoover

(Associated Press.)

President Hoover called in Secretary Mellon and Ogden Mills, Undersecretary of the Treasury, late yesterday for a conference that lasted nearly an hour.

Upon leaving the President's office neither Mellon nor Mills would make any comment other than to say they had been sent for.

BROWN PREPARING TO RELIEVE WELLS

HOLDS WAR CITATIONS

Maj. Gen. Preston Brown, who is now commanding the First Corps Area of the Army with headquarters at Boston, on March 8 will assume new duties as deputy chief of staff following the retirement on that date of Maj. Gen. Briant H. Wells. Gen. Wells retires as deputy chief at his own request to become commander of the First Division, Fort Hamilton, N. Y.

The retiring deputy chief is a native of Salt Lake City, Utah, where he was born December 5, 1871. He graduated from the United States Military Academy in 1894. Starting as second lieutenant in the Infantry, he served with the Second, Eighteenth and Twenty-ninth Regiments in all grades up to colonel. He served two years in the Quartermaster Corps and during the Spanish-American War participated in the campaign against Santiago.

During the World War, Gen. Wells, then holding the rank of brigadier general, served as chief of staff of the Sixth and Fourth Army Corps in France and as a member of the American section of the supreme war council. He holds the Distinguished Service Medal for participation in the St. Mihiel offensive and the Legion of Honor (officer) given by France. He became deputy chief of staff on April 30, 1927.

Gen. Brown, the new deputy chief, was born in Lexington, Ky., on January 2, 1872. A graduate of Yale and a law student at the University of Virginia, he enlisted in the Regular Army in September, 1894. He became a second lieutenant of Infantry in March, 1897, and later was promoted to major in May, 1916.

He saw service in the Cheyenne Indian campaign of 1897, the Spanish-American War in 1898, the Philippine insurrection in 1900 and the World War. During the latter conflict he was chief of staff of the Second Division, participating in the Toylon - Troyon, Chateau Thierry, Soissons, Marbache and St. Mihiel engagements. Later he served as chief of staff of the Fourth Army Corps and commanding general of the Third Division in the Argonne. After the armistice he was named assistant chief of staff, American Expeditionary Force, and stationed at Treves, Germany.

Since January 2, 1926, he has been in command at Boston following service as instructor, General Staff Corps, in this city; commander of the Third Brigade, Second Division, at Camp Travis, Tex., and with First Infantry, Fort Wadsworth, N. Y.

Gen. Brown has been awarded the Distinguished Service Medal of the United States, Commander Legion of Honor (France), and Commander Order of the Crown (Belgium).

Governor Denies Respite for Snook

Appeal to Supreme Court Pending for Doctor Who Killed Coed.

Columbus, Ohio, Feb. 20 (A.P.).—Stating that he could see no reasons why he should act at this time, Gov. Cooper today denied the application of Dr. James H. Snook, former Ohio State University professor, for a respite from a sentence of death in the electric chair February 28.

Counsel for Snook had asked the governor to stay the execution for a period of 30 days so that an appeal to the United States Supreme Court could be perfected. The application for a writ of certiorari already is on file in Washington. The court convenes next Monday. The attorneys asked the stay on the ground that they did not have adequate time in which to ask the United States Supreme Court to grant a reprieve.

Dr. Snook is under sentence to die for the murder last June 13 of his coed sweetheart, Theora Hix, of Bradenton, Fla. The date for his execution has been moved up three times.

Solicitor General Named by Hoover

(Associated Press.)

Thomas Day Thacher, judge of the southern district of New York, was nominated by President Hoover yesterday to succeed Charles Evans Hughes, jr., as solicitor general of the United States.

Mr. Thacher was appointed a Federal judge in 1925 by President Coolidge. The southern district over which he presided largely is composed of Greater New York City.

It was understood in political circles here that Robert P. Patterson, of New York, is being seriously considered as a successor to Judge Thacher, if and when the latter's nomination is confirmed by the Senate.

POWER COMMISSION OFFICERS ATTACKED

With President Hoover urging speed toward remedial legislation, affairs and officials of the Federal Power Commission yesterday were further aired and attacked in the Senate.

F. E. Bonner, executive secretary of the commission, was assailed after he had been questioned severely by the Senate interstate commerce committee.

Senator Norris (Republican), Nebraska, cited him in objecting unsuccessfully to confirmation of Hugh M. Tate, of Knoxville, Tenn., as a member of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Declaring in the Senate that "attorneys or agents" or corporations should not be placed on regulatory bodies, the Nebraskan described Mr. Bonner as "a power man from head to foot, 100 per cent power trust."

Hoover and Couzens Confer.

President Hoover called into conference Senator Couzens (Republican), Michigan, chairman of the Senate committee investigating long-standing differences within the commission staff over methods of auditing and strictness of accounting to be demanded of companies seeking development permits.

Recalling his message to Congress asking establishment of a full-time power commission, the President told the senator that the agency as now constituted is of no particular value either as an advisory or regulatory body. He asked expedition of legislation establishing a permanent commission along lines of organization similar to the Interstate Commerce Commission. Senator Couzens has introduced a bill for that purpose.

Three Cabinet Members On Board.

The Power Commission now is made up of three Cabinet members—the Secretaries of War, Agriculture and Interior. President Hoover said they had neither time nor power to control property matters.

After often being accused of "dodging" questions, Mr. Bonner left the investigation yesterday with orders to prepare a detailed statement of applications before the commission, of time elapsed in negotiations and of instances of accounting objected to by the accounting department of the body.

Mr. Bonner said he would bring the material on Monday and Senator Couzens continued the investigation until then. He also sumoned O. C. Merrill, Mr. Bonner's predecessor as executive secretary.

Replies to Charges.

Mr. Bonner was allowed to read a prepared statement answering charges made against him by Mr. Russell and by William V. King, commission accountant. The statement said that any one familiar with the commission's work knew the charges were "baseless" and charged, in turn, that power companies had been "persecuted" by newspaper criticism and by "controversy."

Hardly had he finished when committee members began a cross-fire attack that continued for three hours. Mr. Bonner maintained that the power companies has been so "persecuted" that they became "discouraged" about pending projects.

Hesitating over his answers, Mr. Bonner provoked the committee chairman to exclaim he "must answer." Sharp exchanges followed his refusal to testify concerning his recommendations for his post until he said he was recommended by Assistant Secretary Dixon, of Interior, and that the Interior Department had had inquiries about him from the Pacific Gas & Electric Co.

Gale Spreads Woe In Newfoundland

Three Dead and Hundreds of Thousands of Dollars Damage Reported.

St. John, N. F., Feb. 20 (A.P.).—First word of a terrific southeast gale that claimed three lives and caused hundreds of thousands of dollars damage in the fishing ports along the southwest coast of Newfoundland early last Sunday morning reached here today.

LaMaline reported the loss of three lives. Burgeo, on the Burgeo Islands, one of Newfoundland's most valuable fisheries and a rendezvous for artists, reported damage to shipping, dwellings, stores and fishing stages to the extent of $100,000. Burgeo is on the extreme southwest coast and has one of the finest harbors in that part of the country.

Discovery of Comet Reported to Harvard

Cambridge, Mass., Feb. 20 (A.P.).—Harvard University today announced receipt of word of the discovery of a comet believed to be new to astronomers. It was found by L. C. Peltier, of Delphos, Ohio, a member of the American Association of Variable Star Observers, who having no means of measuring the comet, communicated his discovery to Prof. George Vanbiesbroeck, of Yerkes Observatory, Wis.

Mr. Peltier is a member of an organization composed largely of amateur astronomers whose ranks girdle the globe. Most of their observations are made through relatively small telescopes often mounted at their homes. They report observations to the Harvard Observatory where a headquarters is maintained.

Relief From Duties Asked by O'Connor

Hoover Expected to Grant Request of Shipping Board Chairman.

Chairman T. V. O'Connor, of the United States Shipping Board, today called on President Hoover and asked to be relieved of his duties as chairman of the board.

Mr. O'Connor told the President that his health is such that a lessening of work has been advised by his physician. He asserted that he had informed the President of his desire to remain on the board.

At the White House it was said that the President would grant Mr. O'Connor's request about the chairmanship. It was not made clear whether Mr. O'Connor would be left on the board.

"Guzzling" Hoists Expenses At Parley, Laborite Says

M. P. Hits Granting of $45,000 Extra Funds as Colleagues Score "Drying Up" of Palace Bar in Deference to U. S. Delegates.

London, Feb. 20 (A.P.).—The high cost of hospitality for the delegations attending the five-power naval conference brought on a debate in the House of Commons tonight when the government asked for an additional $45,000 for expenses.

George Buchanan, left-wing member of the Labor party, opposed the granting of the extra money, declaring that it was being spent on "guzzling." But he was alone in his stand. The protests of other members were based on the report that the buffet in St. James Palace was "dry" in deference to the views of the American delegates.

Commander A. R. J. Southby, Conservative, protested that it was hard on the delegates of the other nations to deprive them of the usual refreshments simply as a gesture to the United States.

"I am sure the United States' delegates would be the last to wish that," he said.

Capt. Victor Cazalet, Conservative, said the buffet was so dry it was unremunerative to the caterer's firm that maintained it.

When Mr. Buchanan described the government's request for additional funds as "indefensible," the Conservatives rallied to the support of Labor and said it was only right that the government should return the hospitality that British envoys had received in the United States and elsewhere.

W. Pethick-Lawrence, speaking for the Government, expressed pleasure that the House with the exception of Buchanan had approved the additional expenditure, which it did with only Buchanan's dissenting vote.

He explained that it was impossible to tell how much the holding of the conference would cost because it was impossible to say how long it would last.

For Buchanan's benefit, he said the money did not go for food, drink or lodgings, but was spent on motor cars and other necessary expenditures for transporting delegations to different places and enabling them to meet each other at receptions. He told Buchanan he would have to take the world as he found it, and that the Government would be very foolish to cut down expenditures to a point where parsimony of about a few thousand pounds would injure the result of an important conference.

ARMS ENVOYS BUSY IN SPITE OF HOLIDAY

itation to submarine warfare, preparatory to drafting a treaty in line with the resolution introduced by the French.

The executive committee of the League of Nations Union in London today adopted a resolution declaring no new political pacts were needed to make the five-power conference successful.

The resolution states:

"The executive committee of the League of Nations Union, having followed with close attention the progress of the five-power naval conference, reasserts its conviction that, inasmuch as the only enemy to be guarded against in the future would be the nation that breaks the pact of Paris, a satisfactory all-around reduction of armaments can be achieved on a basis of sincere adherence to the obligations of the covenant of the league and of the pact."

Pratt Speaks at Banquet.

Speaking on British-American relations, Admiral William V. Pratt, one of the American naval advisers at the conference, tonight declared "we know that if the time should ever come—and it will never come between sane and sound-thinking peoples—that we should ever fight, vultures would pick our bones. We do not intend to let that happen."

Admiral Pratt spoke at a dinner given to American naval officers in London by the Royal Naval Volunteer Reserve. He said:

"To Americans and American naval men, the limitation of armaments means, to begin with, elimination of friction. So long as the powers compete in naval armaments with each other, particularly where there might grow up a certain rivalry among those peoples who were born to be friends, we feel that the proper thing to do is to arrive at the proper degree of limitation.

Holds Disarmament Impossible.

"Mind you, no naval man believes that disarmament is possible in a world of arms. I have often maintained that the greatest mishap that could come to your country would be disarmament carried to too great an extent. For the greatest arm of a government for preserving peace is the power vested in sea forces.

"There may be a little misunderstanding on the part of some people as to why America wants parity. They may say that America is perfectly safe by reason of her geographical position. But they would have to look back 300 years to the landing of the Pilgrim Fathers to find the reason.

"Americans are just as much a part of your stock as you will find in your own country, and that is what is really at the bottom of parity."

DAY IN CONGRESS

SENATE.

Met at 11 a. m. and recessed at 5:55 p. m. to 11 a. m. today.

Confirmed the nomination of Hugh M. Tate, of Tennessee, to be a member of the Interstate Commerce Commission. The vote was 48 to 18.

Agreed to reconsider the selection of Charles Augustus Stone to be a member of the board of regents of the Smithsonian Institution after Senator La Follette (Republican), Wisconsin, had asserted that he was connected with a "power organization."

Senator Norris introduced a resolution for an investigation of campaign funds in the forthcoming senatorial primaries.

F. E. Bonner, executive secretary of the Federal Water Power Commission, was assailed at a meeting of the interstate commerce committee.

Chester H. Gray, of the American Farm Bureau Federation, admitted before the lobby committee that he had warned W. B. Bell, president of the American Cyanamid Co., to stay away from Washington lest he be summoned by the committee.

HOUSE.

Met at noon and adjourned at 4:15 p. m. to noon today.

W. W. Atterbury, E. I. du Pont and other industrial leaders appeared before the judiciary committee and denounced prohibition.

Representative Luce (Republican), Massachusetts, declared that the testimony of Walter Liggett, magazine writer, before the judiciary committee was a "foul and vicious libel" on the city of Boston.

Representative Mary Norton (Democrat), New Jersey, agreed to engage in a prohibition debate over the radio with Mrs. Ella Boole, president of the W. C. T. U.

Representative Schafer (Republican), Wisconsin, introduced a resolution to direct the Federal Trade Commission to investigate the ownership and control of coal deposits in the United States.

Chairman McFadden, of the banking committee, announced that an investigation into group, chain and branch banking will be started Tuesday.

Thieves Smash Window, Rob Store.

Smashing the glass of a front window, thieves entered the store of Harry Kline on Tenth street, near R street northwest, early yesterday and looted the cash register of $15.

LAST APPEAL MADE FOR DOOMED WOMAN

SHE MAKES OWN SHROUD

Florence, Ariz., Feb. 20 (A.P.).—Mrs. Eva Dugan, 52-year-old housewife convicted of murder, was resigned late today to death by hanging at sunrise tomorrow, while her attorneys precipitated a legal dispute by a last appeal to the State Supreme Court from the verdict of a Superior Court jury which yesterday found her sane. Mrs. Dugan is the first woman in the history of Arizona to be sentenced to death.

Attorneys asserted the appeal automatically stayed execution, but the State's attorney general ruled that the Supreme Court was powerless to stay the execution. No comment was offered by any special official. Preparations for the hanging at the State prison here were complete.

Mrs. Dugan, whose petition for clemency was denied last week by the State Board of Pardons and Paroles, showed no perturbation.

"There will be none of this last-minute religion with me," she said. "I am going to die as I lived. I have had two years to prepare for this. I am ready." She was cheerful and apparently very calm. Throughout her trial and since, she has denied that she killed A. J. Mathis, aged Tucson rancher who employed her as housekeeper. She was charged with slaying him in January, 1927, to gain his property.

Mathis' body was not found until a year after the slaying. Meanwhile, Mrs. Dugan drove Mathis' automobile to White Plains, N. Y., where she was arrested on a charge of automobile theft. After the body was recovered, she was charged with murder.

At her trial, she testified that a 19-year-old youth known to her only as "Jack" committed the actual slaying and that she ran away with him. He has never been located by authorities.

Mrs. Dugan said she had asked her father, William McDaniels, of Ceres, Calif., to send her $50 that she might purchase a better casket than the State furnishes. The money had not arrived today. She already has made herself a shrould of silk, decorated with clusters of beads and a bunch of artificial flowers.

The governor, under Arizona law, can not grant the woman either a reprieve or a commutation to life imprisonment.

G.O.P. Leader to Propose Florida Antidry Plank

Lakeland, Fla., Feb. 20 (A.P.).—Calling the State Republican committee to meet March 8 to lay plans for participation in the June primary, Chairman E. E. Callaway today said he would present a plank in a proposed platform seeking the repeal of the eighteenth amendment and substitution of "common sense solution."

Brickbats & Bouquets

By JAMES HAY, JR.

TO date the Democratic party has evinced in the most impressive and significant manner not the faintest elation over Representative Beck's solemn warning to his Republican colleagues that the majority party can not survive while half wet and half dry.

Ordinarily the minority, when given such encouraging news by one of its opponents, would be expected to light the signal fires, sound the war drums and line up for a victory dance, jamboree and celebration.

But on this occasion the Democrats emitted not one shout of jubilation, displayed not one brightened eye, chanted not one hymn of thanksgiving. Hearing Mr. Beck's prediction of the fall of the sword of doom upon the neck of a divided, bewildered and disorganized Republicanism, Mr. John Garner and his somewhat attenuated cohorts worked themselves up to nothing more cheerful than a cynical smile and a bored ho-hum.

THEY hope Mr. Beck's prophecy will turn out 100 per cent perfect. They think that maybe there is a chance of its being fulfilled, but they are wasting no energy in rejoicing prior to the prayed-for event.

They have heard too often in the past this clarion cry of a Republican leader that his party was about to twine its once athletic and agile legs around the greased cable of disunion and sink lugubriously to the bottom of the pool of dissolution and defeat. They have seen with equal frequency apparently indisputable proofs that envy, backbiting and factionalism were about to make that destruction sure, complete and eternal.

On the other hand, they have observed again and again that, when the time came for Republicanism to roll up the votes and run away with victory, harmony descended upon it like a benediction, and brotherly love, sweet and unselfish, formed its every design, strategy and stroke.

RIGHT before the Democratic and deluded eye, the Republicans were transformed from bickering cliques to dashing and irresistible troops of cavalry who, at the command of their chosen captain, went through the most intricate evolutions, thundered triumphantly across the countryside and topped all the in-and-outs and water jumps, the while their mounts' steel-shod hoofs glistened derisively in the evening sunlight.

Having been thus often ridden down and crowded out by a foe supernatural in its gift for burying the hatchet of internecine strife, these Democrats naturally are not exulting over one man's prediction that the Republican steeds will show up all spavined and heaving.

There was one time when the Bull Moose chased the aforesaid mounts over the hills and far away, but that, sighs the minority, was when the dynamic Teddy rode the bull. Today they are not to be misled, kidded and cajoled by the beckoning Mr. Beck.

SIGNS POINT TO DOOM OF NEW RETIREMENT PLAN

instead of limiting him to a maximum annuity of $1,200, as provided in the Dale bill.

It takes care of many groups of employes who are not provided for in the Dale bill.

Many of the opponents of the Lehlbach bill conceded that it has desirable features, and among these was cited the provision for a 'minimum annuity for the low-paid employes. However, they believe that this provision might very well be grafted onto the Dale bill or carried in a separate bill.

The minimum annuity most frequently suggested for these low-paid employes was $350. The Lehlbach bill would give them $450 for fifteen years' service, or $30 a year for each year's service.

Peak in Opposition.

The peak in the opposition testimony came yesterday when Robert H. Alcorn took the stand. Mr. Alcorn is chairman of the joint conference on retirement, an organization representing some 12 groups of employes in or retired from the service.

He was particularly opposed to the tontine feature and the forfeiture in the new bill, and pointed out that if a retired employe should die within a year or so his retirement savings would be lost to him unless he had made provision in advance to take a reduced annuity. Under the Dale bill, he said, the heirs of the deceased employe would receive the entire amount to his credit in the retirement fund.

Like the others, Mr. Alcorn felt that the best way to insure immediate relief to the employes was to pass the Dale bill, which already has passed the Senate.

LaGuardia Bill Favored.

Mrs. Margaret Hopkins Worrell, president of the League of the American Civil Service, opposed the bill for much the same reasons advanced by Mr. Alcorn.

The best bill before the House, she said, was the LaGuardia bill, which would permit optional retirement at 60 after 30 years' service, and grant a minimum annuity of $350 and a maximum of $1,500.

John M. Kline, a retired employe of 83 years, who is president of the National Association of Retired Federal Employes, presented an appealing figure when he appeared before the committee.

He declared that he and his associates wanted immediate relief, and that he didn't see how the Lehlbach bill could pass.

Others who appeared at the afternoon session were Miss Nellie Huff, representing the disabled employes; C. B. Hemingway, and Dr. Arthur MacDonald.

Must Work for Passage.

At the morning session, the principal witness was N. P. Alifas, who represents the machinists in the Government service. He vigorously opposed the Lehlbach bill, citing pretty much the same arguments that had been offered by the representatives of the postal employes the day before.

While Mr. Alifas was testifying, Representative Addison T. Smith (Republican), of Idaho, who was presiding in the absence of Chairman Lehlbach, warned that unless the latter actively works for the passage of a bill that bill has little chance of passage in the House.

"You must appreciate," he said, "that Mr. Lehlbach has been a big factor in steering retirement legislation through the House. It is very doubtful if we would be able to secure any legislation without his cooperation. He is a member of the steering committee and has the confidence of the Speaker and other leaders."

Georgian Advocates Dale Bill.

Representative Robert Ramspeck (Democrat), Georgia, a member of the House civil service committee, lent further credence to the report that a majority of the committee favor the Dale bill over the Lehlbach bill when in an address before the League of the American Civil Service last night at the Interior Department auditorium, he declared that unless Republican pressure is brought to bear, enough Republicans on the committee favor the Dale measure to report it favorably.

He advocated passage of the Dale bill, which has already passed the Senate because he said he fears a legislative jam at this session of Congress would block any attempt to rush through the Lehlbach measure even if the committee reported it out and it passed the House.

However, he warned that opposition might be expected from administration leaders "who do not think it proper for President Hoover to have to sign a bill which President Coolidge "pocket vetoed."

Other speakers at the meeting were W. E. Ryan and Mrs. Margaret Hopkins Worrell, president of the league. Mr. Ryan told employes that the State of New York has ruled the "tontine" system in insurance is illegal and that he did not believe the Government was right in seeking legislation containing such a provision. Mrs. Worrell described her efforts in behalf of the employes before the House committee at its hearing yesterday.

Boy, 17, Gets Life Term For Slaying Detective

Spokane, Wash., Feb. 20 (A.P.).—Robert Landis, 17, of Minneapolis, Minn., was convicted of murder here today for the slaying of Detective Roy Fordyce. A recommendation of mercy by the jury fixed the sentence at life imprisonment.

Fordyce was shot and killed in a hotel room while searching Landis for concealed weapons. The youth confessed a number of robberies in Minneapolis.

TWO MORE JAILED IN HORST SLAYING

Alleged Ohio Bootleggers Are Grilled Concerning Disposal of Body.

ONE MAN HELD IN AKRON

Wooster, Ohio, Feb. 20 (A.P.).—Two alleged conspirators with Charles Hannah in the kidnaping and slaying of little 4-year-old Melvin Horst, of Orrville, were facing a renewed barrage of questions tonight as Wayne County officials struggled to knot the loose ends of the skeins of mystery that still bind the secret of the child's grave.

Tony Lafacia, Akron Italian, was brought here today by Wayne County officers to face the accusations of Hannah that he and Charles Treska, of Wadsworth, took the body of Melvin from Orrville and disposed of it. Treska was being questioned in Akron.

Acting on charges of Prosecutor Marion Graven, Probate Judge U. S. Danders, of Wooster, today declared Junior Hannah delinquent and ordered him held in the county children's home. Charles Hannah, Junior's father, was charged with contributing to the delinquency of his son.

Hannah Data Denied.

Lafacia and Treska have denied statements of the Hannah confession that they were involved in a plot to kidnap or kill Melvin because Marshal Roy Horst, who Hannah thought was the child's father, was interfering with their combined bootlegging activities in the little village or Orrville.

The lenghty confession which Hannah gave the officials last night has not satisfied Prosecutor Graven and tonight Hannah was again called before his questioners to enlarge on his version of the disposal of the boy's body.

Hannah Says He Hit Child.

"I hit him (Melvin) over the head," Hannah confessed last night. "Earl Conald was at the front end of the car when Junior brought him to the garage. I put my arm around his shoulder and said, 'I'll take you home.' I struck him over the head with a piece of wood. I carried him out and put him in a car which was parked outside and owned by, or in the possession of Tony Novesko (Lafacia) and Charles Treska, and Melvin Horst was put in the bottom of the rumble seat by me."

What happened to the boy after the car drove away is unknown to Hannah, according to his confession.

Charges against the men implicated in the disappearance of Melvin by Hannah's confession have not been filed. Earl Conald, who was first accused of killing the boy, was exonerated by Hannah.

RADIO COMMISSION RENAMED BY HOOVER

Couzens Has Bill.

One of the complaints against Commissioner Saltzman, a former major general in the Army, was that he caused the commission to appoint Thad Brown, Ohio Republican politician, as its counsel. At a hearing Commissioner Saltzman admitted that Lawrence Richie, one of President Hoover's secretaries, had recommended Brown's appointment.

Senator Couzens has a bill pending in the Senate to establish a Federal Communications Commission. This would supplant the Radio Commission and would take over the regulatory powers of air and other communications now exercised by the Interstate Commerce Commission. Indications are that the Couzens bill has a chance of passage.

Recently a boast was made in a quarter close to the Radio Corporation of America that President Hoover would not reappoint Commissioner Robinson, or at least not name him chairman.

Yesterday Commissioner Robinson spent more than a half hour with the President at the executive offices. His visit followed the breakfast conference over the matter with Senator Couzens.

Former Dry Agent Freed In Rum-Conspiracy Case

Miami, Feb. 20 (A.P.).—Joseph E Courtney, former agent in charge of prohibition enforcement forces in Miami, was found not guilty of conspiracy to violate the National prohibition laws by a Federal court jury today.

The former prohibition official's defense, centered in an attack on the testimony and character of Julian Venable, chief Government witness. Venable had testified that he had paid Courtney $300 a month for a year to gain protection and information of forthcoming liquor raids.

Tariff and Airing Asked For Limburger Cheese

Limburger cheese is giving Tony Mariano a dog's life. So he wants a high tariff on this odorous commodity to keep it out of the country. It seems that Tony lives over a delicatessen store in Newark, N. J., and the aromas from the cheese wafted into his windows by the early spring zephyrs take all the joy out of life for him. He wants the situation aired.

Yesterday Representative Lehlbach received the following letter.

"Honorable Lehlaback,

"Dear Honorable Sir:

"I am riting this letter to you to ask you to put a big tarif on limberger cheese. We oughte to do something to keep this awfull stuff out of the country. I live over a delickantessen store and the smell has me near crazie. I can't slepe at night. So, honorable Mister Lehlaback won't you do something to air this thing.

"Yours effecktionatly,

BELL CITED IN QUIZ ON MUSCLE SHOALS

Magnate Is Advised to Avoid Lobby Committee, Says Farm Official.

WILL BE CALLED IN QUIZ

(Associated Press.)

How he had advised W. B. Bell, president of the American Cyanamid Co., to stay away from Washington lest he be called before the Senate lobby committee was related to that committee yesterday by Chester H. Gray, the representative here of the American Farm Bureau Federation.

The lobby inquisitors of late have been examining efforts to influence the congressional course of Muscle Shoals legislation. The Cyanamid company for years has had a proposal up to lease the wartime project in Alabama.

Gray also said he had suggested to Bell that he appear before the House military affairs committee to testify concerning the company's Muscle Shoals proposal, which is advocated by the farm organization.

"He had been before that committee several times and had laid his whole proposition before them," Gray explained, "and he owed an obligation to that committee which he does not owe to any committee on this side of Congress."

The committee has announced that Bell will be called before the Muscle Shoals investigation is completed. The examination of Gray will be resumed today.

The committee learned from Gray that the American Cyanamid Co. had paid $7,000 toward distribution of Muscle Shoals publicity two years ago, which was handled through the National Agricultural Publishing Co. of Washington. He was asked why he had refused to answer questions concerning this publicity before the Senate agriculture committee two years ago and explained that he thought the answers should be given by the publishing company. He added that he did not know the cost at that time, but did know the Cyanamid company was paying for it. The publicity was said to advocate the Cyanamid company's bid for Muscle Shoals.

FARM RATE REVISION FINISHED BY SENATE

GREED WARNING IS GIVEN

(Associated Press.)

Although cries of "drunk with creed" and "running wild" halted in a measure the drive for higher duties, the Senate completed revision of the tariff bill farm rates yesterday and made certain that the bill to be sent to the White House will carry the highest agricultural schedule in history.

As a whole the Senate farm schedule represents quite an increase over that approved by the House. Since both parties are in accord with President Hoover on the need of farm relief through the tariff, there is every indication that no differences will arise in conference on this score.

Seven additional increases in farm rates were put through yesterday. Four more were turned down after warnings came from both Democrats and Republican independents that to place in the bill higher levies which obviously were unjustified would only strengthen the President's stand against the debenture plan.

Senator Harrison (Democrat), Mississippi, cautioned that increases in duties on products on a heavy export basis would make the debenture rates so hight that the administration's opposition to the debenture would be augmented.

Under the debenture plan incorporated in the bill by the coalition, farmers would be paid out of the Treasury half the tariff on any product they exported. President Hoover raised ten objections to the debenture when the farm marketing act was in the making.

Senator Blaine (Republican independent), Wisconsin, expressed a hope that the debenture would be retained, but warned against unjustifiable farm duties that would give the President "excuses to veto the bill."

would willingly contribute toward rigid law enforcement, using the funds that ordinarily went to the gangster chieftains for "protection." The moneys would be used to employ expert investigators.

Meanwhile, on the orders of Commissioner William Russell, police continued their hunt for the "higher ups" and temporarily abandoned their attack on the small fry. Added today to the roster of important gunmen placed under arrest sinc ethe crime drive began a fortnight ago was the name of Frankie Foster, one of George "Bugs" Moran's retinue, who returned this morning from the South.

"I thought the heat was off the town" was oFster's only comment.

Chicago's only crime of any importance today was the shooting of Dorenzo Pizziferri, a grocer, who was perhaps fatally wounded in his store. Pizziferri's extreme reticence about the affair led authorities to believe he had been a participant in a feud.

Crazed Man Fights Police In Baltimore Two Hours

Baltimore, Feb. 20 (A.P.).—For nearly two hours after he had wounded a police lieutenant, John Loftus, a crazed Negro, maintained a barricade in his home in Leadenhall street last night, besieged by more than a score of police. More than a hundred shots were fired on both sides while several thousand spectators surged against police lines at either end of the block. Tear gas bombs finally were brought into action and, weakened by their fumes, the man was captured by a police captain.

Police Lieut. John W. Robinson was shot by Loftus when the officer attempted to arrest him on a warrant charging him with assault and attempt to shoot. Robinson was not seriously injured.

COMPENSATION BILL PASSES IN VIRGINIA

BUDGET BILL REPORTED

Special to The Washington Post.

Richmond, Va., Feb. 20.—The Senate today finally passed the workmen's compensation act which would give to injured employes in Virginia industry a 10 per cent increase in rate, from 50 to 55 per cent of the average weekly wage, with a $14 maximum, against the present $12, to become effective July 1. Only one vote was cast against the bill in the Senate, but Gov. Pollard, whose campaign pledge it was to labor, was forced to send down two messages to the House before the measure was finally adopted in the lower branch of the General Assembly.

The budget bill was reported, carrying appropriations for the next 28 months totaling something above $101,000,000 and providing some $150,000 more in expenditures than the governor and the budget commission had recommended. There were several salary raises in the bill, chief among which was the doubling of the salary of C. H. Morrissett, tax commissioner, who was raised from $6,000 to $12,000. He had resigned and was to have entered private practice of law, but was prevailed by friends to reconsider. He has been called one of the most valuable men in the State government, because of his familiarity with the new tax system in the State.

The Senate, by a vote of 24 to 15, killed the bar integration bill, which would have made the Bar Association an arm of the government with power to admit to practice or disbar any lawyer. There was a sharp division of opinion on the matter and debate lasted for most of the session, Senator James S. Barron, Norfolk, leading the proponents, and Senator Frank L. Ball, of Arlington, fighting it.

The House, after a fight, advanced a bill that would create 22 more posts on the State traffic police force after much debate, while the Hall chain stores bill, which was expected to cause a storm of protest, went forward without a debate.

Both Houses spent a considerable time in advancing and passing purely local bills, clearing their calendars, and the committees spent most of their time going into bills already passed by the other branch, in order to expedite the work that is piling up as the close of the session approaches.

Privilege Is Denied To Confer Degrees

Potomac University Loses Plan to School Board on Question.

Upon recommendation of its special committee which investigated the institution, the Board of Education yesterday refused to grant the application of Potomac University for a license to grant degrees in the District of Columbia.

The committee, composed of Dr. Frank W. Ballou, superintendent, and Stephen E. Kramer and G. C. Wilkinson, assistant superintendents of schools, made an exhaustive study of the institution since its appeal for a degree-granting license in accordance with the provisions of the diploma mill law, which became effective eleven months ago.

The university, which is headed by Dr. Ernest Warren Porter, applied for license to grant the degrees of bachelor of theology, doctor of divinity, master of arts, master of theology and doctor of theology. During the 24 years existence of the university, which was founded in 1904, the institution has conferred approximately 600 diplomas in 15 courses, Dr. H. Barrett Learned, vice president of the board, said.

KILLER CONFESSES SLAYING OF NINE

a man by that name, it was learned here today.

It was after this first experience, Baker said, that he became subject to unexpected impulses to poison other persons. "No one in particular, but just anyone who happened to be near," he said.

Slew in Other Lands.

The impulse moved him in Hamburg in 1926 and he said he poisoned a man there. Again, in 1927, he said he poisoned a Hindu in Bombay, India, while during the spring of 1928 he killed a man by poison while at Iloilo, a small seaport town on Panay Island, one of the Philippine group.

Returning to the United States, soon after, Baker said he went to work for the Guggenheim laboratory in New York. He hoped he would be sent to South America by the company, but when he found he was not to have the opportunity, he said, he left. Shortly after midnight December 28, 1928, Baker said he returned to the laboratory.

"There was a new watchman there," Baker said, "but he let me in. He was drinking some coffee and I put some poison in it when he wasn't looking. He drank it. I stayed there until he was dead.

Holds Up Truck Drivers.

"When I started to leave two truck drivers came to the laboratory. I recognized them and let them in. Then I held them up and tied them. I was going to kill them but one of them said he had a wife and some small children, so I took their money and left. I caught a subway for Jersey City. In the spring I came to Detroit and got the job on the farm."

Detective Harry Schouw, one of the officers who arrested Baker, said today Baker also had confessed shooting and killing his stepfather, Cyril Parks, on a farm near Warren, Ohio, seven years ago.

New York police were reported here as taking steps definitely to identify Baker preparatory to his extradition to that city.

their cockpits and apparently killing both immediately. Officials at the field last night said they were positive there had been no crash in the air.

An unofficial explanation was advanced that Lieut. Wolfe, in making a steep dive similar to maneuvers employed by this fast type of pursuit plane, may have misjudged the distance to the water, with Lieut. Ostertag duplicating the move without realizing the danger until too late.

Col. William B. Sullivan, Maj. Louis M. Bourne and Lieut. George M. Tower were named as a board of inquiry to conduct an immediate investigation of the tragedy.

A detail of marines headed by Maj. Roy S. Geiger, in command of the field, succeeded after considerable difficulty in extricating the badly mangled body of Lieut. Wolfe from his almost completely demolished plane, which was brought to the surface with grappling hooks.

Although rescue workers toiled far into the night under the glare of powerful searchlights, they were unable to locate the body of the other flier. To expedite the search, a diver from the Navy Yard here was ordered to the scene.

Lieut. Wolfe, the son of Dr. J. E. Wolfe, of Coeburn, Va., upon graduation from the Naval Academy was commissioned in the Marine Corps. He served a year in China and prior to his transfer to Quantico was on duty at the Naval Air Station at Pensacola, Fla.

Lieut. Ostertag served a short time in the Marine Corps after his graduation from Annapolis, but resigned to make his home at Columbia, Pa., where he subsequently was commissioned in the Marine Corps Reserves At Quantico he was on active duty for a year.

VIRGINIA WINS TRACT DISPUTED FOR YEARS

Land Bordering on Maryland Added to State in Final Decision.

CONGRESS TO GET ISSUE

Richmond, Va., Feb. 20 (A.P.).—Eight and a half miles of territory bordering on Maryland, including several square miles of oyster beds, have been added to Virginia by the Virginia-Maryland Commission on the Potomac boundary line final decision, submitted to Gov. Pollard today.

The report of the commission established the new boundary under authority of law conferred by acts of the General Assemblies of Virginia and Maryland. The decision amicably terminates a question in dispute since colonial times. However, Congress muts pass a law, as a mere matter of form, acknowledging the change, before the nw boundary will be authentic.

The commission included two men, Dr. Wilbur A. Nelson, head of the geology department of the University of Virginia, and Edward S. Mathews, State geologist of Maryland, appointed two years ago by governors of their respective States. Their task was to settle the boundary controversy on the basis of the award of 1877, establishing the principle that the line should run along the low-water mark on the Virginia shore from headland to headland. In more than a dozen changes definitely fixing the headlands, only one small shift of the line favored Maryland, Virginia being the great gainer under the principle interpretation.

$50,000 Suit Is Filed In Injuries to Worker

As a result of alleged injuries suffered February 20, 1929, by Umberto Mastrorocco, an employe of the U. S. Tile & Marble Co., suit for $50,000 damages was filed against the Charles H. Tompkins Co. yesterday in District Supreme Court. Plaintiffs in the action are the Aetna Life Insurance Co. and the U. S. Tile & Marble Co. Mr. Mastrorocco was injured while working on the Tower Building in a fall from a scaffold, the declaration asserts.

Employes of the U. S. Tile & Marble Co., subcontractor to the Tompkins Co., in the erection of the building, were insured under the workmen's compensation act by the Aetna Co. Under the act an injured employe, who collects from the insurance company for injuries and medical expenses, turns all claims over to the insurance company. Attorneys Leonard J. Ganse and Charles W. Arth appear for the plaintiffs.

nosed over when it struck soft dirt at the end of the runway, but the pilot escaped unhurt.

Starting his trials shortly after dawn today, Schoenhair, a former Army pilot, skimmed along above the wave-lapped beach to establish a new record of 175.997 miles an hour over the 100-kilometer course with the added weight of 1,000 kilograms. This exceeded by 15.71 miles an hour the former mark of 160.280 set by Capt. H. S. Broad, of England, on April 27, 1928.

Continuing his trials without stopping at the end of the first 100 kilometers, the pilot roared on to hang up a new record of 168.114 miles an hour for 500 kilometers with the same added weight. The previous record of 158.656 miles an hour also was held by Capt. Broad, of England.

His exhaust pipe blown off by the powerful explosions of the motor and his gasoline supply rapidly diminishing, Schoenhair throttled down over the last five laps of the course, but succeeded in setting up a new record over 1,000 kilometers with a speed of 152.702 miles an hour. This bettered by 15.6 miles an hour the former mark of 137.198 established by Paillard and Camplan, of France, on December 23, 1928.

Despite the fact that he was carrying twice the load, Schoenhair also broke the 1,000-kilometer course record for 500 kilograms at the same time he shattered the previous world's record for 1,000 kilograms over the same distance. His new record for 500 kilograms over 1,000 kilometers was 152.702 miles and hour, which surpassed by 6.042 miles an hour the previous mark of 146.660 set on May 14, 1926, by Pernand Lasne, of France.

On the Rules of Traffic
By WILLIAM ULLMAN

Many Washington motorists, aware of the rule that prohibits driving through safety zones, are, nevertheless, not certain as to just what are the boundaries of the area reserved for pedestrians. Specifically, many wonder whether they are permitted to drive on the car tracks "inside" of the safety zone.

The traffic officer declares the limits of the safety zone to be the white lines painted on the pavement. So long as the motorist does not invade this area he has obeyed the regulations. Driving "inside" the zone, on the car tracks, is permissible.

Example: A motorist is driving on the car tracks along Wisconsin avenue. He is forced to stop behind a street car. When the car starts, he passes through the safety zone in an effort to get around the slower vehicle. He has violated the law. He should have continued on the "inside" until clear of the zone boundary lines.

Drug Store Is Robbed Of Prescription Rum

Thirty-six pints of prescription whisky in addition to 20 watches and a pipe, valued at $150, were stolen early yesterday from the Peoples Drug Store at Eighteenth street and Columbia road northwest.

Dr. Paul Voorhees, of 2121 New York avenue northwest, manager of the store, discovered the robbery when he opened the establishment for business yesterday morning. The robbers entered by breaking the glass of a rear basement window.

TARIFF TRUCE AIM OF FRANCE OUTLINED

Geneva Conference Takes Up Discussion of Drafting Agreement.

COLOMBIA OFFERS AID

Geneva, Feb. 20 (A.P.).—The League of Nations tariff truce conference tonight concluded its general discussions and began considering in committee of proposal for a tariff truce, using as a basis a draft convention prepared by the league's economic committee.

A second committee will deliberate on a plan for the program of subsequent negotiations between the governments with the view to reduction of customs barriers and the encouragement of international trade. They will hold public sessions beginning tomorrow with all the delegations represented.

Jules Gautier, spokesman for the French delegation, today presented France's attitude toward the objects of the conference. He said France had two propositions to make and that one of these was a plan for the creation of a European market. He did not disclose the delegation's ideas further and his reserve was attributed to the unsettled political state in Paris.

Antonio Jose Restupo, Colombian delegate, said that Colombia offered best wishes and cooperation to the purposes of the conferences.

"While it has been said," he told the afternoon session, "that the conference was only concerned with Europe, economic laws are universal, and from this point there are neither continents, nationalities nor frontiers. The world is an indivisible whole and is influenced by its material needs. Unfortunately war hatreds have induced countries to take measures to safeguard their industries, forcing other countries to take similar measures and thus creating a vicious circle.

"All the countries of the world are perishing because of the increased cost of living and economic difficulties. Colombia is interested in watching export and import measures which may have a direct effect on our markets."

Chairman Moltke gave some indication of the expected duration of the conference when he requested that ministers who must return to their capitals this week-end should return to Geneva after a fortnight to have a hand in completing the task of the conference.

Hoover Invites Coolidge To Dedicate New Dam

(Associated Press.)

President Hoover yesterday dispatched a telegram to former President Coolidge asking him if convenient to go to Arizona and dedicate the Coolidge Dam.

The dam, which is on the Gila River, in Arizona, was constructed during Mr. Coolidge's administration and named in his honor. The dam supplies water for one of the largest reclamation projects ever built by the United States Government.

They Call It Politics

By CARTER FIELD

A COALITION-CONTROLLED House in the next Congress seems likely to be added to President Hoover's mental hair shirts. The smoothly oiled Longworth and Tilson controlled machine which has been such a joy to the President, and in such sharp contrast to the obstreperous Senate, is apt to change into a body as unruly—save for certain cloture limitations—as the upper house itself.

This prospect is imminent despite the rather general impression that the Senate has sunk even lower in public esteem as a result of its course during the present session.

* * * *

THE present Republican majority in the House is 102. Democrats are talking loudly about "winning the House." There is no chance of that, if one analyzes the situation district by district, unless one anticipates an upheaval of a character that would be almost revolutionary. Down in their hearts, privately, the Democratic leaders do not expect it. Furthermore, they do not want it.

For them the ideal situation would be what they really expect, and what some of the Republican leaders—as they also admit in private conversation— also expect. That is a cutting down of the present Republican majority to a point where the Progressives in the House, by uniting with the Democrats, would be in the majority. Thus the Democrats would have all the pleasure of seeing the President bedeviled by an unsympathetic House as well as a very nearly hostile Senate, without assuming any of the responsibility.

* * * *

"I WOULD like nothing in the world better than to win the House," said Jouett Shouse, chairman of the Democratic executive committee, who has been directing the fusillade of publicity against the House tariff measure. "It would mean beyond doubt that we were going to elect a Democratic President in 1932. That has been the unbroken history of elections in this country. Even in the one exception sometimes cited—that of Tilden in 1876, of course everyone knows that election was stolen."

Here are the inside figures of the Democratic expected gains in the House in the election next November: Virginia, 3; North Carolina, 2; Kentucky, 5; Pennsylvania, 5; Indiana, 5; Illinois, 3; Massachusetts, 3; New Jersey, 2; Connecticut, 1; West Virginia, 2; Ohio, 2; Missouri, 3; Oklahoma, 2; Nebraska, 1.

That would make a total of 39 gains. It would reduce the Republican lead in the House to a bare 24. This would mean that the radical group could give the Democrats a majority on any vote it desired. It would mean that the Progressives, if they so wished, could join the Democrats and elect a Speaker and reorganize the House to suit themselves, providing they could effect an agreement with the Democrats on every particular, which, of course, is a rather violent assumption. Incidentally the Democratic leaders would not view this assumption of responsibility with satisfaction. They would prefer to remain in the position of a critical minority right up until the presidential election, Jouett Shouse to the contrary notwithstanding.

* * * *

ACTUALLY the Democratic gains as tabulated above are highly optimistic. In Virginia and North Carolina they expect to regain the seats they lost on the anti-Smith landslide. They may be able to do this. In Kentucky they expect the same, and again it is within the realm of probability. But when they claim a gain in Pennsylvania of five seats and five in Indiana, that is discounting what to those States would be a Democratic landslide. Three in each State is far more probable from the present indications. Most of the other claims are not hotly disputed by Republican leaders in close touch with the situation.

Even as pared down by the private views of Republicans, however, there is still the prospect of a coalition controlled House. It may be that the Democratic leaders are so cheered up and the Republican leaders so depressed at the moment by the Massachusetts bye election that their judgment is all wrong. But after all that is the sort of thing on which they build their estimates. Everything else is mere opinion.

Meanwhile the Senate situation is also most encouraging to the Democrats. They expect very substantial gains. Until the last week the Republicans had been counting on holding their own in the upper house.

SOCIETY WOMAN AND FARMER DECLARE DRY LAW IS FAILURE

Massachusetts, said in the House that the testimony of Walter W. Liggett, Washington magazine writer, before the judiciary committee last week on conditions in Massachusetts, was "foul and vicious libel on the City of Boston." He received unanimous consent of the House to file in the Congressional Record a report from a Federal grand jury in Boston which he said proved that no charge made by Mr. Liggett was capable of being sustained.

Over in the Senate, Senator Norris (Republican), Nebraska, announced that he would be prepared to lay before the Senate judiciary committee next Monday evidence on enforcement of prohibition in event preliminary hearings on his measure to investigate enforcement are undertaken. He would be satisfied merely to lay the evidence before the group, he explained.

All the witnesses before the House judiciary committee testified that bootleg liquor was freely to be found in their cities and disregard for the liquor laws was general and outright.

Law Held Unenforceable.

Dr. Church said th . is a "swelling wave of evidence on hand that in the opinion of many millions of the American people prohibition, after ten years of trial, is unenforceable because it is opposed by the popular will."

The Pittsburgh educator asserted the dry law was a social and legal failure and had resulted in an increase of intemperance, corruption and crime. He charged that the Methodist Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals, Bishop James Cannon, jr., of Virginia; the Antisaloon League, the Ku Klux Klan and the Lord's Day Alliance were dictating to the legislators laws to enforce prohibition.

"Should Congress actually and in full good faith attempt to enforce completely and literally the eighteenth amendment," he said, "there would be either a complete political revolution or the Nation would head toward civil war."

Nullified in St. Louis, Claim.

Former Senator Williams said nullification was a fact to be observed and not discussed in his section, St. Louis County, and that big alcohol manufacturers had been hiring men to go to jail for them when convicted for prohibition violations.

"In the section of the country where I live," Mr. Williams said, "neither the State nor national prohibition laws are observed or enforced. * * * for the first time in human history, through prohibition, we have financed the worst—the most desperate—the most arrogant criminal class the world has probably ever known."

Both the best people and the criminal class favor prohibition, he added. "We thus find that the best and worst elements of our society are linked together in a political partnership for the enforcement of the Volstead and Jones acts."

Legislative Approval Hit.

Mr. Williams said the people disregarded the prohibition law because they felt that they had not been considered when it was adopted and approved by the State legislatures rather than by themselves.

Cleveland, Ohio, was described by Mr. Crowell, a wartime Assistant Secretary of War, as overwhelmingly wet. He said a swing against prohibition had grown steadily since it had been given its initial trial. The people believe, he added, that evils brought about by prohibition are worse than those which brought prohibition about.

"The people of Cleveland want repeal of prohibition and return of control of liquor to the people of Ohio," the publisher said.

Mr. Shaw, who is general counsel for a number of large concerns, said the prohibition laws had impeded temperance and as a result drinking to an excess was expected in mixed parties and was not considered opprobrious.

Society's Connivance Told.

He went on to say that every one knew that the law was flagrantly violated all over the country, both in cities and villages, by people of all ranks and classes in society. Society resented the law to such an extent, he continued, that it was pouring millions of dollars into the coffers of the underworld and was making it so powerful financially that prosecutors, judges, legislators and all the instrumentalities of government were capable of being debauched. He said that Illinois was wet and that it had voted against prohibition about 5 to 1.

Mr. Cheney said that Collier's Magazine had had a survey made of the liquor situation throughout the country and had found that liquor of a poor quality could be obtained any place where a person had the price. He said that a great crime wave and a powerful underworld had developed as a result of the dry laws and that the rural districts had shown more ingenuity than the cities in devising means of law evasion.

"The Crusaders" is an organization of young men recruited from over the country with the avowed purpose of bringing about repeal of prohibition. As an organizer of it, Mr. Clark said the members were determined to "substitute real temperance for prohibition intemperance. He said that while "The Crusaders" is a young organization, it has more than 50,000 members and is constantly increasing.

Wet Sentiment Claimed Growing.

Asserting that beyond the slightest doubt sentiment against prohibition has been growing steadily for the past eight years, former Representative Phillips said his observations led him to believe that drinking was becoming more general and that yearly a new set of hard-liquor drinkers was produced.

"The responsibility for the situation in which we find ourselves," he said, "must be laid at the door of the prohibitionists, and inasmuch as they have the control of the Government any unnecessary delay in remedying the present conditions must be charged against them."

Mr. Eppley, the scientist, said Rhode Island was opposed to the eighteenth amendment, as had been shown by a survey conducted by the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment. The survey, he added, indicated there were 10 to 1 against prohibition but that the return of the old saloon was not favored.

Don't Go to Extremes To End Constipation

When bad breath, or a coated tongue, biliousness or headaches warn of constipation, don't take violent purgatives. There's no use when a candy Cascaret will stop the trouble in a jiffy; will cleanse your system pleasantly, and completely.

The relief you get so promptly from Cascarets is lasting. Cascarets are made from cascara, a substance which medical authorities agree actually strengthens the bowel muscles.

So Cascarets are a blessing to old folks with weakened bowels; to children; to any one in need of establishing regular bowel habits. Ten cents a box—all drug stores.—Adv.

DEMOCRATS TO BAR ARKANSAS BOLTERS

Committee Ignores Letter of Anti-Smith Leader on Third Party Threat.

PRIMARY DATE IS SET

Little Rock, Ark., Feb. 20 (A.P.).—The coming Democratic State primary will be conducted under previous rules of the party, which if enforced, will bar from participation those who bolted from the Smith-Robinson ticket in 1928.

The Democratic State central committee in meeting today formally set August 12 as the date of the primary and instructed judges, and clerks to "carefully" guard against "unauthorized" persons casting their ballots.

A rule of the party promulgated in 1928, provides that any person who bolted the ticket at a general election may not be eligible to participate in a Democratic primary for at least two years, thus, a "Hoover-Democrats" are challenged, the right to reenter the party this year would be questioned and their votes withheld from the ballot boxes.

An open letter of Dr. A. C. Millar, chairman of the anti-Smith organization in Arkansas, threatening a third party in event the committee failed to change its rules regarding bolters, was ignored by the committee. Gen. E. L. Compere, chairman, said he had seen the text of the letter in the newspapers but had not received a copy.

Dr. Millar, who is editor of the official organ of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, in Arkansas, declined to comment upon results of the committee meeting. He said, however, he may comment later. Dr. Millar announced in the summer of 1928 as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for lieutenant governor, but withdrew before the primary. He gave as his reason the nomination at Houston, Tex., of Alfred E. Smith for President.

Dr. Millar's letter had demanded that the Democratic party amend its rules to permit bolters to go back, with the right of bolting again if the nominees did not suit them.

District Educators To Attend Convention

About 60 officials of the District school system, headed by Dr. Frank W. Ballou, superintendent, will leave today and tomorrow for Atlantic City to attend the annual meeting of the Department of Superintendency of the National Education Assaciotion. Dr. Ballou will speak during the sessions which continue through Wednesday.

Besides Supt. Ballou, the Washington delegation includes Assistant Superintendents G. C. Wilkinson, Miss Rosa Lees Hardy, Miss Jessie LaSalle and E. A. Clark, principals of practically all the high schools and several teachers.

Pope Becomes Granduncle.

Rome, Feb. 20 (A.P.).—Pope Pius is now a granduncle. His niece, Marchesa Maria Louisa Persichetti Ugolini, gave birth to a girl this morning. The child will be named Maria Pia, the feminine form of Pius.

YOUR INCOME TAX

NO. 19.

A loss in the sale of stock or bonds may not be deducted on account of anticipated profits that have not been realized. A dealer in securities, as defined by income tax regulations, may use the inventory method to report income because the stocks and bonds held by him are not investments but comprise his stock in trade.

A taxpayer possessing stock of a corporation can not deduct from gross income any amount claimed as a loss merely on account of shrinkage in value of such stock on account of fluctuation of the market or otherwise. The loss allowable in such case is that actually suffered when the stock is disposed of.

A taxpayer, other than a dealer in securities, can not deduct any loss claimed to have been sustained from the sale of stock or securities, if within 30 days before or after such sale he has acquired (other than by bequest or inheritance) substantially identical property. This provision is designed to prevent a taxpayer, in computing net income, from claiming as a deduction a so-called "loss" sustained from a sale of securities, which is immediately followed or immediately preceded by a purchase of substantially identical securities.

Gain or loss, however, is realized in the case of a "short sale." A taxpayer owning 100 shares of the X corporation, who purchases another 100 shares and within 30 days thereafter sells the first purchased stock can not deduct any loss claimed to have been sustained from the transaction; if he sells the entire 200 shares, a gain or loss from both transactions is thereby realized at that time; and if he sells the stock included within the second purchase a gain or loss is realized.

Kiwanians Asked To Atlantic City

Members Are Exhorted to Attend International Convention.

A delegation of five mebmers of the Atlantic City Kiwanis Club yesterday extended to the Washington Kiwanians an invitation to attend 100 per cent the International Kiwanis convention there June 29 to July 3. The delegation had previously invited President Hoover to address the convention.

Dr. William J. Carrington, Kiwanis international trustee; Henry Leeds, past lieutenant governor of the New Jersey district; Walter Buzby, Charles Kaighn and Paul M. Cope formed the delegation, while Russell S. Perkinson, Petersburg, Va., past governor of the Capital district and chairman of the international convention committee, also urged Washington members to help make the affair a success.

Eugene Ruark announced a stag party for Kiwanians next Tuesday night at 6 o'clock at the N. Auth Provision Co. Yesterday's program at the Washington Hotel was arranged by William S. Quinter and included piano and singing numbers by Miss Janne Thorpe, Miss Honey Post and Miss Heming May.

Pope Receives Royal Couple.

Vatican City, Feb. 20 (A.P.).—Pope Pius today received in audience Princess Mafalda, daughter of King Victor Emmanuel, and her husband, Prince Philip of Hesse. The pontiff spoke to them cordially at some length and presented them with two beautiful pictures. The prince and princess in turn presented the Pope with valuable gifts.

TRIAL BY JURY.

Failure of the House judiciary subcommittee to agree on the Christopherson bills, providing for trial of minor prohibition cases before United States commissioners without juries, was anticipated. This proposal of the National Law Enforcement Commission does not square with the Constitution, and there is little chance of it being enacted into law. Even if it should be taken up by the full judiciary committee and forced through Congress by the extreme drys, there is every reason to believe that the Supreme Court would declare it unconstitutional.

The right of trial by jury is too deeply rooted in the Constitution to be dissipated by Congress. The Constitution specifically provides that trial of all crimes, except in cases of impeachment, shall be by jury. This is affirmed by decisions of the Supreme Court. In the famous case known as ex parte Milligan the court said:

> If ideas can be expressed in words, and language has any meaning, this right (trial by jury)—one of the most valuable in a free country—is preserved to every one accused of crime who is not attached to the army or navy or militia in actual service . . . All other persons, citizens of States where the courts are open, if charged with crime, are guaranteed the inestimable privilege of trial by jury. This privilege is a vital principle, underlying the whole administration of criminal justice; it is not held by sufferance, and can not be frittered away on any plea of state or political necessity.

Again in referring to the constitutional guarantees of personal liberty the court declared: "Not one of these safeguards can the President, or Congress or the judiciary disturb, except the one concerning the writ of habeas corpus."

It is difficult to understand how the Law Enforcement Commission came to support a measure that clearly violates the spirit and letter of the Constitution. Preponderantly dry though Congress is, it is not likely to attempt to destroy the right of trial by jury.

The inability of the Crime Commission and the House subcommittee to work out a plan in harmony with the Constitution by which petty prohibition cases can be expedited in the Federal courts shows how incompatible is the program of exclusive Federal prohibition with the American judicial system. There is no provision for petty police cases in the Federal judiciary system, and it is doubtful if any satisfactory arrangement can be devised.

With the transfer of the Prohibition Bureau to the Department of Justice a tightening up of enforcement is expected. What will be the result if these additional cases are taken before the already congested Federal courts? The fact that attempts are being made to secure special procedure for petty cases indicates that the Government does not intend to trust this phase of enforcement to the States. More serious congestion is certain. The administration of justice in other than liquor cases will be hampered.

But no matter how the Federal courts may be clogged, the right of trial by jury can not be destroyed by Congress.

NO NATIONAL FLOWER.

The wild rose appears to be the most favored flower in America. It was given first place in the nation-wide poll of the American Nature Association, winning by a considerable number of votes over the columbine. As a result the association will ask Congress to declare the wild rose the national flower.

Why designate a national flower? The United States is a country of many climates, and it is impossible to find a flower which is typical of all its varied regions. Millions of people have never seen a wild rose.

Pennsylvania is the only State which has no choice of a flower emblem, selected officially or unofficially. Nearly every other State has chosen a flower that is peculiar to its own climate and topography. There are almost as many different varieties as there are States. Floral emblems for the States are quite appropriate, but it is impossible to name a flower that is the favorite of all States.

NO MEDDLING IN RUSSIA.

Heedless of what happened when the State Department attempted to interfere in the Russian-Chinese Railway dispute recently, several groups are urging the United States to protest against the antireligious movement in Russia. Church organizations and individuals have asked the State Department to intervene. President Hoover has been asked to bring the atheistic leaders to their knees by threatening to postpone diplomatic recognition of their regime. Representative Hamilton Fish, jr., of New York, has introduced a joint resolution declaring it the sense of Congress that "the persecution and outrages which have been inflicted upon the Christian and Jewish subjects of Soviet Russia, who desire peacefully to worship God according to the dictates of conscience, are an offense to humanity, and that the seizure and diversion of Christian churches and Jewish synagogues to nonreligious purposes, and the desecration of burial grounds are repugnant to the ideals of civilized nations."

The absurdity of this resolution is recognized in its opening paragraph, in which it disclaims any "right or desire to interfere in the internal affairs of another country." Representative Fish would have Congress declare willingness to cooperate with other nations of the world in an effort to persuade the Soviet government to put an end to religious persecutions. It is difficult to imagine a more effective stimulant to the atheistic campaign in Russia than that.

The United States has no right to intermeddle in the internal affairs of Russia. The State Department's note reminding the Soviet officials of their obligations under the Kellogg pact during the squabble with China brought such a severe rebuke that any other "advice" from that department is extremely unlikely. As for joining with other nations in telling Russia what should be done about its fight with religion, the idea is preposterous.

The cause of the Soviet atheistic organization thrives on opposition. Resentment from other countries will only serve to intensify the campaign to exterminate religion. The communist regime regards all nations and all established religious and social agencies as enemies. An opportunity to clash with church organizations is welcomed. Opposition from America or any other country could only add fuel to the fire. The best policy is to leave the Soviet regime to its own fate at the hands of the Russian people. They will not forever endure political and religious persecution.

THE SMOKE NUISANCE.

It is not a hopeless task to enforce smoke abatement ordinances. The inspector in charge of enforcing Milwaukee's smoke laws, in his annual report to the city council, calls attention to the fact that the work that has been done toward securing installations of modern smoke-consuming apparatus and the use of smokeless fuels has been manifest in a noteworthy betterment in purity of the air and in general cleanliness. In Pittsburgh, long known as the Smoky City, rigorous enforcement of the smoke abatement law has resulted in a decrease of 70 per cent in soot deposits. Despite its steel mills, glass factories and other beehives of industrial activity, Pittsburgh today is relatively free from smoke.

Washington should have no smoke problem. Heavy manufacturing, with which is generally associated tall chimneys belching forth clouds of black smoke, plays no part in Washington's industrial life. But since the war, when soft coal was introduced in the community, the smoke evil has become more apparent every year. There have been a few arrests and convictions under the smoke laws this winter, but the city is grimier than ever.

It is interesting to note that of the complaints acted upon by the smoke abatement officials of Milwaukee, approximately 40 per cent were directed against apartment houses and only 10 per cent against industrial plants. If these figures obtain generally, it is not necessary to search for the source of the local smoke nuisance. Enforcement can be as effective here as it has been in Pittsburgh and Milwaukee. With so many new white-stone structures being erected it is high time that drastic enforcement of these regulations were undertaken. The District authorities in charge of smoke abatement have gone far enough in warning violators and in showing proprietors how to use coal properly. It is time now to make arrests for flagrant violations.

THE CATTLE INDUSTRY.

The higher duty on cattle voted by the Senate is indicative of economic changes that are taking place in the United States. A few years ago cattle were exported in great quantities and consumption of meat within the country was high. The vast prairies of the West provided forage for millions of cattle. No other nation was able to compete with the live-stock industry of America.

The industry was stimulated during the World War, reaching a peak in 1918, when there were more than 44,000,000 head of cattle on American farms. The collapse of prices following the war drove hundreds of cattlemen out of business and brought about a considerable reduction of the herds. This reduction continued from 1920 to 1928, but there was a slight increase in 1929. Farms are now maintaining about the same number of cattle, exclusive of dairy cows, as they did in 1890.

Consumption of beef in the United States is steadily declining. The per capita consumption in 1928 was 51.7 pounds, compared with 77.5 in 1907. At the same time other countries have been coming to the front in the live-stock industry. The ranges of Argentina, which are now devoted to grazing, give that country a distinct advantage over the United States in the world market for beef. Many ranges in this country have been overgrazed and ruined. Others have been converted into farm land. The great open spaces are slowly filling up with population, and there is a tendency in the cattle industry to shift to newer lands.

The Senate voted 72 to 4 in favor of a higher tariff on cattle. The House will no doubt agree to this added protection for the live-stock industry on the ground that the American market should be reserved for American producers. With this aid the cattle industry may be able to hold its own in the United States. But newer countries with cheap land and labor will retain a distinct advantage in the world market.

CAPITOL BOOTLEGGING.

The House judiciary committee continues the prohibition repeal or modification hearings. A New York lawyer asserts that civil war impends unless the statutes are liberalized. A former member of Congress testifies that in his county rich bootleggers are hiring others to serve their terms when and if they are caught and convicted. An educator says that the Democratic and Republican parties have joined forces as a prohibition party, and suggests that an antiprohibition party be established as an antidote. It's a merry little party to which the House judiciary committee is host.

Meanwhile, the man in the green hat is arrested at the portals of the Senate Office Building and charged with "transportation," and a brother in the profession, halted in the same neighborhood by police, dashes a parcel to earth from which a bare gill of evidence is scooped up. Round and round the Capitol circle the bootleggers, industriously ply their trade. The walls of the House judiciary committee room reverberate with theorizing as to prohibition and its effects, while a drama of real life proceeds without the portals.

Let there be an investigation of prohibition as it is enforced in and around the Capitol. The House and the Senate represent a cross-section of the United States. All classes, all groups and the shades between all classes and groups are represented therein. Far more practical than to theorize would be to use Congress as a test tube from which to obtain actual knowledge of the workings of prohibition.

This is a mighty bad time to ask Congress to confer for the sake of preventing war.

Watermelon seeds are sold in Kentucky for $1 a pound. If any seed is worth that much it is watermelon seed.

RUSSIA'S NEW TERROR

By SIR BERNARD PARES,
In the London Times.

Stalin, whose violence was always feared by Lenin, has now expelled or subdued all his colleagues, and is determined by violence to force through at all costs the whole program of militant communism. It was the peasants who defeated Lenin, as Lenin himself admitted. He recognized, as all of us do who have spent long periods among them, that the peasants were the worst material for communism, that they were essentially small-property men. This essential character is what Stalin is out to alter by force. As is known, the Bolshevists hoped to win in an industrial country, and had no real agricultural policy till they found themselves the rulers of Russia. A more or less mechanical attempt to apply communism off-hand to the Russian peasantry broke down in 1921—because the peasant, when told that, except for the allowance assigned to him for his own needs, he was to grow grain, not for the market, but for the state, stopped growing what he was not allowed to keep, and the result was a colossal famine which is still a nightmare to those who survived it. Stalin is now going through at all costs. He will mechanize agriculture; and he hopes that the difference in output created by state-owned tractors on military farms will cancel the inevitable loss caused by the simultaneous elimination of thrift. At the best he seems in for another great famine, and as likely as not for assassination.

That is the position; and, as one who has lived long among the Russian peasantry, I want to call attention to their plight under this grisly experiment; for the peasants are the mass of the Russian people, the raw material of the army and the main producers of the country. The bulk of their long and dreary history was the story of serfdom, abolished in 1861, and it is really serfdom that Stalin is trying to restore. Then, as now, it was instituted for state purposes—recruitment and taxation; and the Russian gentry were not squires in our sense but local officials; the peasants, not without reason, looked at them as intruders, and took comfort in the fact that at least the land remained with them. After Napoleon's Moscow campaign, when promises of emancipation had been issued, there was instead of this an actual militarization of agriculture in many districts, which produced peasant risings, and has always been regarded as one of the worst blots on the rule of the tsars. Now we are back at that again.

In the name of a ridiculous and fantastic theory, which has already gone bankrupt once under the Bolshevists, the peasant is to be deprived of all interest in the produce of his toil, and that by a government which has the effrontery to style itself the "Government of the Workers and Peasants," but is, of course, in spite of its complicated system of castrated elections, nothing else but the present master of the inner ring of the communist party. The peasants are naturally divided into those who are laborious and produce and those who do not; but the label of "kulak," earlier applied to the three or four hard-fisted and avaricious peasants in a village, has now been made to cover all the former section; so Rykov himself was saying a few months ago. Of course, the peasants will resist, for even the poorer peasant generally owed his means of living to his more prosperous neighbor. But all the machinery of the state has been turned against them, and executions and wholesale confiscations are going on every day.

What will be the issue? Who can say, except that in any case it will be terrible? There are still armchair theorists who regard it all as an interesting experiment, perhaps worth the sacrifice of a generation of peasants, and there are capitalists who, if payment is secured, will be glad to supply the tractors. But, though its name has been eliminated from the state title, there is still Russia, a country with only 3,000,000 industrial workers and close on 120,000,000 peasants.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

THE DISAPPOINTED VOCALIST.

No one will ever understand the misery I've known,
Because the good Lord fashioned me entirely deaf to tone,
And none will ever understand how I have trudged along
And secretly attempted to acquire the knack of song,
But every time we go to church my Nellie says to me:
"Don't sing the hymn so loudly, dear, because you're off the key."

I think I have the feeling and I understand the words,
I yearn to warble merry tunes as do the summer birds,
But ridicule and laughter have been always mine to bear,
In school the songs they used to sing they would not let me share.
Itried to make the glee club once. They handed me my hat
And said: "Please don't come back again. Your voice is much too flat."

I've watched our clever acrobats, without a trembling lip
And never wished that I could flip myself the way they flip.
I've never envied champions in any line of sport,
I've never looked at taller men and sighed because I'm short.
I've never envied richer men, nor yearned to be a king,
But every time a song was heard I've wished that I could sing.

And should the good Lord send for me when I have quit this earth
And offer me a second chance to pass the gate of birth,
I'll say: "Right willingly I'll go, whatever be the task,
But ere I face the world once more, one favor I would ask,
I'll gladly brave life's weal and woe if you will fashion me

One Word of Scorn Does More Than a Thousand Scornful Looks.

By ROBERT QUILLEN

THE decent man's contempt for cowards who strike from ambush is bred in the bone.

Primitive man had much to dread, but doubtless he dreaded most of all the snake that struck from the grass without warning and the cat that dropped silently from the limb of a tree.

His fear engendered hate, as fear always does, and in time he learned to hate and abhor his fellow men who copied the methods of the snake and the cat.

When Jesus portrayed the character of Satan He described him as an enemy who came by night and did his evil work under cover of darkness.

There is in all normal and civilized men a quality that loathes and abominates treachery and surprise attack.

The assassin's knife in the back reveals the lowest depth to which manhood can fall.

Though robbed of his homeland and debased by his conquerors, the Indian is denied sympathy still because he struck in the dark or shot his victim from ambush.

Man's inborn sense of right and fair play condemns any method of combat that denies the enemy an opportunity to fight for his life or his honor.

All the world feels a scornful contempt for those who use the mails as a shield for their malice—the petty critic who writes the word "false" on a clipped paragraph and mails it to the author unsigned—the sneak who writes defamatory and insulting letters and disguises his handwriting to conceal his identity.

And this world-wide hatred for those who learn chivalry from the snake explains the common aversion to submarines.

Napoleon and Lord Nelson refused to consider the use of such craft; the Germans were condemned by the world when their U-boats sunk without warning; Annapolis graduates will not apply for submarine duty, though it promises a short cut to independent command.

Other and poorer nations urge their continued use because they are the cheapest of major weapons.

If they are to be renounced mankind's hatred of cowardice, treachery and unfairness must make itself vocal now while the nations are in conference.

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS

MR. COOLIDGE'S NIGHTGOWN.

Former President Coolidge lost his nightgown down South the other day, thereby revealing to the country that there is one man who still wears one. The information confirmed suspicions.

The people always had a notion that, as President of the United States, Mr. Coolidge wore a nightgown, or nightshirt, as they say way down East, and they rather liked the idea. They had a feeling that a country is pretty safe in the hands of any man who clings to the old-fashioned flour sack style or robe de nuit.

Now that their suspicions have been confirmed through a piece of careless packing in a Jacksonville hotel, they want to know about Mr. Hoover. Does Herbert Hoover wear a nightshirt or pajamas?

The country has a right to know. He made no preelection statement on the matter. Not a word about nightshirts was said in his campaign speeches. It was ignored entirely in the Republican platform.

Very probably Mr. Hoover wears a nightshirt, too. Mr. Coolidge approved of his candidacy and it is unlikely he would do so if Mr. Hoover was the sort of man who went to bed in newfangled things like pajamas. Mr. Hoover should issue a statement on the matter.

* * * *

It must be borne in mind that Calvin Coolidge, having lost his nightgown, definitely, positively and almost publicly repudiated and disavowed pajamas. Having nothing else to wear, he wore a pair for one night, but he evidently suffered intensely. The mere thought that he was sleeping in pajamas, and rather fancy ones at that, offended his New England conscience. It made him feel innocuous and vapid. It was as if he had compromised on a great principle. He couldn't have felt uneasier if he had been motoring down Pennsylvania avenue in a one-piece bathing suit at high noon Sunday morning.

* * * *

All night long the Vermont ex-President tossed in bed, burning with shame. What if the folks back home in Plymouth saw him? What if Massachusetts—there she stands—heard of him actually going to bed in anything but the proverbial nightgown of his forefathers?

* * * *

What if Senator Walsh heard about it? He would probably denounce him as a dude. There would be talk of swank.

* * * *

Phew! It was pretty distressing.

* * * *

And, the first thing the next morning Mr. Coolidge took off the pajamas, chucked 'em away with a fine gesture and bought himself a nightgown of the style to which he had been accustomed and in which he could sleep like a fearless American citizen.

* * * *

* * * *

In the words of the poet:

That old-fashioned nightshirt,
That loose, baggy nightshirt,
That funny old nightshirt
That hung on so well.

CREDIT FOR AN ASSIST.

Mr. Cornelius McGillicuddy, better known as Connie Mack, was recently awarded the $10,000 Bok award as the citizen who had rendered the most conspicuous service to Philadelphia during 1929, and so far nobody has suggested that he should give at least half of it to Hack Wilson.

Elmer Twitchell thinks John Coolidge was extremely simple in exacting a pledge from his bride not to do any flying. "Does he think there will ever be a wife who will keep a promise not to go up in the air?" he demands.

G. Muddlestone Thrushbeak says he will not send his boy to Yale because he is afraid the boy might get caught under falling buildings or run over by a steam-shovel.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Clemenceau's American Wife—A Divorce After 23 Years—She Died in France.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Following the death of Georges Clemenceau, the press of the world devoted considerable space to the lifetime activities of the outstanding statesman of France, but little, if anything, was said about his younger years, some of which were spent in the United States, where he taught French in a finishing school at Stamford, Conn. Few, if any, persons realize that he married a young American girl while residing in the United States. She was Mary Plummer, the daughter of a widow who lived on a farm near Skinner Prairie, Wis. The young lady was sent by relatives to the finishing school in Connecticut. On June 16, 1869, Clemenceau and Miss Plummer were married in the City Hall in New York. Shortly after their marriage they sailed for France, and lived in the Clemenceau home in the Vendee.

Clemenceau at once began the remarkable political career that was terminated by his death after he had become an outstanding figure in the world's political field. His American wife lent him her loyal support for 23 years. Then she divorced him and returned to America. Later she went to France and spent the rest of her life there. She died in extreme poverty six years ago at the age of 77, and her family in America did not receive the news of her death until two months later. A. P. PARKS.

What Is the Nonintoxicating Limit of an Intoxicating Beverage?

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: When the prohibition muddle started, in common, no doubt, with many other good patriots, I gave it serious consideration. But after a while I became a conscientious onlooker, while the doubt grew in my mind as to whether, in view of the amazing diversity of opinion, the purpose of the eighteenth amendment would ever be served by the lapse of time. Notwithstanding my passive attitude, however, there was one question raised at the beginning of the prohibition controversy in regard to which I am still more or less curious. It is the question as to what is the nonintoxicating alcoholic limit of alcoholic beverages.

In the House, the Senate, and other inquiries now being, or which may hereafter be conducted, it will be astonishing if this matter is neglected—if no expert effort is made to fix the limit. The question as to whether every citizen shall be his own home brewer is hardly as important.

Plainly stated, the purpose of the eighteenth amendment is not necessarily to make this a bone dry, but to make it a temperate country. So the question boils down to this: When is a beverage intoxicating?

BENSON BATES.

"Involuntary Homicide" by a Motorist to Be Made a Crime—Jury to Judge of Negligence.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Senator Baumes and Assemblyman Esmond have introduced a bill in the New York Legislature which, if passed, will make the punishment of negligent and culpable automobile drivers easier. The purpose of the bill is to decrease the number of deaths caused by negligent drivers. It is asserted that grand juries fail to indict and trial juries fail to convict persons charged with killing others in this manner, because it is felt that the charge of manslaughter is too severe where no intent is shown.

The Baumes-Esmond bill will create a crime of involuntary homicide, the definition of which covers the operation or use of any vehicle in a culpably negligent manner resulting in the death of another person. Conviction carries a penalty of imprisonment for not to exceed five years, or a fine not to exceed $1,000, or both. The question of culpable negligence is left to the jury, and does not depend upon the rate of speed fixed by law for the operation of such vehicles.

If this bill should lead to cutting down the number of automobile deaths it may become the rule in other States and the District of Columbia. A. R. K.

Gasoline Makes Fruit Grow, by Putting It in Touch With Market.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: It is a matter of common knowledge that certain fertilizers tend to increase agricultural production when applied to given areas, but there are probably very few people who know that gasoline makes fruit grow. In Michigan there are areas that are prospering in the production of fruit that would be destitute of trees, bush, flowers or vines but for gasoline—the gasoline that drives the motor trucks to take the fruit to distant markets.

Before the days of the automobile the western Michigan fruit belt produced good fruit, but it is a wider fruit belt and a more productive and prosperous fruit belt now. One county alone produced $8,000,000 worth of fruit last season. Motor trucks loaded with the fruit went out of the State to points in Wisconsin, Illinois, Indiana and Ohio. The swift, sure, direct delivery of the motor truck made possible this extent of marketing facilities for the fruit growing region and thus made possible a business running into millions.

PETER RIBBER.

Bootleggers Have Customers on Capitol Hill, But They Are Merely Employes.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: At least one member of the United States Senate honestly suspects there is hypocrisy among the members of that body who vote one way and drink another. But Senator Brookhart's action in demanding that the Senate investigate itself to determine which senators—if any—are violating the prohibition laws by purchasing liquor from men of green hats or no hats at all, will strike most members as being a terrible mistake.

Bootleggers in and about the House and Senate Office Buildings have customers. Who could they be except the employes of members of Congress?

The idea that anything stronger than soda pop comes to the desk of senators and congressmen is far-fetched. Ask any member!

Envoys Feted By Hoovers at White House

Diplomatic Dinner Given With Dr. Velarde as New Dean.

By JEAN ELIOT.

HOSTS at the diplomatic dinner last night, the President and Mrs. Hoover welcomed Dr. Hernan Velarde, Ambassador of Peru, in the role of dean of the Diplomatic Corps. He had succeeded to the post but the day before with the departure of the British Ambassador, Sir Esme Howard, and is the first representative of a Latin-American nation to receive this coveted distinction.

With the diplomatic reception postponed sine die, because of the period of official mourning earlier in the season, the diplomatic dinner was the first occasion this season on which any of this group of foreign envoys have been entertained at the White House, if one excepts New Year Day, when the entire corps called in embassy and legation groups to pay its respects to the President. And the dinner itself was put off a week because the President and Mrs. Hoover were in Florida last Thursday when the original date rolled round.

However, the fete lost nothing of its brilliance by the change of date. It is always the most colorful of the State dinners, with many of the foreign ambassadors and ministers in court dress, practically all of them wearing decorations and with the ladies decked in their handsomest gowns and their most magnificent jewels.

So large is the number of nations now maintaining diplomatic establishments in Washington that it is necessary, when the missions' chiefs are entertained at dinner at the White House, to limit the other guests to a small and highly official group. Last night there were present, beside the guests of honor, only the Acting Secretary of State, Mr. Joseph P. Cotton; Miss Isabel Cotton, Representative Stephen G. Porter, chairman of the foreign affairs committee of the House, and the President's aids, Capt. Allen Buchanan and Col. Campbell Hodges. Senator William E. Borah, chairman of the foreign relations committee of the Senate, and Mrs. Borah had declined invitations because of mourning, Mrs. Borah having recently lost her mother.

There were a few absentees among the diplomatic guests, notably the Ambassador of Mexico and Senora de Tellez, and the Minister of Poland, Mr. Filipowicz, who have been in Mexico City attending the inauguration of President Rubio; the Minister of Denmark, Mr. Brun, and the Minister of Hungary and Countess Szechenyi, now abroad.

Nevertheless, the dinner company was far and away the largest which has yet attended any of the State dinners of the Hoover regime. The guests were seated about a horseshoe table decked with Columbia roses, pink snapdragons, sweet peas and gloriosum fern, used with the beautiful gold service for which the White House is famous and lit with tapers burning in tall candelabra.

For the musicale, which always follows state dinners, the company was augmented by other guests from the diplomatic and State Department groups. The program was presented by Mme. Hulda Lashanska, soprano, and Mr. Alexander Brailowsky, pianist, with Mr. Kurt Ruhrseitz as accompanist for Mme. Lashanska.

The other guests at the dinner were the Italian Ambassador and Donna Antoinetta de Martino, the Ambassador of Brazil, Senhor S. Gurgel do Amaral; the Ambassador of Spain and Senora de Padilla, the Ambassador of Cuba and Senora de Ferrara, the Ambassador of France and Mme. Claudel, the Ambassador of Chile and Senora de Davila, the Belgian Ambassador, Prince de Ligne; the Ambassador of Turkey, Ahmed Mouhtar Bey; the Ambassador of Germany and Frau von Prittwitz, the Ambassador of Japan and Mme. Debuchi.

Also the Minister of Portugal and Viscountess d'Alte, the Minister of Uruguay and Mme. Varela, the Minister of Switzerland and Mme. Peter, the Minister of Finland, Mr. Astrom; the Minister of Greece and Mme. Simopoulos, the Minister of Austria and Mme. Prochnik, the Minister of Bulgaria and Mme. Radeff, the Minister of Sweden and Mme. Bostrom, the Minister of Venezuela and Senora de Grisanti, the Minister of the Dominican Republic and Senora de Morales, the Minister of Albania, Mr. Konitza; the Minister of Persia, Mirza Davoud Khan Meftah, the Minister of Canada and Mrs. Massey, the Minister of the Netherlands and Mme. van Royen, the Minister of Norway and Mme. Bachke.

Also the Minister of Guatemala and Senora de Recinos, the Minister of Bolivia and Senora de Diez de Medina, the Minister of Costa Rica, Senor Quesada; the Minister of Lithuania, Mr. Balutis; the Minister of Czechoslovakia and Mme. Veverka, the Minister of the Irish Free State and Mrs. Michael MacWhite, the Minister of China and Mme. Wu, the Minister of Nicaragua and Senora de Saca, the Minister of Jugoslavia, Mr. Pitamic; the Siamese Minister, Prince Amoradat Kridakara; the Minister of Honduras and Senora de Argueta, the Minister of Ecuador and Senora de Viteri Lafronte, the Minister of South Africa and Mrs. Louw.

Also the Charge d'Affaires of Argentina and Senora de Enciso, the Charge d'Affaires of Mexico and Senora de Campos-Ortiz, the Charge d'Affaires of Great Britain, Mr. Ronald Campbell; the Charge d'Affaires of El Salvador and Senora de Leiva, the Charge d'Affaires of Haiti, Mr. Raoul Lizaire; the Charge d'Affaires of Paraguay and Senora de Ynsfran, the Charge d'Affaires of Egypt, Mr. Moursi; the Charge d'Affaires of Hungary and Mme. Pelenyi, the Charge d'Affaires of Colombia, Senor Coronado; the Charge d'Affaires of Poland, Mr. Victor Podoski.

Mrs. Mark Reid Yates gave a dinner last evening at her residence in Massachusetts avenue. Her guests were Maj. Gen. and Mrs. Henry T. Allen, Brig. Gen. and Mrs. George P. Scriven, Mrs. William Fitch Kelley, Mrs. Thomas H. Wilson, Senator Thomas J. Walsh, Senator Lawrence C. Phipps and Mr. Dysart McMullen.

Senator and Mrs. Allen To Entertain Students.

Senator and Mrs. Henry J. Allen will give a buffet supper on Saturday, March 1, for eight boys and girls from Kansas playing in the National High School Orchestra, which is appearing in concert at Constitution Hall that evening. Their other guests will be youthful Kansans who are at school in Washington.

Inspired by Mrs. Allen's example, many other senatorial hotesses are arranging parties for the young people from their States who are with the orchestra. Senator and Mrs. Charles S. Deneen and Senator and Mrs. Otis F. Glenn will fete the 35 boys and girls from Illinois, and the Indiana group, sixteen strong, will be entertained with Senator and Mrs. James Watson and Senator and Mrs. Arthur Robinson as hosts. Senator and Mrs. James Couzens and Senator and Mrs. Arthur H. Vandenberg expect to be joint hosts to the Michigan group. Miss Elizabeth Vandenberg, daughter of Senator and Mrs. Vandenberg, is soloist with the orchestra.

Midshipman W. C. Butler, jr., will spend the week-end at his home, 3917 Kansas avenue.

Col. Wade H. Cooper gave a dinner at his home on Massachussetts avenue last evening in compliment to Mrs. Augustus F. Blagden, of Greenwich, Conn., daughter of Mrs. Joseph E. Washington.

Others in the party were Mrs. Washington, Mrs. Thomas F. Walsh, Col. and Mrs. C. B. Drake, Miss Edith Yates, Representative Jere Cooper, Mr. James Jenkins, Mr. John Cabell Wilkinson, Mr. Archibald C. V. Wells, and Mrs. Alice B. Carrier. Mrs. Carrier acted as hostess for Col. Cooper.

Mrs. William Luther Croll, of London, who has been visiting her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Frederic Duncan McKenney, in their apartment at the Wardman Park Hotel, has gone to Denver, Colo., for a visit of several weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. McKenney have recently returned from a trip to New York.

Mrs. Robert W. Locke and Miss Irene Wilson will sail today on the Majestic to pass about six weeks in Europe. During her absence, Mrs. Locke has rented her apartment to Mr. and Mrs. van den Bosch, of Amsterdam, Holland, who are passing a few weeks in Washington.

Mrs. Dimock Plans Benefit Concert.

Women who have for years been active in support of a small orphanage and general hospital for Russian refugees, maintained at Sofia, Bulgaria, are sponsoring a concert to be held at the home of Mrs. Henry F. Naval Officer And Bay State Girl Are Wed

Lieut. Comdr. Lowe and Elizabeth Davis Are Married.

A wedding of interest to Washington was that of Miss Elizabeth Davis, of Newton, Mass., daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Simon Davis, to Lieut. Comdr. Frank Loper Lowe, United States Navy, now stationed in Washington. The ceremony took place yesterday afternoon in Grace Church, Newton, at 4 o'clock, the Rev. Dr. Laurens MacLure officiating.

The bride wore a gown of egg shell satin, trimmed with duchess and rose point lace and carried a shower bouquet of roses and lillies of the valley. Her veil of old Brussels lace had been worn by three other brides in the family.

Mrs. Helen Davis Phelps, sister of the bride, was the matron of honor and wore a gown of bois de rose lace with a hat of a darker shade. She carried Talisman roses. The two small nieces of the bride, Betty and Frances Phelps, were flower girls, wearing flowered voile dresses with poke bonnets of the same material and carrying baskets of rose leaves.

As the bride and bridegroom left the church they passed under an arch of crossed swords, Commander Lowe's attendants being in uniform and observing Navy ceremonial.

Lieut. Ralph A. Ofstie, United States Navy, acted as best man and the ushers were Lieut. Comdr Alexander McComb, United States Navy, of Washington; Lieut. Comdr. William K. Harrill, United States Navy, of Washington; Lieut. Comdr. Robert H. Maury, United States Navy, of Annapolis, Md.; Lieut. Comdr. John C. Lusk, United States Navy, of Annapolis, Md.; Lieut. Comdr. Lloyd J. Wiltse, United States Navy, of Boston, Mass., and Lieut. Comdr. Rollo W. Hutchinson, United States Navy, of Boston, Mass.

Following the ceremony there was a reception at the home of the bride after which Commander and Mrs. Lowe left for a wedding trip in Bermuda. They will be at home in Washington on their return.

SIX PLANES TO FLY IN EIELSON CORTEGE

BODY FOUND TUESDAY

Nome, Alaska, Feb. 20 (A.P.).—The finding of the body of Carl Ben Eielson, noted Arctic flier, near the wreckage of his airplane 90 miles southeast of North Cape, Siberia, has ended one of the greatest searches in the history of aviation, and plans were made here today to welcome an international air funeral procession to Alaska.

The body of Earl Borland, Eielson's mechanic, was found last Thursday near the wreckage of the plane which was located January 25 by Pilots Joe Crosson and Harold Gillam. Eielson's body was found Tuesday.

Eielson and Borland disappeared November 9 last while on a projected flight from Alaska to the icebound fur trading ship Nanuk, near North Cape, to bring passengers and furs to Alaska.

The air funeral procession will bring the bodies of Eielson and Borland to Nome on a 500-mile flight from North Cape across sub-Arctic wastes.

The bodies must first be transported from the wrecked plane to the Nanuk. Alfred Lomen, who directed rescue operations with headquarters here, has asked the American pilots Crosson, Gillam and Ed Young, and the Canadian, Pat Reid, to return together. The Russian aviators, Slipenov and Gladysnev are expected to bring the total planes engaged to six.

(Associated Press.)

Dan A. Sutherland, congressional delegate from Alaska, announced yesterday that the State Department had approved a request that Russian aviators be permitted to escort the bodies of the aviators, Carl Ben Eielson and Earl Borland, from the spot in Siberia where they were bound to Fairbanks, Alaska.

Sutherland took to the State Department a request from Mayor de la Vergne of Fairbanks, Alaska, that Commander Slitonov and his mechanic of the Russian Junker plane be permitted to escort the American aviators from Siberia, where their bodies were discovered. He said the department had given its "unqualified approval." America has never recognized the Soviet government, and therefore the permission was deemed necessary.

Rheumatism

"The pains of rheumatism are gone. Five weeks of Mountain Valley Mineral Water brought me relief," reads a recent letter. Take hope, rheumatic sufferer—this famous mineral water, for 75 years the prescribed water at Hot Springs, Arkansas, should do for you what it has done for thousands of others. Physiologically balanced, its action is natural, scientific—it helps Nature to neutralize the irritating uric acid by inducing elimination through the kidneys, tends to prevent the accumulation of trouble-making toxins and waste products of digestion. BETTER THAN A MUSTARD PLASTER

Fifth Ave. Fashions NEW YORK

A FAVORITE sports model for the little miss of 8, 10, 12 and 14 years, who so much likes to imitate the grown-up vogue.

It employs tweed in new light weight in yellow beige and brown coloring with the trim of plain matching shade of yellow beige woolen.

The buttons down the front are in the brown shade.

It just pretends to be a tuck-in through belt that nips the normal waistline and creates slight blousing above.

The smart straight skirt has a circular inset at center-front to give necessary fullness to hem, and displays popular diagonal seaming that gives it tailored air.

Style No. 8160 takes but 2 yards of 35-inch material with ½ yard of 35-inch contrasting for the miss of 8 years.

Wool jersey in Hunter's green, covert cloth in cocoa brown with natural shade linen collar and cuffs and brown leather belt and gypsy red tweed with plain blending shade, plain woolen collar and cuffs, smart.

All patterns of Lucille Lorraine styles are 15 cents each. Mail your order to our Fashion Department, Washington Post, 259 Fifth avenue, New York City. Be sure to write your name and address clearly and give the number and size of the pattern.

CHICAGO EMPLOYES' PAY DAY DRAWS NEAR

Citizens Call on Big Taxpayers to Contribute to Pool to Aid City.

$50,000,000 NOW NEEDED

Chicago, Feb. 20 (A.P.).—Some 43,000 public employes tonight experienced that feeling which comes only on the eve of payday as Chicago began converting words into cash to relieve the city's financial embarrassment.

Silas H. Strawn, chairman of the citizens' rescue committee, said he expected to have $50,000,000 pledged by taxpayers by tomorrow. City and county officials added the cheerful word that checks would follow within 24 hours.

Some bankers of the citizens committee were skeptical of the promise, pointing out that the mechanics of organizing the pool and collecting the money would be more than a one-day task. It appeared certain, however, that every public employe would be paid up to February 15 by Tuesday at the latest.

Subscription blanks, asking contributions to the pool, were distributed among large taxpayers today. They carried the promise that no money would be collected until the full $50,000,000 had been pledged.

The pool as a means of rescuing the various governments of Cook County from the financial situation in which they have floundered since December grew out of a meeting of taxpayers yesterday. Many of the large taxpayers have money on deposit waiting for 1928 and 1929 tax bills which can not be sent out until June.

Under the plan the money will be used to buy tax-anticipation warrants through the "Cook County taxpayers' warrant fund," which will act as a holding company.

A special committee to designate how the money shall be distributed to the various governments includes Silas H. Strawn, Lewis E. Myers, Robert F. Carr, George O. Fairweather and Rufus Dawes.

Boy Burglar, 13, Had $25,000 Loot

Mother and Man Are Held When Youth Involves Them as Fagins.

Chicago, Feb. 20 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—A boy burglar of 13, who under the alleged tutelage of his mother and her lover made a huge success of housebreaking, turned up in the Chicago Avenue Police Court this morning. He is Harry Straus, who was captured as he broke into 61 Cedar street, on the Gold Coast.

At his home plunder estimated at $25,000 value was found. His mother, Mrs. Helen Joiner, 38, and Gus Webber were arrested. Webber was wearing a $500 diamond that the boy is said to have taken from a house at 9 Emerson street. Pawn tickets for $700 in furs and other goods were found.

"I stole all this stuff," said the boy. "Webber picked out the places I was to break into. I had a jimmy, chisel and knife to turn off window catches in my pocket. I did not carry a gun, but I was shot at often. Webber and my mother sold the things. I'm tired of this business." All were held to the Criminal Court.

MARY BAKER EDDY

Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science

By SIBYL WILBUR

An Authentic Biography

Mrs. Eddy's life is here depicted with illuminating clearness. The author, carefully avoiding invention, has presented the facts in a refreshing manner. Miss Wilbur was not a Christian Scientist when she wrote this biography for publication in a magazine of general circulation.

Man Burned in Lighting Furnace.

While lighting a fire in a furnace at the Holy Name School, West Virginia avenue, near Florida avenue northeast, yesterday morning, Michael Considine, 69 years old, of Eleventh and K streets northeast, suffered slight burns about the arms and body. He was treated at Casualty Hospital.

Little Change Reported In Condition of Taft

(Associated Press.)

William Howard Taft remained an ill man last night but without any change in his condition to cause his physicians to increase their vigilance.

Dr. Francis R. Hagner, who is attending him, said there was nothing to report. Mr. Taft is yet unable to receive visitors but has been allowed to sit up a little while each day.

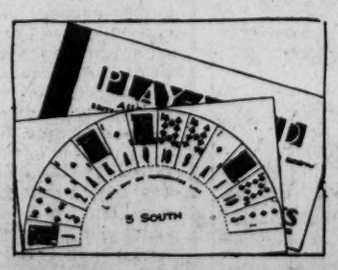
75c Complete

For the education and amusement of bridge fans and fanatics, beginners and advanced players—these practice hands with sealed instructions for bidding and playing the hands by Mr. Work, one of the foremost authorities. Six different hands, auction or contract.



Description and instructions: The four hands come in attractive little booklets along with the sealed instructions by Mr. Work. The hands are first bid. Then the first seal is broken, disclosing the proper bid. The hands are then played according to this bid. Then the second seal is broken giving Mr. Work's instructions for playing the hand. The miniature cards in the booklets may be replaced after playing.

I. MILLER BEAUTIFUL SHOES AVAILABLE IN TWO SHOPPING CENTERS

. . and your convenience alone will determine WHICH shop is YOURS!

IF YOU have any difficulty at all, it is going to be in deciding just which ones of the I. Miller Beautiful shoes must belong to you. For quite obviously, you haven't feet enough to wear all of them. And when it comes to say... "I'll take these — and these — and these —" you're going to find that dozens and dozens of other lovely slippers are going to be dreadfully disappointed. Each dainty pair is so eager. So beautifully hopeful. So touchingly confident that of all the bright array, they and they alone can make your feet so proudly happy . . . . So it's really a duty, you see—to come in the very next time you have a moment to spare and begin, at least, the gravely serious problem of selecting the shoes that express the YOU that friends adore.

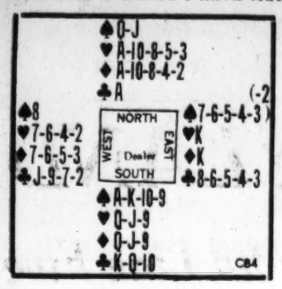
INTERESTING HANDS I HAVE MET.



THE BIDDING.

Today's hand is one of the most remarkable ever dealt or played. It occurred years ago and South was the Declarer, playing a one No Trump contract.

If the hand had been dealt in a modern Contract game, South would have bid two No Trumps; North, with a count of 15, five honors, two promising five-card suits and strength in the other two, would have jumped to at least five; and if five, South would have ventured a small slam.

THE PLAY.

In the play, West led the Deuce of Clubs, which North's single Ace captured. The Declarer now could see that but one successful finesse was needed to ensure an Auction Grand Slam; he put South in by overtaking dummy's Spade Queen with South's King, with the intention of following with a finesse in either Hearts or Diamonds. The fall of the Eight of Spades from the West hand meant no more Spades for West, unless the Eight was a false-card. To find out about that, South led the Ace of Spades to trick 3 and West discarded —which gave South a chance to do some valuable reasoning.

As West had led a Deuce, his Clubs must be a four-card suit and he could not have a longer suit; as he held a singleton Spade, he must have had exactly four cards in each of the other suits.

West's top Club could not be higher than Jack and as presumably he had opened his best suit, he can not hold either red King, and East must hold both. Declarer in his two hands has eight Hearts and eight Diamonds; West has just four of each; consequently East has one of each. In other words, East has the two red Kings, both singletons.

The grand slam, therefore, is a cinch; as a matter of fact, Declarer has seventeen winners. With three tricks home and two winning Spades plus two winning Clubs, Declarer also is sure of ten more red tricks by the simple device of playing the Aces on the first rounds of those suits, being careful to unblock by playing South's Queen-Jacks on the first two rounds of their respective suits.

Of course, with one red King dropped, the four Spades and Club winners in closed hand would enable dummy to discard four of the other red suit; it was a case which our Parisian friends would call embarras de richesses.

BRIDGERS, ATTENTION!

Because of space limitations, the answers given in our great Milton C. Work Home Bridge Contest, which ended recently, are necessarily abridged, but in order to satisfy intense interest in the Questions and Answers, Mr. Work has prepared a splendid 48-page booklet, entitled "Playing Problems," which reproduces the eighteen hands, the complete auction and contract bidding, with the reasons for each bid, the answers to every question and the reasons for such answers in complete detail, all written in Mr. Work's clear and interesting style.

This booklet, "Playing Problems," which will be of much greater value to the auction and contract player than many high priced textbooks, is not for sale. It has been prepared exclusively for readers of this newspaper by special arrangement with Mr. Work. One copy will be mailed to you upon request if you send self-addressed stamped return envelope, together with 6 cents in stamps to defray part of the cost of printing and handling this 48-page booklet. Requests not complying with these conditions will be ignored.

Paris, Feb. 20.

"FUR trimming for winter is for usefulness as well as decoration, whereas fur trimming for summer is for decoration only. Therefore summer fur trimming has to be handled with an eye to both effectiveness by way of good trimming and coolness by way of wear.

Likewise, and what is more important, it has not only to be cool, but give an appearance of coolness to the eye. There's a nice juicy problem for you!

Just tucked and well cut and well made, as are all Drecoll-Beer things, this green crepe afternoon dress, with its refreshing touch of white, greatly intrigued me. And now I just dare any one to write and tell me that the things I sketch are lovely but impractical—could there be a lovelier yet more practical dress imagined than this one for business or shopping or—well, I'll leave it to you to just figure out all the different times and places to wear "practical" things, and ask you if you find one that dress would be too impractical for!

* * * *

A white evening dress worn with a short green wrap, very vivid—and shoes of the same green! And it wasn't bad, either. S'pos'n the lovely lady wanted to wear a white wrap with this same dress and shoes, and long gloves, which matched the shoes —would we let her? You just bet we would!

The Couturiers.

Our favorite French shoes are made by Pinet. And, as you should know by this time, if you are an ardent Dah-ray fan, it is pronounced "pee-nay," with neither syllable accented more than the other.

Petite Adorable's new spring outfit is just the cleverest thing you ever saw—if I have to say so myself, who designed it! But you see, I did spend really a lot of time figuring it out, because being so awfully busy these days, it's been somewhat disconcerting to see the way she grew out of her clothes seemingly overnight. This is a complete outfit, which is going to cover every occasion she could possibly encounter in her school life during the spring and summer, and then it's going to be used next year as well—taking advanatge of the ingenious ideas I have figured out for letting it down, up and out.

If you have a little girl in your family, I hope you will send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post for the illustrated leaflet, which will tell you just how to make this ensemble for her, because I know that you are going to be as pleased with it as I am.

Wives of Tomorrow

"Good Will Courts."

BROOKLYN, city of homes and bright ideas, has "sprung a new one." It is the good will court and it is doing a thriving business. It seems that Judge Nathan Sweedler, who uses his head, had noticed that the courts were overburdened with litigations that could have easily been settled out of court, if anyone had been interested enough to act as arbiter.

Judge Sweedler watched particularly husbands and wives who came into court, started action, and then cooled off enough to regret it. But meanwhile they had cost the taxpayers money by coming into court at all, and they had held up the calendar while they were deciding to kiss and make up. So one day his honor had one of the real inspirations of his life. He was probably listening to some boring young attorney's opening address to the jury, when he suddenly decided that there should be a lay court where people could come and submit their case before any real legal machinery was set in motion. No sooner said than done! The judge himself started the court, asking his friends to act as arbiters or lay judges, and best of all its sessions are at night so husbands do not have to lose a day's pay to appear and defend themselves against an irate wife's accusations.

The routine is like this. Three outstanding members of the community volunteer as the three for each session. A Catholic, a Protestant and a Jew. Before the three the litigants lay their case. The wife cites her grievance. The husband states his side. The three good will ambassadors talk them into a sane frame of mind, advise them, question them, chat with them. In half an hour these three disinterested and broadly experienced people have ironed out the wrinkles, calmed excitability, shown the difficulties of separate maintenance, the hardship of alimony, the need of a home and parents for children and they have brought a warring, dissatisfied couple out of their maze of stubborn misunderstanding and into the light of reason and good will.

The court handles sometimes 40 cases in a single night, there being at such times several groups of "judges" sitting, with Judge Sweedler himself always on hand as grand arbiter. It is really a marvelous public service, costs the litigants nothing, gives them the benefit of sound advice and saves the real courts and hence the poor taxpayers thousands of dollars a night! Incidentally the worried, the ignorant, the poor, are assisted in their difficulties and shown the better way of solving the little problems that to them seem so big. Mother who can not get her husband to provide for the family lays her case before the "judges," two lawyers and a woman newspaper writer. The husband has for years told her there was nothing she could do about it. Now he hears from the lips of a lawyer just what can be done to a man who refuses to support minor children. He agrees sheepishly to go to work on his wife's promise not to go further with the case. They are complimented on their good-looking children, and go out feeling better than they have for years. Just the big brother idea, again the strong of the community helping the weakling and sparing the taxpayers.

It's one great idea and we commend it to other cities, for it works.

WEAR OUT OR RUST OUT?

SEVERAL years ago a magazine provoked a controversy as to whether it was better to wear out or rust out. Assuming that every man was headed for an out, would the process be delayed or made less painful if the rust route were chosen or did the wear route offer more? They began with a dissertation of the theme written by Dr. Woods Hutchinson. They followed by a stimulated Vox Pop.

Some hundreds of elderly people of great repute, and considered fairly truthful, were asked which route they were taking and why. About 100 replies were tabulated and published. It was noticeable that almost without exception the writers of these letters professed to be in favor of wearing out, though many of them wrote from vacation lands and flowery beds of ease. In spite of the great reputation for veracity of these gentlemen, most people knew that what they wrote was—well, a pose.

Probably Mr. John D. Rockefeller did not write, but the newspaper accounts of his plan of life indicate that he thinks an old man at least should rust out. Whatever others may say or do to order their lives he paddles his own canoe serenely. He has passed his ninetieth year and he seems to want one hundred, and what he wants he has generally been able to get.

When winter approaches he makes a comfortable trip to a warm climate. He does not risk pneumonia by hanging back too long. When he arrives in a warm climate he proceeds to get into the sunlight and open air. A writer on the Alps as a winter resort complained that most of the people who traveled to those mountains for the winter cure immediately joined the hot stove league.

They stick indoors around the fire all day long, getting the mountain effects by looking out the windows. Not so John D. He goes to Florida for the climate and it is a part of his nature to get what he pays for. He plays golf whenever it is good judgment to do so. Not nine holes, nor eighteen, nor does he play violently, rapidly, or competitively. Emotional indulgence is work, even the emotional indulgence of competitive golf, and that is not part of the rust out plan which he is following.

When the winter is over he journeys comfortably back to the mountains. There he remains quietly during the warm season, staying in the open, breathing clean, wholesome air, and away from noise. The amount of exercise he takes daily is said to be just what he needs to keep up his muscle tone and to keep his organs functioning properly. Whatever others may say, he appears to be proving that the best policy for an old man is to rust out.

HOW TO LOSE WEIGHT.

V. S. writes:

1. How many pounds should I weigh? I am 21 years old, 5 feet 5 inches tall.

2. Is there any way I would be able to lose a little weight? I have tried diets, but they do not seem to do me any good.

3. I would also like to know if drinking a glass of water during and after meals can add to a person's weight.

4. I have a bad habit of drinking a glass of water after I have finished my meals.

5. I understand that lemon juice is bad for one, although I have been taking a glass of it now and then.

REPLY.

1. About 131 pounds.

2. You should be able to reduce your weight by dieting. But you will fail unless you diet with intelligence, persistence and in good faith. Ninety-nine per cent of those who say they diet are merely bunking themselves.

3. No.

4. It is a good habit. Keep it up.

5. Lemon juice is not bad for you.

POP SAYS AMERICA IS COMING TO ITS CENSUS AGAIN THIS YEAR.

What Today Means to You

"PISCES."

IF February 21 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10:30 a. m. to 11:30 a. m., and from 5 p. m. to 6:30 p. m. The danger periods are from 8 a. m. to 9 a. m., and from 11 p. m. to midnight.

Astrologically, this is not indicated to be an important date. There will be uncertainty of purpose, and little accomplished. Business difficulties may crop up, about which there is no need to worry.

Children born on this February 21 will display violent fits of passion and will have to be taught self-control. They will be easily influenced and their companions should be chosen with care. They will become ready talkers.

You have an irresistible personality, a great sense of humor, indomitable pluck, abundant energy, and are very human. You spend very little time worrying about yourself, but you do worry about other people. If the world were a hive and its people bees, you would be one of the worker-bees. It may be said that you are always busy, at least your mind during your waking hours is never idle; one can never accuse you of "just sitting." You are a tiger for work, and although you are sympathetic by nature, you have little patience with human drones.

You can see the funny side in most things, and most people, including yourself. You have a hearty laugh, the real thing, not a stage imitation. You are usually charming to everybody, and you are extremely charitable about other people. You are straight as a die, and simple in the best sense of the word.

You look others straight in the face, and others know straightaway that you can be trusted. You are both respected and loved, and you will always be surrounded by friends. You are a positive person, and a clever person, and are also a good person. There is nothing sanctimonious about you or a holier-than-thou manner. In every sense of the word you are a most decent citizen of your country.

Successful People Born February 21:

4—George L. Tracy—composer.

COTTAGE-CHEESE SALAD.
(U. S. Department of Agriculture.)

Cottage cheese lends itself especially well to salads. If enough is used the salad may serve as the main dish of the meal. French, mayonnaise or boiled dressings go well with cheese salad. The cheese may be formed into balls or slices; it may be molded in tiny cups of passed through a pastry tube.

Variations — Foods that combine well with cottage cheese in salads are crisp, fresh vegetables; cooked or canned vegetables; fresh, dried, canned or preserved fruits; nuts, olivies, rice, potatoes. With the last two some highly flavored and bright garnish, like pimentos or green peppers, should be used; and celery, cucumbers, green peppers, crisp lettuce, or cabbage should be used to add succulence.

"Angel of Broadway" Will Marry Club Man

San Francisco, Calif., Feb. 20 (A. P.).—Rheba Crawford, known as the "Angel of Broadway" for her work with the Salvation Army in 1922 in New York, applied today with Raymond B. Splivalo, San Francisco clubman, for a marriage license.

Queen Marie in Turkey Today.

Istanbul, Turkey, Feb. 20 (A.P.).—Queen Marie and Princess Ileana of Roumania, en route to Egypt, will arrive at Constantinople tomorrow and visit Dr. and Mrs. George Huntington, professors at Robert College, and Mrs. Theron Damon, of Boston. Queen Marie is interested in Robert College, from which many Roumanians have been graduated, and always visits it when she comes to this city.

IN THE PLAYHOUSE

By JOHN J. DALY

GEORGE BERNARD SHAW'S latest play, "The Apple Cart," is having its American premiere this week in Baltimore. All the Washington play reviewers have had a look at it. The general run of theatergoers will not see the play in Washington until next season. Then the Theater Guild plans to bring it here—to the National.

* * * *

Just whether this is a play or a preachment is a mooted question in some quarters. Whatever it is, "The Apple Cart" is exceedingly interesting —and one of the finest productions the Theater Guild ever sponsored. Its first act lasts 1 hour and 40 minutes. Yet so intense is the interest not a sound is heard in the theater save the voices of the actors. Tom Towers, playing a King of England, has a speech that lasts fully five minutes, and in this time not a cough is heard in a carload of propaganda, which seems to be quite a testimonial, either for Mr. Powers or Mr. Shaw.

* * * *

George Parsons, from East Falls Church, writes to call attention to a young Washington girl—Miss Jeanne Densmore—who is appearing this week with Mitzi in "Sari," at the National. Miss Densmore is the daughter of a former high official in the Wilson administration and has won honors in theaterdom. A graduate of the Tchernikoff-Gardiner Ballet School of Washington, Miss Densmore also studied in New York and Paris. Those who have seen her this week claim she is the best ballet dancer Washington possesses.

* * * *

Channing Pollock, the playwright, who held down this dramatic desk in the long years ago, came to his old haunts yesterday afternoon; but, just as hard luck would have it, I was out. However, the first assistant lord of the admiralty did the honors. "What did you do?" I asked of him. "I did, sir, what you would have me do," he said, "I stood up—in the presence of genius." Certainly Channing Pollock deserves this tribute.

* * * *

'Twas a great day. Mr. Robert Downing, the Washington actor, who trouped the country years ago in "The Gladiator," playing the role of Spartacus, also paid a visit—bringing along Mrs. Downing. After that came word that Flo Ziegfeld is on his way to Washington, coming up from Palm Beach to see the opening here of "Show Boat," on Monday next. Then Mr. Lloyd Griffin, the eminent telephone official, phoned from Richmond saying he was "throwing a party" in the National next week, and how far down could they sit?—what with a sell-out already, at the mere mention of "Show Boat." It all goes to show these be busy days on the banks of the Potomac.

* * * *

Mr. Wallace Munro telegraphs from Pittsburgh that he will be back to town next week heralding the advance of "Babes in Toyland," another Victor Herbert operetta, scheduled to take over Poli's as soon as "The Fortune Teller" quits. Just to make it more difficult for the cast, there will be three performances of "Babes in Toyland" when the last day of its local run rolls around—a special performance at 10:30 Saturday morning for children, the usual matinee in the afternoon and the farewell fling at night. This is the week following Miss Ethel Barrymore's regime in "The Love Duel." She arrives here Monday night next.

DUKE QUINTET AGAIN TRIUMPHS OVER MARYLAND

Mehlhorn Is Seventh With 70 After Ace on Third Hole.

By DILLON L. GRAHAM.

SAVANNAH, GA., Feb. 20 (A.P.).—Blazing a par-shattering trail in his first tournament play of the year, Bobby Jones, of Atlanta, national open champion, shot a 67 here today to lead the field of 90 starters at the end of the first round of the 72-hole $3,000 open golf tournament. Jones' mark was 7 under par figures.

The Atlanta lawyer-golfer thrilled a gallery of several hundred as he stroked his way around the outward nine in 32, 4 under par, and came back in 35, collecting nine birdies on the round.

Bobby's Drives Long And Straight.

Bobby's drives were long and straight and his approach shots were accurate, but his putting was not up to the usual Jones standard. "Calamity Jane," known throughout the golfing world as Jones' putter, needed three strokes on one green before the ball could find the cup.

A single stroke behind the leader were Emmett French, of Southern Pines, N. C., and Jeff Adams, Scotch professional at the local club.

Cards of 69 placed Bobby Cruickshank, of Purchase, N. Y.; Clem Weichman, of Portsmouth, Ohio, and Fairley Clark, Savannah professional, in a tie for fourth place.

"Wild Bill" Mehlhorn, of Pensacola, Fla., who scored an ace on third hole of the outward journey, finished the round in seventh place with a 70. His hole-in-one allowed him to finish the first nine in 33, but par figures of 37 was the best he could do on the home nine.

Augusta Newcomer Is Sensation.

Morton Smith, the links wizard from Detroit, Mich., formerly of Joplin, Mo., ingwed a card of 35—36—71.

Jamesnest Ryall, of Augusta, a comparative unknown, furnished the main sensation of the outward nine, when he posted a card of 31 and breaking par course record. However, the "Wing Augusta shot maker blew up on the home nine, shooting a 40 for an unsound of 71.

Hilltop Gridmen Volunteer To Fill In for Navy Bouts

Donaldson, Dubofsky Would Fight Without Experience.

CAPT. CHARLEY FISH.

GEORGETOWN is making desperate efforts to enter a heavyweight against Navy tomorrow night in the much talked-of boxing match at Annapolis.

When Sam Cordovano announced that he would depart Sunday for New York to begin assisting in the spring coaching of Columbias football team, the Georgetown ringmen lost their star heavyweight. Sam received a deep cut last Monday night in a bout with Washington and Lee and has decided to stay out of tomorrow night's match in order to allow the wound to heal before he reports at Columbia.

Forfeit May Be Avoided.

This brought fears that Georgetown would have to forfeit the heavyweight bout, but it seems now that a forfeiture may be avoided.

Volunteering to fill in for Cordovano, two sophomore members of the 1929 Hilltop football team—Don Donaldson and Maurice "Mush" Dubofsky—have been training assiduously for the past two days. This afternoon at the Jewish Community Center, where they are going through drills, it will be determined whether one of them is capable of entering the ring in a regulation bout.

Dubofsky, a 200-pounder, who rendered fine service in football as a substitute guard, is entirely lacking in boxing experience, but he is said to possess a real wallop. Donaldson, who weighs about 180, got some experience last spring in the Georgetown intramural tournament in which he was the heavyweight runner-up.

The Navy match is practically the sole topic of discussion among Georgetown athletic fans. Coming close after the defeat of the Hilltop basket ball team at Annapolis, tomorrow night's affair will find the Blue and Gray boxers in a vengeful mood.

In addition to revenge for the defeat of the basket ball team, the Georgetown mitt wielders want to gain the distinction of being the team to break Navy's ten-year undefeated record in dual ring meets.

Capt. Charley Fish, of Georgetown, has many supporters who are confident he will beat the Navy welterweight, Hall. Last winter Fish outpointed Hall for the intercollegiate welterweight championship at State College, Pa. With Fish trying to make it two wins in a row and Hall endeavoring to even matters, their bout should develop into one of the hardest fought of the program.

Another, and which probably will present some terrific punching, will be the mix-up between Buddy Bordeau, Georgetown knockout specialist, and Swan, the hardest hitter among the Tars. These two are lightheavyweights.

Pugilism's Swankiest Affair Success Despite No Slugging.

PALM BEACH, Fla., Feb. 20 (A.P.).—Society in the ultraexclusive Oasis Club of Palm Beach took to the ballyhoo for the Scott-Sharkey fight today in a very big way.

The folks of wealth and fashion, smartly gowned society women and bankers, magnates and politicians, sat in the arbored recesses of the club's patio while Phil Scott, the British heavyweight champion, and Tommy Loughran, the former American light-heavyweight title holder, contributed their part to an elaborate fistic program in a ring pitched beneath a grove of royal palms.

Swankiest Affair For Pugilism.

It was quite the swankiest affair that professional pugilism has had anything to do with in many a moon; the first time that the boys who have their records in the boxing guide have enjoyed the sensation of doing their stuff for the exclusive benefit of the people whose names fill the social register. Invitation to the "boxing tea"—for the cups clinked with the glasses—was by invitation only. Flunkies in livery that might have done credit to a troop of grenadier guards barred the way to would-be "gate crashers."

There were more than 400 guests for the occasion, exclusive of the curious who climbed the palm trees to view the proceedings from the outside.

Loughran, the Philadelphia Adonis, who has been taken up by the social set in his training for a part in the fight show at Miami February 27, started the activities with a brisk sparring session, but the ceremony was made of Scott's part in the program.

Is Introduced by Sir Oliver Duncan.

Pale and lanky Phil was introduced with a flourish as a "great champion" by Sir Oliver Duncan, British oil man. In a workout of seven rounds against four sparring partners, Jack Demave, Jack Renault, Billy Middlekauff and Charley Hahn, the Britisher was scanned with expert eyes by the society folk who have made boxing one of their favorite hobbies during the winter season.

At the ringside, for instance, was Edward F. Hutton, the New York broker, who maintains a "stable" of boxers in Palm Beach on a philanthropic basis; James H. R. Cromwell, who boxes regularly and will take on Tommy Loughran in an exhibition this Saturday; John J. Raskob and Mayor Frank Hague of Jersey City; Mrs. Irving Hall Chase and Miss Marjorie Oelrichs; Police Commissioner Grover A. Whalen of New York, and Father Francis P. Duffy, Mrs. Jules Mastbaum and Mrs. Charles A. Amory.

Scott was cordially received by this critical gathering. Phil did a lot of left jabbing but these people like their solid wallops on the chin and knockouts. They became much more aroused by the furious pace of several real fights that interspersed the program.

Racquet Champion Eliminated in Tourney

Boston, Feb. 20 (A.P.).—Huntington D. Sheldon, of New York, the defending champion in the national racquets title tournament, today was eliminated by Stanley G. Mortimer, of Tuxedo, N. Y., in a thrilling quarter finals match by scores of 15—10, 15—5, 6—15, 10—15, 16—14.

The 1929 title holder, though fifteen years younger than his opponent, who has held the title three times, was run ragged during the long match, and his unstroking cost him valuable points at crucial stages.

Hewitt Morgan, of New York, the national court tennis titlist, overcame Lord Aberdare, considered the best player on the English Racquets Team, by scores of 11—15, 17—14, 15—4, 16—18 and 15—13.

Old Line Five Dealt 39-24 Beating

Special to The Washington Post.

Durham, N. C., Feb. 20.—The Duke University Basket Ball Team added to its laurels tonight by dealing the Maryland University Quintet a decisive 39-24 defeat.

Maryland was an early-season victim of the Duke Quintet, which is a favorite to win the Southern Conference which the Blue Devils failed to attain ence tournament at Atlanta, a goal last year after reaching the finals in which they were beaten by North Carolina State.

The previous Duke-Maryland game, played at College Park, resulted in a 28-27 victory for the Blue Devils in a thrilling encounter.

The Duke-Maryland rivalry is further intensified by the presence in the Maryland line-up of four former Washington, D. C., high school stars. Maryland, too, draws the bulk of its players from the Washington schools. Werber, Councilor, Croson and Garber, of the Duke Quintet, opposed Evans, Radice, Berger, Rooney and Heagy when the latter were starring for Capital school quintets.

Duke's only defeat this season was suffered at the hands of the sensational Washington and Lee Quintet—by 4 points, on Duke's home floor—but the Blue Devils atoned for this set-back last night when they beat the Generals, 29 to 26.

Two Young Pitchers Are Signed by Nats

Two young pitchers have been signed by the Washington Baseball Club, it was reported here by club officials. Paul Daugert, a semipro player of Jersey City, has been signed on the recommendation of Tom Downey, an old Cincinnati player, who has been tutoring the lad. Francis Bordner, undefeated pitcher of the Waterloo, N. Y., High School, is the other newcomer to the Nat fold. Daugert will report at Biloxii next week. Bordner will report in June after completing his school career.

4 Women Accpet Golf Matches With British

New York, Feb. 20 (A.P.).—Four of the leading women golfers of the United States have accepted the invitation of Glenna Collett to accompany her on an invasion of Great Britain this summer for the first women's international team match in history, she announced today. Miss Collett recently announced her plans for the formation of the team, of which she will be captain.

The four tentative acceptances have come from Maureen Orcutt, of Englewood, N. J., finalist in the national women's championships in 1927, Helen Hicks, of Hewlett, N. Y., the young star who is Miss Orcutt's leading rival in the metropolitan district; Bernice Wall, of Oshkosh, Wis., and Mrs. Dorothy Campbell Hurd, of Philadelphia, who won the British ladies' title when she was a British subject, as well as capturing the United States title three times.

COLORED ACE OPPOSES LATZO

Larry Johnson, Hard Hitter, Fights Ex-Champ Tonight.

NEW YORK, Feb. 20 (A.P.).—A moderate number of the fight faithful are planning on a brief trip to Madison Square Garden tomorrow night for the feature ten-round bout between Larry Johnson, Chicago Negro, and Pete Latzo, former welterweight champion, whose penchant for thick steaks has made him a light-heavyweight.

In three previous appearances in the big battle pit, Johnson has not detained the customers long. A tremendous right-hand puncher, the finely modeled Negro knocked out Leo Mitchell, one of Jack Kearn's gladiators, in two rounds; belted out Joe Sekyra, the Dayton blonde, in a fraction of a round, and finished Freddy Lenhart, of Spokane, Wash., in six. Larry is a stablemate of another husky puncher, Tuffy Griffiths.

Latzo's Judgment Questioned.

Critics who never have questioned Latzo's gameness are doubtful of Pete's good judgment in tackling such a husky hitter so early in a comeback campaign that follows a long layoff due to a broken jaw. Jimmy Braddock, another right-hand socker, fractured Pete's jaw with one swipe over a year ago. Since the bones mended, Latzo has boxed twice, winning once and losing one decision.

As an added incentive to the battlers, the winner will oppose Maxey Rosenbloom in the Garden March 10. Busy Maxey must win that match or forfeit his right to tackle Jimmy Slattery, recognized here as light heavyweight champion, in a 15-round title test in Buffalo.

WHIRLWINDS SCORE OVER POTOMAC

THE Walters Whirlwinds last night upset the championship aspirations of the Potomac Boat Club Five in the unlimited division of the Community Center League by recording a surprising 20-to-17 decision over the Boatmen, inflicting the first defeat of the campaign on the latter. The defeat dropped the Boatmen into a tie for the title, and a three-game play-off with the Woltz Photographers is planned to start next week. The victory gave the Whirlwinds possession of third place.

Led by Harry Wiltshire, the inspirational captain of the team, the Whirlwinds swept into an early lead and kept the previously effective guns of the opposing marksmen in submission throughout. Only four goals were registered from the floor by the Boatmen, and but seven were recorded by the winners.

The victors were off to a flying start, piling up an 11 to 5 in the first half. The Boatmen, who had won eight games in the league without a defeat, made a sensational spurt in the third quarter which threatened to carry them to the title undefeated, but the dominating figure of Wiltshire took command of the situation and the ultimate victors again dropped behind, never to recover.

Potomacs Tie Score In Third Period.

Potomac tied the count at 13-13 in the third period and Wiltshire shot the goal that put the Whirlwinds on top. Late in the final period, when the Boatmen came within a point of the victors, Cody Shapiro tossed the basket which clinched the verdict.

Plans for the play-off series between the Woltz and Potomac teams will be drafted by the managers of the rival teams and Winfree Johnson of the Community Center Department immediately. It is probable that the first game will be played at Tech High next week.

COLLEGE BASKET BALL

CANADA ACE WINS OVER SIMPSON

TORONTO, Feb. 20 (A.P.).—George Simpson, Ohio State sprinter, was beaten in the finals of the 60-meter dash by Leigh Miller, Hamilton speedster, with Johnny Fitzpatrick, of Toronto, third. In the Canadian indoor track and field championships, Simpson won his first heat of the 60-meter dash, beating out T. Ritchie, of Toronto.

Simpson won his semifinal heat of the 60 meters from W. Robinson, of Hamilton, but Bowman was shut out by the Canadians, Miller and Dud Powell, of Toronto. Fitzpatrick and Len Plummer, of Toronto, ran one-two in the third semifinal to qualify for the final.

Dr. Martin in Victory.

Dr. Paul Martin, of Switzerland, won the 1,000-meter run. P. Suttier, of Toronto, was second, some 10 yards behind the flying Swiss, and W. Johnston, of St. Catharines, third. The time was 2:34 4-5.

Stella Walsh, sensational flier from Cleveland, won the women's 60-meter event, beating Myrtle Cook, of Montreal, and Florence Bell, of Toronto, in that order in the finals. Miss Walsh's time was 7 5-10 seconds.

SKATING POSTPONED.

Speculator, N. Y., Feb. 20 (A.P.).—The national amateur speed skating championships here, scheduled for Friday and Saturday, tonight were postponed until Saturday and Sunday as a result of a spring-like thaw. A warm sun softened the ice to an extent demanding postponement.

IN THE COLLEGE CORNER

By JACK ESPEY

WHO'S got his fingers crossed on Karl Wildermuth?

Somebody has, for there seems no other reason why the Hilltop speed demon should so often run into hard luck. Page Holmes and let's find out what's what.

Without any apparent cause, Karl every once in a while suffers a pulled tendon, or pulled something, in his legs. When that happens it makes competitive running out of the question. And that doesn't suit Karl nor his Georgetown supporters nor local track lovers who want to see the happy kid from Long Island go out and run himself into some more records.

With the intercollegiate championships due on March 1, Karl stands little chance of recovering from his leg ailment in time to compete. Last Tuesday, just when he was beginning to feel himself again after having suffered a tendon injury running against Jimmy Daley, his old rival in New York, on January 18, Karl pulled up lame on the Georgetown board track during a short sprint.

Within an instant his hopes of meeting Daley for the college indoor sprint title were transformed into bitter thoughts. Now it seems that the blond Hilltop speed boy can hardly round to prime condition before the night of the big race.

2-Mile Title Conceded To Penn State Ace.

The intercollegiate championship meet is the one objective lying before all Eastern track teams. Indications are that the competition will be keen with a number of outstanding bidders for the various individual titles.

But there is one title of which the experts already are naming the owner. He is Paul Rekers, of Penn State a 2-miler.

Rekers is the most astonishing college runner of the year. From a pursuit man—a very poor pursuit man at that—last November when he finished fifty-second in the intercollegiate cross-country race, he has become a pursued man. He has won 2-mile races within the last month in times faster than the intercollegiate 2-mile record—9:30 4-5—which has been untouched since Willard Tibbetts, of Harvard, set it in 1926. Rekers will go into the forthcoming title race with the record at his mercy.

Joe Hickey, of New York University, who surprised the Eastern track world last winter by winning the intercollegiate mile championship, served notice on his rivals the other night in New York that he would be out there again gunning for the title by finishing just five yards behind Ray Conger in a 4:19 4-5 mile.

St. John's-Syracuse Game Anticipated.

St. John's of Brooklyn, which toyed with Catholic U. here last Monday, soon will meet Syracuse in a game that will remove all question as to the rightful owner of the Eastern college basket-ball title. The Brooklyn Indians have won 20 out of 21 games and have scored a total of 755 points to 501 for their opponents. They boast unusual scoring power, not only in their first-string line-up, but in their reserve force as well. Providence College inflicted the only beating they've taken.

Earlier in the season St. John's defeated Providence, 27-20. Following are the other victims of the Indians' assault: Brooklyn K. of C., Cathedral School of N. Y., Savage Institute of N. Y., New York A. C., St. Francis, Columbia, C. C. N. Y., St. John's Alumni, Rider College, St. Bonaventure, Holy Cross, Crescent A. C., New York U., St. Thomas (twice), Baltimore U., Lehigh, Catholic U. and St. John's of Annapolis.

Clever Epiphany Sextet, Winner in First Season, To Seek Tourney Title

CHAMPIONS in their first year of league competition, the Epiphany Girls Basket Ball Team is aiming at a District A. A. U. championship in their first try. The team, which only recently won the section 2 title of Washington Recreation League, will seek the women's unlimited championship in the big tournament to be held under the auspices of The Washington Post next month.

Although most of the Epiphany lassies have been playing together for the last three seasons, they assumed a more prominent place among the feminine basketers this year when they joined the Recreation League and immediately routed the best opposition that rival clubs could produce. In six league games, the Epiphany Girls divided honors with Capitol A. C. and won two decisions over the Eaglets and Delta Phi Sigmas.

Split Even With Basketeers.

Prior to the opening of the league campaign, the Epiphany Team defeated the Good Shepherd Sextet and split even in two engagements with the Basketeers.

Both the Capitol A. C. and Basketeer Teams were prominent contenders for the women's unlimited championship last year. By virue of their even breaks in games with these two teams, the Epiphany Sextet will be rated among the strong championship contenders in the tourney, which starts March 10.

Coach Agnes McNutt has developed a well-balanced team, which has shown improvement with the progress of the season. Harriet Dwight, who also manages the team, has set the pace for the scorers throughout the season with her goal tossing teammate, Capt. Nellie Guertler, a close rival.

All Contenders to Compete.

Other newcomers to women's court circles are expected to compete in the District championships. Practically all of the teams which sought the unlimited title, won by the Eagles last year have announced their intentions to enter the event this year.

Individual and team registrations should be filed before midnight of February 28. No entries will be received after that date. Entry blanks may be obtained from Miss Maude Parker at the Municipal Playground office or in the Sports Department of The Post.

Group of D. C. Golfers To Play in Virginia

A large delegation of District golfers will leave on the Norfolk steamer tonight to spend the week-end, including Washington's Birthday, in playing the Princess Anne course at Virginia Beach. While no definite competition has been announced, a goodly proportion of the players have arranged a series of friendly matches. There will be a representation of the membership of all the local clubs, with an especially numerous contingent from the Washington Golf and Country and the Chevy Chase Clubs. The personnel of the party, which will probably be increased today, is as follows:

Dale D. Drain, B. U. Graham, C. W. Freitas, Ralph P. Barnard, G. Livingston and wife, H. C. Hopkins and wife, M. M. Merrill, Frank Holt, Kenneth Parkinson, Risley G. Hunt, A. Spice, Charles O'Connell, Robert Stead, chairman of the golf committee of the Chevy Chase Club; M. E. Horton, W. W. Griffith, C. P. Clagett, F. E. Gilsdell, J. R. Yates, B. Beard and wife, Ray J. Morman, C. G. Harrell, Harry D. Cashman, H. Revenell and wife, C. Ashmead Fuller and wife, R. Porter Davidson and wife, M. Steel, W. C. Looker, R. B. King, W. M. Throckmorton, C. T. Day, F. P. Hinkel and wife, W. W. Dudley and wife, Dr. G. V. Johnson and wife, Dr. H. D. Luse and wife, Dr. J. T. McClenahan, H. Rouzer, M. S. Brown, George E. Elliott, R. T. Harrell, F. W. Calfee, Paul V. Keyser, J. E. Rice, J. H. Wootten, Ralph Fowler and J. M. Willis.

Macks Schedule Eight Contests for Miami

Miami, Fla., Feb. 20.—Connie Mack's world's championship Philadelphia Athletics will play eight games at Miami this spring in which four National League clubs will be pitted against them.

The winter tourists at this resort will be privileged to see the band of athletes who overwhelmed the Chicago Cubs last year in games against the St. Louis Cardinals, the Brooklyn Dodgers, the Cincinnati Reds and the Boston Braves.

The first of the series will open at Miami March 8, when "Gabby" Street's Red Birds from St. Louis will amble down from Bradenton to battle the Mackmen in a two-game series, with the second game on March 9.

On March 15 and 16 Uncle Wilbert Robinson's Brooklyn Dodgers will be in Miami on their annual tour of the East Coast for a set of games against the Athletics to be followed on March 22 and 23 by the Cincinnati Reds, and on March 29 and 30 by the Boston Braves.

Charley White 7 to 5 Choice in Comeback

Chicago, Feb. 20 (A.P.).—Charley White and his 39 years, including six years of retirement, today was a 7-to-5 choice to celebrate his comeback attempt in Promoter Jack Dempsey's show at the Coliseum tomorrow night to defeat Henry Perlick, the Kalamazoo, Mich., lightweight twin.

In training White's famous left hook was worked impressively and he is confident of stopping Perlick, who is about 18 years his junior. The bout is for six rounds.

Art Shires' Modesty Inflicted on Telephone

Waxahachie, Tex., Feb. 20 (A.P.).—Although Art Shires has not yet said whether the contract offered him was satisfactory, there is proof that the first baseman has been in touch with the Chicago White Sox office by telephone—abundant proof.

Yesterday he placed a call and was connected with the Chicago operator.

"This is Shires and I want to speak to the White Sox office," said the modest first sacker.

"Who's Shires?" the operator wanted to know.

GIANTS' CAMP BOASTS CLEVER YOUNG INFIELDERS

Leslie, Outfielder, Is Showing Ability With Bat.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Feb. 20 (N. Y.W.N.S.).—That the Giants have the classiest set of young infielders in camp since the days when Jackson and Lindstrom were recruit upstarts, is the belief of Head Coach Dave Bancroft, who devoted a lot of attention today to the daily infield workout which followed the long hitting and fielding drill.

Though this is primarily a battery camp until the regulars report March 1, all the young infield talent is here, hard at work. The best combination seems to be Eddie Marshall at second, Lou Allen at short and Frank McCullough at third with Will McWilliams rating almost as high as McCullough in the early workouts.

Marshall Attracts Attention.

These boys have been going through a spirited infield session every day following the hitting and this morning they began to show signs of team work together. Marshall is the leading candidate to play second base and attracts a lot of attention from the few hundred fans who watch the team work every day.

Allen is a chap from Pennsylvania who has a build like a miniature Hack Wilson. He is fast and sure and full of ginger. McCullough is another Pennsylvania product whom McGraw is much interested in. McWilliams hails from Chicago, where he was quite a football player.

Some of these young men will be taken out with the second team when it leaves on March 20 for a long exhibition of its own. This gives the rookies a chance to be playing every day instead of sitting on the bench while the regulars perform.

Leslie, From Memphis, Hitting Hard.

Sam Leslie, the former first baseman of Memphis, who will be converted into an outfielder, did some tall hitting today. He is a big fellow and can certainly rap that apple. Jack Scott, who hasn't signed his contract yet, has been working hard and the big boy from the Carolinas is getting into good shape. He made his first appearance on the mound today, pitching to the hitters. Bill Powley and Wallie Brush also took a turn in the box.

Bernard McGee, the scrappy little Irish catcher, was behind the bat today in the infield drill while Frank Hogan officiated behind the mask in the batting practice.

Carl Hubbell is still missing and no official word has been heard from him though there is a story here that he has written to ask permission to remain away until the week-end to finish his honeymoon.

Stewart vs. Montrose; Woltz vs. Eastern Preps

Four A. A. U. teams will provide some spirited action in a double-header tonight at the Silver Spring Armory. The Stewart Brothers and Montrose teams, leading championship contenders in their respective classes, are scheduled to clash at 9 o'clock. In the first game, the Woltz A. C., defending A. A. U. champions, will take on the formidable Eastern Preps.

Stewarts will meet another crack team Sunday in the preliminary to the Brooklyn K. C. and Skinker Eagles clash. They meet the Business Whirlwinds, who have been winning consistently.

TROPHY SHOOT TOMORROW.

Three trophies will be given at the shoot of the Washington Gun Club to be held tomorrow on the club grounds. Winners of the high scratch gun on first 25 targets, high added-target gun on second 25 club averages, and the man who lasts the longest in sliding distance handicap will be given the awards.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—TOMMY TICKLE, $7.10, $3.50, $2.70; BOROUGH MONGER, $5.80, $3.80; GOLDEN CLOUD, $3.70.

TOMMY TICKLE, displaying the most speed from the start and getting a good pace under light restraint to the stretch, where he held on gamely under energetic handling to outfinish BOROUGH MONGER. The latter moved up in resolute fashion on the inside, but was outfinished. GOLDEN CLOUD tired. PUNKIE met with sharp interference rounding into the stretch.

THIRD RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,000; allowances. The Union Point. For 3-year-olds. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 3:02½. Off at 3:04½. Winner, E. R. Bradley's blk. c. Two-dollar mutuels paid—BLACK CLOUD, $6.40, $2.70, $2.20; WHILE AWAY, $2.90, $2.20; HIGH FOOT, $2.50.

BLACK CLOUD, slightly outrun early, saved ground entering the stretch when the leaders went wide and, responding well to pressure, was drawing clear. WHILE AWAY, displaying the most speed in pacemaking, lost ground entering the stretch and held on fairly well in final drive. HIGH FOOT, well up from the break, weakened as if short in the final drive. GREGORY could not keep up.

FOURTH RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,200; allowances. The Rapadies. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 3:32½. Off at 3:33½. Winner, Paradise Stock Farm's b. or blk. g. (4), by High Time—Movie. Trained by J. Tigue. Value to winner, $850; second, $200; third, $100; fourth, $50. Time, 0:23, 0:47, 1:12 2-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—FILM, $14.20, $4.90, $2.70; TADDYWAWA, $4.20, $2.30; AGITATION, $2.20.

FILM, breaking well and displaying good speed, took the lead after going a quarter of a mile and, continuing well thereafter, held race safe under vigorous handling. TADDYWAWA, outbreaking her opposition, led for the first furlong and continued well after being headed to outgame AGITATOR for the place. The latter, well up all the way, finished in resolute fashion, but could not get up. THE SOUTHERNER had no mishaps. SAWDUST tired. SCOTLAND ran out on the turn.

FIFTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $1,000; claiming. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 4:02. Off at 4:09. GALLAUDET'S YEAR ENDS TONIGHT

Blues Meet American in Finale; 2 Games Cancelled.

GALLAUDET'S basket ball team, one of the best that has represented the Kendall Green institution in many years, will close its season tonight in a game with American University's Five on the latter's court, starting at 8 o'clock.

The high scoring Blues, led by the keen-eyed Del Cosgrove and Johnny Ringle, first and second ranking scorers among Capital collegians, have won ten of their fifteen games to date. They need a victory tonight to keep their 1930 winning average above the .667 mark, which is the highest a Gallaudet quintet ever has boasted at the close of a season.

Originally, Gallaudet had planned to meet Columbus University tomorrow night and Blue Ridge College next Friday, but these contests were cancelled yesterday, thus making tonight's fray the finale.

G. W. and Catholic to Clash Tomorrow.

Tomorrow night local fans will have three games among which to divide their attention. The probable best bet from a "gate" standpoint is the George Washington-Catholic clash to be held at Brookland. It will be the first of a two-game series between the Colonials and Cardinals.

Georgetown will return to action at the Hilltop in a contest with the strong Brooklyn Knights of Columbus Five, which was beaten earlier in the season at Brooklyn by 8 points. Among the visiting players are three or four members of the crack St. John's of Brooklyn team.

Maryland has two games scheduled tomorrow, one in the afternoon at Baltimore with Johns Hopkins, and the other at night at College Park with Virginia Military Institute. In spite of the severe test embodied in an assignment of this kind (seldom before has a college team played two games at different places in one day) Maryland figures to win both games.

Woltz, J. C. C. Fives In Benefit for Peck

The Woltz Photographer and Jewish Community Center unlimited basket ball teams will clash Tuesday night at Central High School at 9 o'clock. The contest will be a benefit for Tom Peck, Woltz star, who has been seriously ill with pneumonia for several months and who is still dangerously ill at his home.

In addition to its lure as a benefit for Peck, the contest promises to be one of the outstanding attractions offered followers of the amateur unlimited teams. These teams have long been bitter rivals and both teams have enviable records this season.

Gonzaga Plays Saints; Tech Faces Md. Cubs

Two attractive court games involving scholastic teams will be staged today when Gonzaga and St. John's come together on the latter's court at 8:30 p. m., and Tech goes to College Park to meet the Maryland Freshmen this afternoon. The game at the Vermont Avenue Gym tonight brings old rivals together into combat, with St. John's boasting a bright season's record, eager to atone for the defeat suffered at the hands of the Purple on the gridiron last fall.

If the championship Tech Team upsets the Maryland Cubs, it will have succeeded when all the other high school teams have failed. Central, Western, Eastern and Business have all been defeated by the Old Line Yearlings. Georgetown Prep will also see action, facing the St. Alban's Five at the latter's stronghold.

A FEW FLAKES O

V. P. I. Quintets Invade Carolina for 2 Games

Special to The Washington Post.

Blacksburg, Va., Feb. 20.—Two out-of-State games and one contest with an Old Dominion foe are all that remain on the 1930 basket ball schedule for varsity and freshmen teams at Virginia Polytechnic Institute. The varsity five left tonight for the annual trek into North Carolina and the freshmen tagged along in search of more scalps of Tarheel aggregations.

Varsity and freshmen will engage in two games with University of North Carolina outfits at Chapel Hill Friday evening and will speed to Raleigh the following day by bus to meet veteran and cub aggregations at North Carolina State College in another double attraction. The V. P. I. courtmen will return to Virginia soil Sunday for one day of practice before they head down the famous Shenandoah Valley for the season finale against Washington and Lee teams at Lexington Tuesday night.

Coach Henry Redd's freshmen grabbed most of the acclaim in the final home stand against these same Generals here Monday. Without their coach, Bob Warren, the Gobbler varsity waged a thrilling scrap against Leigh Williams, Red Hanna and the other scoring aces of the Generals. The yearlings came through with their best attack of the season to overwhelm the W. and L. frosh and atone for the varsity setback.

Virginia U. Boxers Face Penn Tomorrow

Special to The Washington Post.

Charlottesville, Va., Feb. 20.—In a meet that smacks of intersectional flavor, Virginia's boxing team will play host to the mittmen of the University of Pensylvania in Memorial Gymnasium Saturday night. Two boxing cards were originally scheduled to form a double-header, but on account of the conflict with the last of the midwinter dances, the scrap between the Cavalier Yearlings and the Virginia Military Institute Rats was changed to 3:30 in the afternoon.

Smarting under the defeat sustained at the hands of the Duke University Freshmen last Saturday, the Virginia Yearlings have been working hard this week and Coach Flannagan expects to have his wards in good shape to meet the young Cadets.

Although Pennsylvania has lost several men by graduation, the Quakers are well fortified with veteran material this season. In their opening meet they registered a 7-to-0 victory over Syracuse and then lost last week to the Navy by a close score. They will bring a strong line-up here Saturday, their first appearance in several years. In encounters here several years ago, the Cavaliers emerged victorious.

Port o' Play Takes Agua Caliente Feature

Agua Caliente, Mexico, Feb. 20 (A.P.).—Today's card was made up entirely of claiming races. The best of these appeared to be the fifth, a mile and a sixteenth gallop for 3-year-olds and upward. Port O'Play, from the R. C. Thatcher Stable, was the winner. Mrs. T. Donley's Russet, the favorite, was second, and Dubric, from J. McNama's Stable, was third. The winner paid $11.80.

Port O'Play raced with the leaders for the entire journey and lasted long enough to win by a nose. Russet was the early pace-maker, but could not head the winner when the final drive came. Dubric had plenty of speed in the final furlong and was going best of all at the finish.

DANVILLE CADETS WIN.

Waynesboro, Va., Feb. 20 (Special). The unerring goal shooting of Gable enabled Danville Military Institute to win a 45-to-39 decision over Fishburne Military School in a closely-contested basket ball tilt here tonight. Fishburne was leading, 16 to 15, at the end of the first half.

WASHINGTON Y WINS.

The Washington Y. M. C. A. Five avenged an earlier-season defeat at the hands of the Richmond Y Team by winning last night, 33-28, in the local gymnasium. Washington had a 23-16 lead at the half. Terneak, former Tech player, led the scoring for the locals with five field goals.

ALEXANDRIA SPORTS

Special to The Washington Post.

Alexandria, Va., Feb. 20.—Episcopal High School track squad turned out yesterday afternoon in full swing when 40 boys reported for the first practice. Coach Tompkins, assisted by George Hamilton, will drill the boys every day in an effort to get them in shape for their heavy track schedule. He expects to have a well-balanced team this season, although he will have to develop some men. Each year the local institution has one of the best prep school track teams in the State.

In Mitchell he has one of the best weight men that has been at the school in years.

On Sunday afternoon the St. Mary's Celtics will entertain the Council Knighthood Club from Richmond, in the third and deciding game of the year. In the two previous games each team won by a slim margin of 2 points. The game Sunday should be a thriller. The game will be played in Schulers Hall, beginning at 3 o'clock.

Five boxing and two wrestling matches head the program of the smoker to be given in the clubroom of the Old Dominion Boat Club on Monday night. Of the seven events, the greatest interest is being manifest in the bout between Billy Schwartz, local product, and Jack Nowland, a sailor from the Washington Navy Yard. It will be Schwartz's first local appearance since entering professional ranks.

NET STARS TO BERMUDA.

New York, Feb. 20 (A.P.).—Three high ranking United States tennis stars sail today to take part in the Bermuda championships, starting February 24. They are John Doeg, of Santa Monica, Calif., third ranking American player, and Berkeley Bell and Bruce Barnes, of Dallas, Tex.

Willie Ptomey Signs For Cumberland Bout

Cumberland, Md., Feb. 30.—Willie Ptomey, Washington, D. C., all-service middleweight champion, and Mickey Solmen, knockout artist of New Castle, Pa., have been matched for the main bout at the State Armory next Thursday night by Vic Ricker. They are to go eight rounds. It has been two years since Ptomey has appeared in the local ring. He has many followers in this city.

Solmen is one of the outstanding 160-pounders in the Pittsburgh district at the present time. He is regarded as a hard hitter. He is managed by Eddie Weygant, featherweight star of bygone days. The principals will tip the beam at 160 pounds or less at 3 o'clock the afternoon of the bout.

V. P. I. Batterymen In First Outdoor Drill

Special to The Washington Post.

Blacksburg, Va., Feb. 20.—The thud of ball and glove today heralded the approach of another baseball season at Virginia Polytechnic Institute. Taking advantage of warm spring weather, Coach George Kircher put all battery candidates through the first workout this afternoon and will guide the pitchers in daily drills until the second quarter examinations commence late in March.

A promising squad of pitchers and catchers reported for the initial practice. Mound talent included Lloyd Murden, Reggie Mapp and Tom Starke, letter men; Joe Billingsley and Jim Craun, from the 1929 varsity squad; Joe Green, Doc Ayers, Jim Land and Buck Chandler, from the State freshmen champions of last year. Catchers included Macauley McEver and Bob Smith, letter men, and Speck Anderson and Charlie Allen, from the 1929 varsity squad.

Alexandria High Team Cancels Celtic Game

Special to The Washington Post.

Alexandria, Va., Feb. 20.—Alexandria High School has canceled its annual game with the St. Mary's Celtics Basket Ball Team, scheduled for tomorrow, it was announced tonight by Henry Moncure, principal of the school, following an investigation of the Celtics' status.

Principal Moncure declared that Alexandria High did not care to risk its players' amateur status in competition with the Celtics, who are competing in the Independent League against professional players. The Independent League is operating without A. A. U. sanction.

STOCK PRICES DROP OFF 2 TO 13 POINTS

CARRIERS PROVE TARGET

The drop was moderate enough, compared to the experiences of the final quarter of last year, but gave Wall street a slight jar, after the narrow day-to-day price movements of the past two months. The index of 90 leading shares declined 3.4 points, and most of the more active individual issues closed 2 to 13 points lower. Trading was not very heavy until selling reached large proportions in the last hour. Total sales reached 3,661,070 shares, approximately 200,000 more than yesterday.

Several commission houses have felt for several days that the market was spoiling for a break, and has advised their customers to lighten accounts, although pools continued to bid up individual favorites. The market became reactionary late yesterday, in belated response to the troubles in the Chicago wheat pit, and continued to work lower during most of today, although bulls regained control of the price movement for a short time in the early afternoon. What had the earmarks of a bear raid sent the market swiftly lower in the last hour of trading.

Business News Unimpressive.

Aside from the renewed reaction in the wheat market, there was little in the day's news to cast any new light upon financial or business conditions, and the market's action appeared to be largely in response to already known factors, and in connection with a weakened technical position within the market itself. The most noteworthy corporate news was the 1929 earnings statement of National Lead, showing net nearly double that of 1928, and the declaration of a $3 extra dividend. These favorable developments, however, related to last year's operations, and President Cornish indicated that business had fallen off substantially in recent months, the first half of February making a particularly unfavorable comparison with the previous year. National Lead stock, normally a wide mover, dropped 13 points.

Credit conditions were stationary, with call money holding at 4½ per cent. The weekly brokers' loan figures showed another moderate increase of $44,000,000, making a total upturn for the past three weeks of about $150,000,000. The statement of Gov. Norris, of the Philadelphia Reserve Bank, that there is a wide feeling in Federal Reserve Circles that it would not be wise to make additional attempts to stimulate business by further cheapening of credit dashed hopes of any early reduction of the rediscount rate from 4 to 3½ per cent in the near future. In fact, Mr. Norris expressed the opinion that easy money rates as a stimulant to general business is a doubtful remedy, an opinion held by some economists who have severely censured the reserve system for its cheap money policy of 1927.

Rails were a target of the bears in the late trading, who based their operations on indications that the January earnings statements, to make their appearance in the next few days, will be rather unsatisfactory. New York Central lost 7 points and Chesapeake & Ohio, Norfolk & Western, Delaware & Hudson and Lackawanna 5 to 6.

Westinghouse Electric Drops.

In the industrials and utilities, it was notable that the leaders of the recent advance were sold the most heavily. Westinghouse Electric lost nearly 8 points, and United States Steel, American Telephone, Johns Manville, American Tobacco, Eastman Kodak, Standard Gas, American Can and Western Union lost about 4 to 7 points. Auburn Auto and Otis Elevator lost about 9 points each. Radio was heavily bought for a time, rising to 46¾, a new 1930 high, but it closed at 43½, off about 2 points net.

Wheat futures closed off 1¼ to 2 cents, after selling still lower and establishing new low records for the season. The decline was attributed to further pressure of offerings in foreign markets. Pressure was lifted in the corn market, and closing prices were about ½ cent higher. Cotton declined in sympathy with wheat, and the Liverpool and Bombay markets, the latter influenced by renewed weakness in silver, but rallied as shorts covered with improved trade buying later in the day, and closing prices showed slight net gains.

In the foreign exchanges, the leading European rates rallied, after the steady declines to new low levels for the year during past fortnight. Sterling mounted ¼ to 4.86¼ for cables, reflecting the favorable statement of the Bank of England.

NEW YORK COTTON.

New York, Feb. 20 (A.P.).—Cotton was rather nervous and irregular today but early declines influenced by relatively easy Liverpool cables and weakness in wheat were followed by rallies on trade buying and covering. May contracts sold up from 15.44 to 15.67, or 11 points above yesterday's closing quotations, but reacted partially under realizing in the last few minutes and closed at 15.58. The general market closed barely steady at net advances of 1 to 6 points.

The opening was steady at a decline of 3 to 9 points with active months showing net losses of 7 to 12 points during the first few minutes under liquidation and scattered selling. The latter included some pressure from the South, apparently, while there was also Liverpool selling here and a good deal of March liquidation. The latter was absorbed by the trade against sales of later deliveries and as soon as the early selling tapered off the market turned steadier.

Later fluctuations showed more or less irregularity with advances meeting occasional spurts of selling which seemed to come coincidentally with setbacks in the wheat market.

Cotton was less importantly influenced by weakness in the wheat market than recently, however, and there was quite a flurry of covering in the last hour which sent the price of March up to 15.40 and October to 16.04, or 11 to 14 points net higher. This was checked by realizing and increased near-month liquidation in the last few minutes and the market at the close showed reactions of 7 to 11 points from the best.

Liquidation of March contracts continued and a good deal of switching was reported from near to late months in preparation of the probability of notices next Tuesday. The closing quotations for March was 30 points under May and 66 points under October, compared with differences of 28 and 62 points at the close of the previous day.

Liverpool cables reported local, continental and Bombay liquidation absorbed by covering and trade calling in that market. According to these advices a slight improvement was noted in the demand for cotton cloths from India, but disappointing results were reported from the Shanghai auctions.

Port receipts today, 4,568. U. S. port stocks, 2,233,035. Exports, 10,580, making 5,304,786 so far this season.

U.S. SHARE ADVANCES BRIGHTEN BOND LIST

Prime Carriers and Foreign Issues Are Also Live, With Many Gains.

MONEY RATES STEADY

New York, Feb. 20 (A.P.).—Another advance by Liberties and Treasuries gave a more cheerful tone to the bond list today. Firmer tendencies were evident in the remainder of the market, although net changes proved to be mixed. Time money remained firm.

Convertibles afforded the widest move of the day, turning downward in sympathy with the weakness of stocks. American Telephone 4½s lost 4¼ points net, while Atchison 4½s and International Telephone 4½s each declined 2. American International 5½s, American I. G. Chemical 5½s, the Alleghany 5s and Texas Corporation 5s eased, with declines in the minor fractions.

Prime rails displayed considerable resistance in a generally thin market. New York Central issues were especially active, making a general upward turn in response to persistent accumulation. Rock Island refunding 4s, Chesapeake & Ohio 4½s, Northern Pacific prior lien 4s, Baltimore & Ohio 5s, Canadian National 5s, Wabash "B" 5s and St. Louis Southwestern 4½s were other active carriers making slightly higher ground.

The remainder of the list dragged. There were transactions of fair size in Chile Copper 5s, Goodyear 5s, International Telephone 5s, Duquesne Light 4½s, Lehigh Coal & Navigation 4½s, Lorillard 5s and a few other issues, several of which slipped off as much as half a point in the absence of much support.

The Fourth Liberty Loan continued its recent activity in the Government section, moving up 3-32 of a point, but the Treasury 3¾s displayed the best strength with an advance of ⅜. Only the Treasury 3¾s of 1943-47 failed to show a net advance for the session and these were down 1-32.

Traders in foreign bonds was generally in larger volume and prices tended higher. Buenos Aires 6s, Canada 5s, Antioquia 7s, Italian Public Utility 7s, Kingdom of Italy 7s, German Agricultural Bank 6s, Austrian 7s and Brazilian issues were leaders in the small advance. French bonds were firm.

An oversubscription was reported on the $16,000,000 issue of Pacific Northwest Public Service Co. 6 per cent 20-year convertible debentures This company was recently organized as an operating subsidiary of Central Public Service Corporation to supercede the Portland Electric Power Co and to acquire the Seattle Lighting Co. The bonds were priced at 99½.

New bond offerings for tomorrow include a $2,000,000 issue of Houston Lighting & Power first mortgage three-year 5s, priced at 97½.

DISTRICT EXCHANGE TO MOVE QUARTERS

Washington Building Has Been Chosen as New Location.

LEASE IS FOR FIVE YEARS

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

The Washington Building at Fifteenth and G streets and New York avenue will be the next location of the Washington Stock Exchange which will move from the second floor of the American Security & Trust Co. building at 728 Fifteenth street northwest, because of the probable expansion of the latter institution by erection of a ten-story addition to that property.

Negotiations were closed yesterday by a committee representing the exchange composed of George O. Walson, president of Liberty National Bank and the stock exchange, Eugene E. Thompson, of Crane, Parris & Co., and E. L. Hillyer, Union Trust Co., and Weaver Bros., Inc., managing agents of the building, whereby approximately 1,000 square feet on the sixth floor has been leased to the exchange for a period of five years. The exchange expects to move to its new location about April 1.

Final plans have been completed for the twenty-sixth annual banquet of Washington Chapter, American Institute of Banking, to take place at the Willard Hotel tomorrow evening at 6:30 o'clock. The decorations committee of which Miss S. Winifred Burwell, National Metropolitan Bank, is chairman, has designed an elaborate decorative scheme commemorative of the occasion of George Washington's birthday. The large ballroom of the Willard Hotel will present a panorama of patriotic decorations.

Spirit of '76 Found in Posters.

The ideas for the attractive posters announcing the banquet and the program cover, typifying the spirit of '76, were created by the publicity committee headed by J. Fred English, Commercial National Bank, the former having been designed by Robert G. Whitton, First National Bank of Alexandria, a member of this committee. On Sunday, the officers and board of governors of Washington Chapter will be host to out-of-town guests at a breakfast at the Manor Club.

Public offering of a new issue of $16,000,000 of 6 per cent convertible gold debentures, due 1950, of the Pacific Northwest Public Service Corporation, formed as an operating subsidiary of the Central Public Service Corporation, to include the Portland Electric Power Co. and Seattle Lighting Co. and other utility properties in the Pacific Northwest will be made today at 99½ and interest, yielding over 6 per cent.

The offering is being made by Harris, Forbes & Co., H. M. Byllesby & Co., Inc., Halsey, Stuart & Co., Inc., West & Co., and Albert E. Peirce & Co. Under arrangements with Central Public Service Corporation, these debentures will be convertible, at holders' option, into 25 shares of class A stock of Central Public Service for each $1,000 principal amount of debentures, at any time on or after September 1, 1930, and before September 1, 1933, with adjustments for interest and dividends.

Baltimore Gas Firm Analysis.

A special analysis of Consolidated Gas, Electric Light & Power Co., of Baltimore, was published yesterday by the statistical department of J. A W. Iglehart & Co. Founded in 1816, the Consolidated now serves a territory of nearly 1,400 square miles and is the largest public utility in this section. The company has recently extended its gas service southward as far as Annapolis and is now extending its pipes 15 miles north to Reisterstown.

Charles W. Crowell, manager of Acacia Mutual Life Association's branch at Charleston, W. Va., has been awarded the medal of the International Weekly Production Club for 100 consecutive weeks of production, it is announced. This organization of insurance men is said to extend throughout the United States, the United Kingdom, Canada and Hawaii.

Officers and directors of the International Exchange Bank gave Fernando Cuniberti, president of that institution, a surprise dinner at the Madrillon last night, the occasion being the second anniversary of his election to the presidency.

Curb Review

New York, Feb. 20 (A.P.).—A bear attack centering on the utilities chopped sizable chunks from curb stock quotations today. The selling, which assumed considerable proportions in the final hour when several large blocks came out, proved to be fairly general, although some of the industrials, as well as a few utilities, offered stubborn resistance and closed with small net gains.

Operations for the decline showed most prominently in issues which led the recent advance. Electric Bond & Share was whittled off 4½ points and closed virtually at the bottom. American Superpower, American Gas & Electric, Central States Electric, Middle West Utilities, International Superpower and Niagara Hudson Power lost about 1 to 2 points, while Standard Power & Light dropped 5½, and Northern States Power A 3½.

Consolidated Gas of Baltimore, Midland United and Memphis Natural Gas were well supported and advanced between 2 and 3 points each.

The most spectacular change was in Siemens & Halske, an extremely inactive issue, which tumbled 167 points on a 10-share transaction. Deere & Co. (old), another high priced stock, fell 20 points, while the new, when issued, lost 2½. Otis Elevator (new) declined more than 3 points in sympathy with the break in the old shares on the big board. Republic Steel lost nearly 3 and the preferred 2. Technicolor was off 4 at the close.

Investment company shares met considerable selling and gave ground rather readily. Goldman Sachs Trading, Lehman Corporation, Marine Midland, Electric Power Associates "A" and National Investors were down 1 to 2½ points. Mayflower Associates advanced 1.

Oils held up fairly well in the early trading, but joined the downward movement toward the close. Gulf and Humble each yielded about 2 points, while Vacuum sagged a point. The Standards were firm and dull.

Miscellaneous strong spots included American Salamandra, up 3; Charis Corporation, up 2¾; Sierra Pacific Electric, up 1½; Newport, up 2, and Rike Kumler, up 1.

IN THE SUPREME COURT OF THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA.

Equitable Security Savings & Commercial Bank, a corporation, Ninth and G streets northwest, vs. Percy W. Pickford, Thomas H. Pickford, Lafayette Hotel, and National Savings & Trust Co., a corporation, Fifteenth and New York avenue. Equity Docket, No. 50693. The object of this suit is to have a receiver appointed pendente lite to take possession of certain promissory notes held by the National Savings & Trust Co. and secured on certain real estate in Arlington County, State of Virginia, said receiver to collect the principal and interest on said notes as the same may become due and payable and that the equitable interest of the defendant, Percy W. NEWS OF LATEST HAPPENINGS IN MARYLAND AND VIRGINIA

ALEXANDRIA READY FOR HUGE PAGEANT

Official Order for Parade Is Issued by Grand Marshal Sladen.

GOVERNOR TO TAKE PART

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU.
312 S. Washington St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 523.

Maj. Gen. Fred W. Sladen, U. S. A., commanding general of the Third Corps Area, with headquarters at Baltimore, Md., will be the grand marshal of the mammoth parade tomorrow to be staged by the George Washington Birthday Association in honor of his 198th birthday anniversary. President Hoover will review the parade from a glass-enclosed and heated stand at Queen and Washington streets, and Gov. John Garland Pollard of Virginia, with his staff, will participate. Their automobiles will leave the line of parade after passing the reviewing stand and bring the occupants to the stand for the remainder of the pageant.

The official order of the parade was issued yesterday, by command of Maj. Gen. Sladen, and signed by Lieut. Col. Louis M. Evans, Signal Corps Reserves, chief of staff, and gives detailed information as to the line of march, the formation of the units that will form the parade and the exact point at which they will disband and return to their home station.

The parade will start promptly at 2:30 p. m., and Capt. W. W. Campbell, of the Alexandria police, has requested all automobile owners living on the streets where the parade will assemble to make other arrangements for parking, and have all needed space cleared before noon. Automobilists from Washington are requested to use the upper road coming into Alexandria, as the River road is now undergoing repairs. North Washington street will be cleared early in the day.

The annual meeting of the George Washington Masonic National Memorial Association will be held here today and tomorrow when, it is expected, an appropriation to finish the stone work on the tower of the temple now under construction on Shooter's Hill will be voted.

The first session will convene in the auditorium of the temple at 10 o'clock this morning when, after invocation, the delegates will be welcomed by the grand master of Masons in Virginia.

The first day's sessions, both morning and afternoon, will be devoted exclusively to business.

The second day's session, which will be held in the Alexandria-Washington lodge rooms, will adjourn with the election of officers at noon and in the afternoon the delegates will make their annual pilgrimage to Mount Vernon, where a wreath will be placed on the tomb of Washington.

In the evening the members of the association will be guests of the Alexandria-Washington Lodge of Masons at their annual George Washington Birthday banquet and celebration in Armory Hall at 6:30 o'clock.

A meeting of the board of directors of the association was held in the Willard Hotel, in Washington, at 10 o'clock yesterday morning.

Louis Watres, of Scranton, Pa., is president of the association and J. Claude Keiper, of Washington, has been secretary of the association since its organization. Charles H. Callahan, of this city, is a member of the board of directors.

Alexandria-Washington Lodge, No. 22, A. F. and A. M., will observe the birthday of its first worshipful master, George Washington, with a banquet in Armory Hall tomorrow night, presided over by the present worshipful master of the lodge, C. F. Swetnam. The principal speaker will be Senator Hiram Bingham, of Connecticut, who will be escorted to Alexandria by Urban S. Lambert, William Lewis Allen and Roy M. Reeve.

Other speakers will be Ahmed Mouhtar, ambassador to the United States from the Republic of Turkey, who will be escorted here by Percy E. Clift and William Jorg. Dr. William Moseley Brown, a grand lodge officer in the State of Virginia, will also speak.

Past Master C. Philip Heishley will be the toastmaster, and one of the features of the occasion will be the presentation of a past master's jewel to C. Aubrey Callahan, the immediate past master, the presentation to be made by Past Master Alfred C. Moss, who placed him in line.

Three Masonic lodges for fifty years past have held a celebration of the birth of George Washington, at the same hour, Liberty Lodge of Beverly, Mass., Constitutional Lodge, No. 294, of Beverly, England, and Alexandria, Washington Lodge, No. 22. Charles E. Tennesson will attend the celebration of Liberty Lodge, as the official representative of the local lodge, and will be accompanied by Mrs. Tennesson.

J. Edward Shinn, a past master, and now treasurer of the lodge, is general chairman for the banquet, and is assisted by C. Page Waller. The banquet will be prepared by the George Mason Hotel and served by the wives, mothers, sisters and friends of members of the craft.

A wreath will be placed in the churchyard of the old Presbyterian Meeting House tomorrow by a committee from the George Washington National Memorial Association, in annual session in this city, in memory of the fellow Masons of George Washington who are buried in that yard.

The committee will be composed of eleven grand masters of the various grand lodges, who will also participate in the unveiling of the restored tomb of William Hunter, who was junior warden of Alexandria-Washington Lodge in 1789. The work of restoring this tomb was undertaken by the late Mrs. Mary G. Powell, of this city, and continued by her daughter, Mrs. Louis S. Scott, for Miss Kate Van Cleve, of Brookline, Mass., a descendant of William Hunter.

The tomb will be unveiled by Frank Rhodes Hunter, of Washington, a great-grandson of William Hunter.

City council yesterday afternoon passed a resolution to request State Senator Frank L. Ball to withdraw a bill he planned to present to the Virginia State Legislature, called a park and planning bill. The council considers this a matter for consideration by Arlington and Fairfax Counties and Alexandria City, and not a legislative matter. The financial report for the month of January was received.

George Washington's birthday celebration will be started tonight by Alexandria Post, No. 24, American Legion, with a dance at Gadsby's Tavern, and Fred Petitt, known as Alexandria's Al Jolson, will accompany the orchestra during the evening with popular song hits. Herman Lemon is chairman for the event.

The Alexandria-Fairfax and Arlington Real Estate Board will hold a meeting at 6:30 o'clock tonight at the Belle Haven Country Club, presided over by George M. Reynolds, president, with James M. Duncan, jr., as secretary.

A petition has been presented to the city school board signed by more than 200 colored citizens asking for aditional high school facilities for the colored pupils.

PARADE LEADER

MAJ. GEN. FRED W. SLADEN.

OPPOSITION VOICED TO NEW PARK LEVY

MANY FAVOR MEASURE

Two groups in Prince Georges County communities yesterday notified the county commissioners that they are opposed to the imposition of an additional 7-cent levy for park and planning purposes in the county.

In a letter from the University Park Taxpayers Association, signed by William A. Jenkins, jr., secretary-treasurer, the commissioners were informed that that group had "voted to go on record as being opposed to the proposed 7-cent tax for the Park and Planning Commission at present and at least until there is some apparent benefit derived from the existing 3-cent tax."

A letter signed by Mrs. Callie E. Coates informed the commissioners that a petition had been circulated and signed by many of the residents of Takoma Park, opposing the imposition of the tax, but having been informed that the county commissioners do not look with favor on the tax, it had been decided to write and tell them that their stand is appreciated by the residents of that town.

Dr. H. J. Patterson, dean of the College of Agriculture and director of the experimental station at the University of Maryland, wrote to tell the commissioners that he was not the sponsor of the resolution adopted by the Pomona Grange, lauding the measure, adding he opposed the tax.

The Mount Rainier town council has gone on record as opposing the tax.

The Federation of Citizens' Associations and a number of the towns in the suburban area of Prince Georges County have gone on record as being heartily in favor of the measure. The citizens of Bladensburg and Colmar Manor passed resolutions favoring the tax and agreed to urge the other nearby towns to indorse the move.

Two units of the Prince Georges County Rescue Squad will assist at the celebration of George Washington's Birthday tomorrow at Alexandria, it was announced yesterday by Chief H. L. Leonard. The units will take their ambulances and will aid in caring for sick and injured persons

The Rev. Ignatius Smith of the Dominican House of Studies, Catholic University, will be the principal speaker at a smoker-rally of the Holy Name Society of St. Jerome's Catholic Church, Hyattsville, to be held at 8 o'clock Monday night at the church hall, Avon avenue and Spencer street. Archie Keegin is president of the branch.

Other speakers will be John F. McCarron, archdiocesan president of the Holy Name Society, and J. Hadley Doyle, past archdiocesan president. Caesar L. Aiello, of Hyattsville, president of the Washington section and treasurer of the St. Jerome's branch, will preside. Entertainment and refreshments will complete the program.

Arrests Held Solution Of Tag-Shift Mystery

With the arrest of two Negroes at Bolling Green, Va., police yesterday claimed to have solved the mystery attending the switching of license tags on the automobile of William H. Swann, of Silver Hill, Md., and a car, belonging to the Quartermaster Supply Company, of the Army, and assigned to work at Arlington Cemetery. The Negroes are charged with grand larceny.

Maryland tags were taken from the automobile of Mr. Swann and placed on the Army car. The District tags of the Army car were found on Mr. Swann's automobile. Authorities at Bolling Green informed them that two colored men, Charles Day, 47, of Durham, N. C., and William Longstreet, 17, of Gainsville, Ga., had been arrested after being found with the Army car, which bore Swann's tags.

Church, Kin and Friends Share $150,000 Estate

Special to The Washington Post.

Winchester, Va., Feb. 20.—Relatives and several personal friends, as well as Grace Lutheran Church, are to share in the distribution of an estate valued at approximately $150,000 left by Charles A. Williams, retired woolen-goods manufacturer, who died last week.

His will, probated today, makes bequests to the church, Mount Hebron Cemetery, Dr. T. A. Williams, Mrs. Beulah Shingleton, Miss Mamie H. Childs, Charles R. Langdon, Miss Mamie Eddy, Miss Nellie V. Eddy, Walter V. Eddy, Miss Lillian M. Ott, Mrs. Hilda Boyer, Garland Williams and Miss Bertha Williams. His brothers, Thomas J. and J. Hunter Williams, inherit his real estate.

NEW TERM JURORS TO BE DRAWN TODAY

Montgomery County Names Will Be Given to Sheriff for Service.

DIVORCE SUITS STARTED

Jurors for the March term of the Montgomery County Circuit Court will be drawn today at the Rockville Court House by Judge Robert B. Peter, assisted by Preston B. Ray, clerk of the Circuit Court, in the presence of members of the county bar.

The names of 200 county residents selected by the judge from all sections will be placed in a large box with 13 compartments, each of which will contain the names of the persons from each of the 13 election districts of the county. The proportionate number allotted to each district will then be drawn from the box by the clerk.

The persons whose names are drawn will constitute the members of the grand jury and petit jury for the term. When court convenes in March the judge will draw the names of the 23 grand jury members and appoint a foreman.

The names of those chosen will be given to Sheriff Joseph B. Pyles for service.

The Mongomery County courthouse building committee will meet at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon at the Rockville Courthouse to consider the design for the front of the proposed new county courthouse.

The design subcommittee met Tuesday at the county building in Bethesda and acted upon improved designs which have been approved by the Fine Arts Commission and the recommendation of the subcommittee will be laid before the general body at the meeting today.

The Fine Arts Commission approved the plans but at the same time reiterated its stand that a building of brick and limestone would be more suitable for the structure. The members of the committee, however, appear to be anxious that a monumental edifice of limestone be erected.

Petitions for absolute divorces were filed by attorneys for two women yesterday in the Circuit Court at Rockville, both alleging desertion.

Mrs. Anna Katherine Gill, of Kensington, asks a divorce from Roy Lee Gill, whose last known address was in Washington. Through Attorney John E. Oxley, of Rockville, she states that the marriage took place in Rockvilel March 26, 1921, and that there were two children, one of whom is dead, as a result of the union. Violet L. Mobley, of Washington, asks a divorce from William M. Mobley, of Montgomery County. She declares that the marriage took place October 31, 1921, and that there are no children.

Special to The Washington Post.

Cumberland, Md., Feb. 20.—Prohibition officers today junked a $1,200 moonshine distilling plant at the home of Russell F. Swain, Westernport. The raid was made on last evening.

Swain and his wife were cited to appear before United States Commissioner Thomas J. Anderson here today. Mrs. Swain did appear, entered a plea of guilty and was held in $1,000 bond. Swain failed to appear and is regarded as a fugitive from justice. The whole upstairs of the Swain home was converted into a distilling plant, the officers said, with one 100-gallon and one 50-gallon still going. The seizure also included 40 gallons of finished liquor, 19 barrels containing 900 gallons of mash, 275 pounds of barley, 525 pounds of granulated sugar in 25-pound sacks and much paraphernalia.

Thief Raids Hen Roost Of Maryland Justice

When Justice of the Peace Benson P. McDaniels, of Oxon Hill, Md., went to his yard to feed his poultry yesterday morning, he found the heads of 32 of his chickens strewn about the place.

Further investigation by Judge McDaniels revealed that the thief had not confined his operations to the hen roost, but had entered his home and made off with a revolver, three suits of clothes, three scarf pins, four ties, an Army blanket and a tie clasp.

Danville Leaf Sales Show Marked Decline

Special to The Washington Post.

Danville, Va., Feb. 20.—Further drop in the volume of tobacco on local warehouse floors saw only 200,000 pounds of leaf offered for sale today. Sales were completed early.

Yesterday 236,465 pounds were sold for $31,357.31, an average of $13.26 per hundred. This average is also the lowest of the season.

Mrs. Deshazor Dies at Petersburg.

Petersburg, Va., Feb. 20 (Special).—Mrs. Emma Jane Taylor Deshazor, living with her son-in-law, the Rev. Charles B. Richards, died this morning at her home. She was a native of Lunenberg County and a daughter of the late Samuel W. Snead and Mary Jane Bishop. For the past 56 years she had made her home in this city. Surviving Mrs. Deshazor are one son, Steven D. Deshazor, and one daughter, Mrs. Charles B. Richards, of this city.

Highway Bridge Bids Opened.

The Bureau of Public Roads of the United States Department of Agriculture announced yesterday that Merritt-Chapman & Scott Corporation, New York City, submitted the low bid on 12 bridges to be constructed on the Mount Vernon Memorial Highway from the Arlington Memorial Bridge to Mount Vernon.

Bids were received in two groups. The low bid on group 1 was $840,124.50 and on group 2, $936,902.50.

Virginian Faces Traffic Charge.

Harry Wilkins, 54 years old, of Clarendon, Va., was booked at the Seventh Precinct station on charges of operating an automobile with bad brakes as the result of a collision with a Capital Traction Co. street car at Potomac avenue and M street northwest yesterday afternoon. Wilkins was released for appearance in court today.

Store Looted of Merchandise.

An assortment of women's silk underwear, three dozen pair of silk stockings, half a dozen bungalow aprons and a quantity of canned goods valued at $40, were reported stolen by Nathan Cohen from his store on Twenty-th street northwest, near B street, early yesterday.

PROBLEMS RAISED BY HOOVER PUPILS

Teacher May Use Plan of Missionary School in Teaching Children.

NATURE IS INSTRUCTOR

(Associated Press.)

An educational program worked out to meet individual needs has been found most satisfactory in dealing with mountain school children of the type that will attend President Hoover's Dark Hollow School in the Blue Ridge Mountains, which opens next week.

If Christine Vest, the new teacher, follows the methods of Konnorock Training School in Smythe County, Va., and many other mountain schools, she will abandon any idea of forming a general plan for the development of all pupils alike.

The Konnorock School was founded by the Woman's Missionary Society of the United Lutheran Church. It was part of a five-year investigation into the intimate lives of mountain boys and girls and conducted by the Southern Woman's Educational Alliance.

With the youngsters of the Blue Ridge Mountains of the same type which will attend the President's school, it was found that best results were obtained by building up a system for individual guidance.

It was necessary to make the whole scheme of grades ordinarily followed in grammar schools much more flexible for the somewhat grim-faced boys and girls who come out of the wilderness.

Though so far behind in actual education from books, the children along the Rapidan and other nearby mountain streams have strong individualities. The blue skies have been their primers. Arithmetic is unknown to them, but their thoughts have been shaped by the countless stars by tumbling brooks and quiet valleys.

It will be an interesting assemblage of pupils which will confront Miss Vest.

The children come from pure Anglo-Saxon stock. The English ancestors of most of them came to America 200 years ago and settled in the Southern Appalachian Mountains, of which the Blue Ridge are a part. The mountaineer seldom marries outside his kind.

Virginia U. Makes Class Nominations

Special to The Washington Post.

Charlottesville, Va., Feb. 20.—Nominations for the officers of the graduating class of the University of Virginia were made last night at a meeting of the committee named by W. M. Gammon, of Bristol, Va., temporary chairman. The election will be held Thursday. The nominees are as follows:

The committee nominating the candidates included R. V. Halsey, University; Charles D. Harmon, Waynesboro; William O. Bristow, jr., Franklin; M. M. Pinckney, Richmond; H. Carter Myers, Petersburg; G. A. Kaminer, Gadsden, S. C., and Peyton Randolph Williams, Richmond.

Man Starts Term For Auto Slaying

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., Feb. 20.—Abandoning his plan to appeal from the decision of Judge Robert Moss, in Anne Arundel County Circuit Court, who imposed a sentence of three years in the Maryland Penitentiary on conviction of manslaughter, Meyer Epstein started to serve time.

Epstein was the driver of a hit-and-run machine that ran down and instantly killed David Carroll, 18-year-old shoe salesman of Annapolis, on the Severn River State Highway Bridge on the night of last September 19. Carroll was roller skating with a party of five girls and boy friends. Epstein not only failed to stop and render assistance, but, when arrested several hours later at a Third District roadhouse, it was revealed that he was intoxicated. He at first denied driving the car, but later admitted the fact, but maintained he did not remember having struck any object.

The tragedy caused considerable feeling here for a time, and at the inquest, held several days later, Epstein was attacked by James E. Carroll, elder brother of the victim. The grand jury took no action against Carroll, because of extenuating circumstances of the incident.

New Pullmans Named After Southern Officers

Eight generals of the Confederacy have been honored by the Southern Railway in the naming of as many new lounge Pullman cars placed in service on the Washington, Chatanooga and New Orleans Limited, operating from New York to New Orleans, and the Royal Palm, operating from Cincinnati, Chattanooga, Atlanta and Jacksonville.

The Pullmans, each outfitted with ten sections in the sleeping car end, arm chairs, writing desks and other conveniences, bear the names of Gen. Forrst, Gen. Hill, Gen. Pickett, Gen. Polk, Gen. Early, Gen. Stuart, Gen. Longstreet and Gen. Ewell.

Street Program Urged As Aid to Unemployed

Special to The Washington Post.

Danville, Va., Feb. 20.—The retail merchants of Danville today joined the Chamber of Commerce in urging the city council to proceed at once with the city's street improvement program in order to help the employment situation in Danville.

The merchants' association at a meeting adopted a resolution requesting early action to expedite any construction work the city may have in mind.

Rowland Boy Succumbs to Injuries on Farm Near Annapolis.

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., Feb. 20.—Because he wanted to see a "big fire" Otho H. Rowland, jr., 5 years old, son of Otho H. Rowland, driver for a Washington motor bus company, was fatally burned at the home of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Luther Nichols, of "Hockley Farm," 3 miles from Annapolis yesterday afternoon. He died at 8 o'clock this morning.

The boy, with a younger brother, Martin, 4, had been watching a dying blaze that had been started by his grandfather, to burn the handle from an ax. Nichols and two farm hands left the scene and were 200 yards away when they heard screams.

It developed that Otho had gone to the house, picked up a can containing a small amount of gasoline, and poured the fluid on the smoldering embers. Flames enveloped his clothing and his body was badly burned from the waist down.

MARYLAND SOCIETY FETES RITCHIE HERE

GIVE MAIN ADDRESSES

Gov. Albert C. Ritchie of Maryland, David C. Winebrenner 3d, secretary of state of Maryland, and Gen. Milton A. Reckord, the adjutant general of Maryland, were the guests of honor and principal speakers at the banquet, reception and ball given by the Maryland Society of Washington last night at the Mayflower Hotel.

The three honor guests, escorted by Senator Millard E. Tydings and Mr. G. Calvert, entered the room, passing through a double line formed by members of the floor committee while every one sang "Maryland, My Maryland."

Seated at the officers' and guests' table were George H. Calvert, jr., president of the Maryland Society, and Mrs. Calvert; Gov. Albert C Ritchie, Senator Millard E. Tydings, Representative and Mrs. J. C. Linthicum, David C. Winebrenner, Gen. Milton A. Reckord, John Ritchie, jr., and Mrs. Ritchie, Miss Mary Merrick, Miss Nettie Blakistone, Miss Emma Loker, Mr. and Mrs. Clement Sheriff, Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Morgan, and Mrs. John Mason Brown.

Immediately after the dinner a reception was held in the Chinese room. Senator Tydings making the presentations.

At the ball were many young folk, including some of this year's debutantes, many subdebutantes, and several who were unable to obtain tickets for the dinner.

Mrs. John Mason Brown was chairman of the committee on arrangements, and John Ritchie, jr., first vice president of the society, was chairman of the floor committee.

Foreman Rescues Worker From Fire

Winchester Man Risks Life to Save Another When Tank Explodes.

Special to The Washington Post.

Winchester, Va., Feb. 20.—William Hodge, city street construction foreman, voluntarily imperiled his own life today to save a workman, Frank Brown, from burning to death in flames which spread with startling rapidity when a high pressure compression gas tank exploded in a large municipal quarry building, where tar, oil and gravel were being mixed for street work.

Five men working in the room were trapped by flames and Brown was on the floor writhing in pain as blazing gasoline enveloped him. Hodge threw off his overcoat, crawled to Brown and succeeded in smothering the fire, but not before Brown had been badly burned. Hodge was painfully scorched. Otis Johnson was burned about the arms and legs in battling his way throught the flames. Eppy Curry and George Hott were also scorched.

The entire building, housing street construction machinery and equipment, including rock crushers, mixers and tools was destroyed. Several tons of dynamite were in a nearby building with quantities of blasting powder. Flames were kept from the structure by firemen. The loss was estimated around $15,000, partly insured.

Masons to Hear Former Chaplain.

Lieut. Col. Thomas J. Dickson, former Army chaplain, this evening will speak in the Masonic Lodge at Fredericksburg, Va., where George Washington was made a Mason. His subwill be "Where Masons Made History," and he will close his address with a battle flag homage to "Washington, the Mason."

FAIRFAX STUDENTS WIN HEALTH PRIZES

FAIRFAX BUREAU OF THE POST.
P. O. Box 245, Vienna, Va.
Phone Vienna 64.

The Fairfax County Health Unit has completed its examination of the pupils of the Oakton and Andrew Chapel Schools. This unit, composed of Dr. R. E. Feagans, Dr. Robert W. Moss and Mrs. Herbert L. Seamons, county health nurse, examined the pupils to find whether or not they meet the requirements of the State Board of Health in regard to their sight, hearing, teeth, throat and weight. The pupils meeting the requirements will be awarded a 5-point health certificate. The unit attributes the success of the Oakton clinic to cooperation of the principal, Miss Mary N. Snead, and the teachers.

Those meeting the requirements in the first grade at the Oakton School, Miss Ross Curtice Butts, teacher, are: William Beard, Raymond Bell, Ronald Blake, jr., Edna Mauck, Ethel Myers, Robert Edwards, Paul Sutphin, Elva Carter, Rorothy Dennison and Anna Miller.

The second grade, Miss Helen Yeratt, teacher, the 5-pointers are: Eugene Kenyon, Lester Lawson, Karl Ruckert, Bernice Miller, Catherine Watkins, Lawrence Lawson, Ross Russell, Elizabeth Dennison, Nina Butler and Gertrude Thompson.

U.S. Narcotic Agent Gets Habeas Writ

Judge Rules Vaccaro Was Justified in Alleged Canadian Killings.

Baltimore, Feb. 20 (A.P.).—Judge William C. Coleman, of the United States District Court, today granted a writ of habeas corpus to Sorro Vaccaro, former employe of the Federal narcotic service, sought by the Dominion of Canada on charges of murder and kidnapping.

Granting the writ, Judge Coleman reversed the findings of United States Commissioner J. Frank Supplee, who, after an extradition hearing, ordered Vacarro held for action by the State Department.

Dominion council after the ruling of Judge Coleman, releasing Vacarro, said an appeal would be taken to the circuit court of appeals at Richmond, Va., Vacarro was defended by Amos W. W. Woodcock, United States Attorney for this district.

Canada accused Vacarro and another narcotic employe with killing a Canadian and kidnapping another during negotiations for the purchase of opium at the international border near Canaan, Vt., in 1925.

BLOSSOM FESTIVAL MEETING IS CALLED

Queen Shenandoah of 1929 to Preside as Plans Are Made for Celebration.

RAIL LEADERS INVITED

Winchester, Va., Feb. 20 (A.P.).—Plans for the seventh annual Apple Blossom Festival of the Shenandoah Valley will be made on February 28 at Winchester, while Queen Shenandoah of 1929, sixth "Daughter of the Stars," presides.

A mass meeting has been called by Nelson F. Richards, director general of the festival, for the last day of the month to outline preparations for the apple-growing section's greatest yearly event. The meeting will be presided over by last year's queen, who was Miss Mary Jo Matthews, of West Virginia.

Four times adjudged the prettiest girl at West Virginia State Teachers College and selected to represent the State last year in the Apple Blossom Festival, Miss Matthews received an official escort to Winchester. She is expected to attend the festival this year.

The presidents of the Baltimore & Ohio, the Chesapeake & Ohio, the Norfolk & Western, the Pennsylvania and the Southern Railroads, have been invited to the meeting February 28.

Last year 190,000 persons attended the festival, which represents the annual celebration sponsored by the owners of 10,000,000 apple trees. New and interesting features have been planned for the 1930 event, according to Mr. Richards, and preparations are being made for the largest attendance in its history. Virginia and the apple-growing sections of West Virginia, Maryland and the District of Columbia are represented.

Assault Charged To Two Suspects

Brothers Held Here Said to Have Attacked Officer in Danville.

Accused of assaulting a constable at Danville, Va., and taking his badge and revolver from him when he refused to drink with them and threatened to arrest them, two brothers, Ernest McDaniel, 21, and Carson McDaniel, 32, of Ontario, Canada, were arrested yesterday and held at the Second Police Station for Virginia authorities.

Policeman Lester Parks took the brothers in custody at Ninth and M streets northwest when he observed them in a blood-stained automobile motoring the wrong way along a one-way thoroughfare. Police said they found the constable's badge and revolver when the brothers were searched at the station house.

Detective Sergts. Steve Brodie and Frank Varney announced the brothers confessed assaulting Constable H. F. Adkins at Danville. Accompanied by their father, the brothers stopped their automobile on the outskirts of the Virginia city, they are said to have told police, to take a few drinks from a jar of liquor. As they were drinking, according to the story told police, Adkins drove up beside the car, refused to drink with them and threatened to arrest them, thereby starting the fight. After relieving the officer of his revolver and badge, the McDaniels left Adkins in the road, seriously hurt, and drove to this city. The father left his sons en route here.

BACK-TO-DISTRICT ADVANTAGES CITED

J. Cloyd Byars Points Out Good Points of Arlington County Movement.

BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 500. Clarendon, Va.

J. Cloyd Byars, in a statement issued last night, said: "The bill which has been introduced by Delegate Hugh Reid giving the voters of Arlington County the right to vote on the question of whether or not they are in favor of incorporation comes like a pardon after execution—too late to defeat the annexation plans of Alexandria.

"The dispatches which have reached the county from Richmond point out that Mr. Reid takes an opportunity to flay the persons in Arlington County who are seeking its retrocession to the District of Columbia," Mr. Byars said, "and accuse me of having led the back-to-the-District movement in the 1929 political campaign. Mr. Reid is in error. Had that been an issue in the last campaign, my opinion is that his opponent, not Mr. Reid, would have been elected."

"In advocating the reestablishment of the original District lines, 10 miles square, as the logical solution of our Government and economic problems, accentuated by the provincialism, not to say shortsightedness, of our representatives in the General Assembly, I am following the leadership of George Washington and Thomas Jefferson, rather than that of Hugh Reid and Senator Frank L. Ball.

"If the present Legislature would appoint a commission to negotiate with the Federal Government for the return of Arlington County outside of Alexandria, as might wish to go back to the District of Columbia, the State might not only save from the retrocession movement Alexandria City, if it wished to remain in Virginia, but might obtain from the United States Government enough in millions to purchase the Shenandoah National Park and build the Lee boulevard from Washington 200 feet wide to the park, in addition to the millions now proposed in the Cramton bill for parking the south banks of the Potomac River from Mount Vernon to Great Falls."
